SOCIETY

ALINE THOMPSON

ONE of the most delightful events of the week was the bridge for which Mrs. Frank Spencer was hostess today. The rooms of Mrs. Spencer's residence were aglow with spring blossoms and a number of prominent matrons were guests.

In honor of the birthday anniversaries of William McGilchrist, Sr., and Gordon McGilchrist, Mrs. Gordon McGilchrist presided over an informal dinner Wednesday evening.

The prettily appointed table which was centered with beautiful roses and greens had covered for six of the immediate family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McGee and small daughter Lucile who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bennett returned to their home in Orenco Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles H. Fisher left this morning for a brief visit in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Grier accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Thielson motored to Falls City Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Volk accompanied by their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coleman Cottle of Boston, Mass., returned Wednesday evening from a four days motor trip to Portland and the Columbia highway.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Gannett have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Held of Portland.

Mrs. J. G. Reigleman had as her guest Thursday Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Snyder of McMinnville. Mrs. Snyder is an old time friend of Mrs. Reigleman's, both having come from Pennsylvania.

Wednesday evening a benefit recital was given at the Willard church twelve miles northeast of Salem. A number of Salem people motored out to attend the entertainment including Professor James Mathews of the W. U. who is pastor of the church, and Miss Lela Dounly, Miss Faye Bolin, Miss Fannie McKennon, Perry Reigleman and "Bet" Ford in whose car the party drove out.

Several Salem young ladies participated in the programme which was as follows:

Piano solo, Miss Leona Pooler; vocal solo, Miss Fannie McKennon; vocal solo, Mrs. Geer; reading, Miss Faye Bolin; vocal, Mr. Davenport; reading, Perry Reigleman; vocal solo, Mrs. Currie; reading, Miss Faye Bolin; vocal solo, Miss Fannie McKennon; reading, Perry Reigleman; piano solo, Miss Gladys Emery.

Saturday evening the Eola school will close the season with an entertainment in the school building. At the last meeting of the Eola Parent-Teachers association, a programme committee was appointed including

CITY NEWS

The West Salem baseball team will play the Jitneys on the West Salem grounds next Sunday afternoon, the game beginning at 2:30 o'clock. West Salem was winner in the last game played between these teams, but the Jitneys have been considerably strengthened during the last three weeks.

The sophomores of the high school are one point nearer the coveted cup offered by the Civics club. In the game yesterday the sophomore team defeated the junior baseball players with a score of 6 to 10. The contest will be decided within a few days and the cup offered by the Civics club to the high school class making the greatest number of points in the interclass contests will be awarded next Friday.

The last meeting of the season of the children who have been attending the regular story hour Saturday mornings at the public library will take place tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock. It is in the way of a children's fancy dress party when all the little ones are to come representing a famous character. All the children are invited to come in whatever costume they may find convenient.

For use in the U. S. forest service at Grand Pass, the government has ordered from the Spaulding Logging company a "Ready-Cut" looking out house. It is made according to the government's specifications and will be used by one of the fire wardens. This is the first house of the kind in use by the government but as it is of an approved design for forest use, it is probable that additional orders will be received.

The funeral of Mrs. J. A. Churchill was held this afternoon from St. Paul's Episcopal church and was conducted by the Rev. R. S. Gill. Interment was in the City View cemetery. The pall bearers, all prominent educators of the state were P. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon; E. D. Resler of the Oregon Agricultural College; E. T. Moore, superintendent of the Oregon state school for the blind; J. H. Ackerman, president of the state Monmouth Normal school; Walter M. Smith, county school superintendent and E. Z. Carlton, assistant state superintendent.

News of the death of Mrs. John Holm on May 18 has just been received by friends in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Holm were residents of Salem 25 years ago at which time he worked at the blacksmith trade. About 10 years ago they went to Montana and then to Fruitland, Idaho, where Mr. Holm died a year ago. After his death Mrs. Holm went to the home of her brother, A. K. Baker, at Grayville, Tenn., where she died. They were members of the Cottage Street United Evangelical church and Mrs. Holm was a member of the Women of Woodcraft. They are remembered by many old friends in this city.

