PRESIDENT TALKS ON "FULL DINNER PAIL"

Great Crowd of Railway Men Are Told of Healthful Industrial Conditions

By Robert J. Bender (United Press staff correspondent) Charlotte, N. C., May 20.—"Unhated Americanism" was President Wilson's reply today to Colonel Roosevelt's demand for "Americanism." He launched this phrase at the celebration of the one hundred and forty first anniversary of the signing of the Mecklenberg declaration of independence, before a tremendous crowd. "We're working full time, and the dinner pail is full," called the crowd as Wilson spoke. "Yes, and these pails will be filled to overflowing," the president responded. He urged the confirmation of Trade Commissioner Rubles, whose nomination is facing defeat in the senate. Many Women attended the meeting, clamoring to see Mrs. Wilson, but she was not up yet. At Greenboro the president spoke again, saying: "We are at the beginning of a new age. We must be sure not to give countenance to men who try to hold us back. Some who now control the republican party have their heads over their shoulders, looking backward, not forward. They do not know the problems of the new day." He referred frequently to his nomination of Rubles. "When I show sympathy for the forward looking men of their party by nominating men of that sort, they try to block the process."

Children's Playground Is Now Assured

The children's playground is now assured through the generosity of John H. Albert, who gave the use of two acres of the Albert pasture near the state school for the blind for this purpose and through the efforts of the 500 junior high school pupils who met in yesterday afternoon getting the grounds in shape. Within a short time the apparatus for the municipal playgrounds, belonging to the city, will be placed and with arrangements for an instructor in charge, the children will have a proper playground as soon as the present school term is closed. Simon Carboneau of the Lincoln school was awarded tennis shoes for appearing in the best make up of a working boy, and Bessie Smith of the Washington junior high tennis shoes for the best working girl appearance. In the tug of war between the three junior high schools of the city, Washington won from both the Grant and Lincoln teams. Last summer just for the benefit of the children and that a free bathing bench might be provided, the Civic Department of the Commercial club established the ferry and the resort at Minto Island. As the island could not be secured this year without the payment of an amount too large for the Civic department, there was danger of the children not being provided with a free bathing place this summer, until John H. Albert came to the rescue and offered the use of the pasture near the blind school, through which Mill creek runs. "Good River is late with its strawberries, but we will agree not to send a punitive expedition provided the delay is made up by abundance."

YOUR EYES ARE WAGE EARNERS

Do you appreciate the working importance of good eyesight? The worker who suffers from defective sight is handicapped. To such an one, correct glasses would mean capability of more work with greater ease; and his work would be better done. From a purely business-point view, the purchase of glasses will repay those who need them.

Don't harbor doubts about your sight—delay often does serious damage. For safety's sake come to me and have your sight scientifically tested. I offer you accurate service and my 3 years' experience is always at your service. I guarantee satisfaction in every respect. If glasses are not needed I will frankly tell you so.

Have you seen a boy about fifteen years old, with round face, large brown eyes and hair? His real name is Malcolm McDonald and he left home last August. His father has died and his mother would appreciate any help towards finding him. Mrs. MacDonald's address is 141 North street, West Pittston, Pa. Baseball best ever seen in Salem. Inter-city league teams contain the best players outside big leagues. Don't miss Sunday's game with Kirkpatrick. Sauced to best yet. May 20. The Rev. Harry E. Marshall is home from three weeks of evangelistic work at Fort Bragg, Calif. He will remain in the city several days before leaving for a new field of labor at La Conner, Wash. From this city he will go to Junction City, Oregon, and during the month of July will conduct services at Newport. When it comes to climate, Mt. Marshall prefers the Oregon style to that offered in the country around Fort Bragg. The Senora Talking Machine embodies all the necessary requirements for the reproduction of tone. Myrtle Knowland, 421 Court St. The Salem Rifle club members will soon be out at the range, shooting for records and possibly for records that may qualify them as sharpshooters. Yesterday an order was sent to the government's arsenal at Venita, Calif., for 21 Krags and 4,000 rounds of ammunition. With its membership already over the 100 mark, the Salem Rifle club promises to soon become one of the strongest in the northwest. The Freshman reception to the high school seniors was well attended, about 150 people were present. The evening amusement took the nature of a political campaign. First a primary election was held, in which Roosevelt and Wilson were the chief contenders for the position. As primaries were held for both parties, these two names were up for final election. Roosevelt seems to have been in favor, or else there was a sudden stampede, for he was elected by a large vote. Following the elections a musical program was rendered and this was followed by a grand march in which everyone secured partners for the refreshments which followed. The reception was a success and served its purpose of getting the college students and high school students acquainted. A Salem chapter of the Oregon Society of the Sons of the American Revolution will be organized next Wednesday evening at a meeting to be held at the Commercial club. Winthrop Hammond, who is already a member of the Oregon society, has been active in the work of interesting those who are eligible, and it is principally through his efforts that Salem will boast of having the second organization in the state, the Portland society having been organized several years ago. Already fourteen have had their papers properly signed and approved by the national society in Washington, and as many more are expected to be prepared to enter as charter members next Wednesday. About 40 have become interested in the society and its work and it is probable that almost all of these will be able to make proof of descent from Revolutionary stock and become affiliated with the Salem chapter. Commencement exercises of the Oregon State Training school for boys will be held on the afternoon and evening of Friday, June 16. Grade diplomas will be given the boys completing the 9th grade, the highest grade taught in the school. The afternoon of the day will be given to field events and the evening to the commencement exercises at which Governor Withycombe will be present. Will S. Hale, superintendent of the school, is solving the problem in the education of children that has been attracting the attention of eastern educators, that of keeping the children in the school room but half of the time required by the public schools, and at the same time, requiring them to pass examinations and do the regular work of the public schools. The grades in the training school are exactly the same as those in the public schools, and the boys are required to pass the examinations as required by the state superintendent for all public schools. J. W. Painton drove his Saxon Six from Porterville, Calif., to Woodburn, Oregon, 1180 miles, carrying five passengers, with camping outfit and baggage, on an average of 18 miles to the gallon of gas. The trip was made in eight days. Part of the travelling was in muddy roads and in places where the car had to be dug from between the wheels and the body of the car. A suit was filed in the circuit court today by Frank S. Ward to enjoin the city of Salem from purchasing the plant proposed by the city council. Judge Galloway granted the injunction. Frank Ward, councilman from the second ward, is plaintiff. New Today Ads work while you sleep—will have results for you in the morning.