The high school building will offer three separate entertainments tonight. Those interested in manual training work will find the boys working in their workshop on the first floor, with G. B. Bonell and his assistants in charge. In the gymnasium, the girls of the high school, under the direction of Miss Griffin, the physical instructor, will give a program of calisthenics and special drills. For those interested in cooking, the girls of the domestic science department, with the instructor Miss Bertha Edwards, will show what they have accomplished in the way of taking care of a home as far as providing correct meals is concerned. After the demonstration, there will be a cooked food sale.

A paper was in circulation today among the business men of the downtown districts, asking Charles L. Dick to permit his name to be used as a candidate for school director at the coming election, Monday, June 19. While Mr. Dick has not as yet agreed, it is probable that he will consent, especially as the request comes from many of the most prominent business men who feel that a business man should be placed on the board to succeed B. J.

Absolutely Removes Indigestion. One package proves it. 25c at all druggists.

Miles, who it is understood, will not become a candidate for re-election Mr. Dick is a business man of experience and has always taken an interest in the schools. As the term of a school director is for five years, whoever is elected to succeed Mr. Miles will have much to say in the construction of a junior high school which will be necessary within the next few years. The board of education handles $140,000 each year and for this reason, the business men are interested in the election of a business man at the election to be held June 19.

Suspected Burglar Is Bound Over to Grand Jury by Police Judge

Harry Hoffman who was arrested by the Salem police last night as a burglar suspect, was bound over to the grand jury this morning after a hearing before Judge Elgin as ex-officio justice of the peace. He was lodged in the city jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Hoffman was identified by a Mr. Chase who resides on North 18th street as the man whom he saw coming out of the residence of S. H. Howe also on North 18th street yesterday afternoon. Hoffman's description was phoned to the police station and he was picked up at the circus grounds by Officer Varney. Hoffman vehemently protested that he had an alibi and named several people who saw him during the course of the afternoon. He was taken before Mr. Chase who was asked if he ever saw Hoffman before. Chase answered that he distinctly remembered seeing Hoffman in the afternoon.

"There, I told you," said Hoffman; "There is another man who saw me in the afternoon."

"Yes, but I saw you coming out of Mr. Howe's house," Mr. Chase continued and Hoffman subsided.

So far nothing of value has been missed from the Howe residence which was entered through the rear by cutting through a screen door, and then removing a pane of leaded glass from the rear door through which the burglar reached the lock on the inside.

Market Was Dead and Prices Dropping

New York, May 26.—The New York Evening Sun's financial review today said:

The street today suffered a severe attack of spring fever and this condition was reflected in a market devoid of leadership and without any definite trend. Trading was irregular along narrow lines at the afternoon session, with a few exceptions. Such movements as were insignificant because of the highly professional attendance of traders dwindled as the day advanced. Retail, mercantile and preferred industrial alcohol, Goodrich tire and United States rubber were among the issues which withstood during the early trading the pressure affecting the remainder of the list. In the early afternoon, however, most of these stocks lost their gains and general trading became practically at a standstill. The failure of steel to respond to what the financial world regarded as optimistic view of the steel trade as expressed in President Gray's address before the American Steel Institute, a matter of considerable comment, was accepted as an eloquent commentary on the prevailing lassitude. There was little change in the later trading which was extremely sluggish.

OPEN FORUM

CIVIC DECENCY.
Editor Capital Journal: It is with a sense of deeply felt indignation at the crude reception and irreverence tendered a G. A. R. man by President Doney of the university this morning before a large number of visitors as well as the assembled student body that I deem it my duty as a citizen of the United States to voice my heartfelt condemnation.

Although I am merely an outsider, I have observed the courteous respect with which the Willamette student body has always given the noble men who have defended the Stars and Stripes in the many battles of the Civil war. The privilege of having G. A. R. men address the student body before Memorial day is a time honored custom and one looked forward to by the many students of the university. When I was in Willamette I remember the freest and patriotic feeling such an occasion would stir in me.

Now, with this before us, Judge Webster, that grand old veteran, was asked to make an announcement by Dr. Doney in chapel this morning. He mounted the platform and spoke a few words concerning the parade in honor of the memory of "the blue and the gray" next Tuesday. Then he started to outline the field of conflict. Dr. Doney arose and by the look on his face, it was easy to see that his ire was furious and beyond the limit of even common decency.

"Our chapel hour is full. If you have made your announcement, that is all." The mortified old man was so paralyzed with the announcement that it took him two minutes to recover. Then like the gentleman he was, the noble colonel stepped from the platform and marched down the aisle to the door—and out.

A hush that was like that of a tomb fell over the assembly. The students appeared to me as every hand too stunned or shocked to breathe. I noticed it in the faces of the visitors around me. Thus the exercises in charge of the senior class continued, but the assembly was crushed. No interest could be taken in the exercises. And it was an almost general stunned student body that left the chapel. The insult

WIRES WERE CROSSED ABOUT CELEBRATION

There is no serious friction between the All-Oregon Fourth of July committee, composed of the prominent horsemen who have horses in training at the fair grounds and members of the state fair board, and the Commercial club and Cherrians, and matters are rapidly being brought to a state of harmony that bodes well for one of the biggest Cherry fairs and All-Oregon Fourth of July celebrations, in Salem and at the fair grounds, that was ever held on the coast.

It never has been the intention of the All-Oregon Fourth committee to charge anything for the privilege of celebrating Independence day at the fair grounds, and whatever misunderstanding that has arisen between the All-Oregon committee and the Cherrians has been due to the circulation of erroneous reports and the consequent crossing of wires. Negotiations are now under way looking to the complete and happy co-operation of all concerned and it is expected that everything will be adjusted and all arrangements made by Saturday night for the staging of a great celebration to be held at the fair grounds on July 4 which will attract people from all parts of the state.

No Charge for Admission.
"It never has been the intention of charging anything for the privilege of taking part in the celebration of the Fourth," said Chairman D. Smith, of the All-Oregon Fourth committee, at last night's meeting at the fair grounds. "All that the horsemen desire is protection from serious loss in connection with the great expense attached to the putting on of a first class racing program for the afternoon entertainment. If some feasible and practical means can be devised, and we are sure that it can, to protect the horsemen and secure for them their deserved patronage at the races, I am sure that there is no intention of charging general admission to the grounds and plans are now under way to bring about a satisfactory solution of the difficulty."

The public may rest assured that the horsemen have no desire to make any money out of the venture. Their sole aim is to endeavor to arouse interest in good, clean horse racing by putting on a first class program of harness and sprinting events, which they have made ample provision for, and if they can pull out free of expenses by charging admission to the grand stand that is all they ask for. The racing program provided is equal to that of any day's program on the northwest circuit and some of the best talent in all events upon the circuit will start in those races. There will be four fast and exciting harness events and one thrilling five-eighths mile dash and purses will be posted which will attract the best entries in the country and all will be for blood.

The Tangle Straightened Out.

At last night's meeting C. L. Dick appeared to represent the Cherrians in the negotiations and Secretary McDaniel, of the Commercial club, was also in attendance. When it was finally made clear to Mr. Dick that the horsemen could not see their way clear to guarantee a bonus of $200, or any other amount, in cash from the grandstand receipts to the Cherrians for advertising purposes and that the committee was willing to expend a reasonable amount therefor, a tentative understanding was arrived at and it is probable both organizations will get together and work in harmony, to the end that a rousing All-Oregon celebration will be pulled off and that it will be the biggest and most successful in history.

was unwarranted and uncalled for. The students probably can't do anything about it as Dr. Doney is the irate demagogue. It was a break such as has characterized the actions of the new president since assuming control at the university. He has no apparent respect for the west and its custom and tradition. He thinks boldness is apparently everything; common decency demands and cries out that he recognize the breadth of the West, even though he be affected with the bombastic conservatism of the East. Students and visitors feel that an apology to the G. A. R. does not compensate for the lack of tact.—Chapel Visitor.

Three More Teachers for Salem's Schools

Paul Amort, Hal W. Turner and Miss Mildred Trindle were elected teachers in the Salem schools for the coming year at a meeting last evening of the board of education.

Mr. Amort is a senior in the industrial arts department of the O. A. C. and graduated this semester with the degree of bachelor of science. He has had charge of the manual work of the Philomath high school, and will have charge of manual training, serving as captain of one of the companies at the O. A. C. He is especially prepared to take charge of athletics. He is a wrestler and holds the amateur championship of the Pacific northwest.

Mr. Turner comes well prepared to take charge of manual training in the Grand school. At present he is in the mechanical department of arts of the O. A. C. and has had considerable military training at the O. A. C.

Miss Mildred Trindle is at present teaching at Cove, Ore. Salem was her former home. She is a graduate of the Oregon Normal school. She succeeded Miss Ruth Fugate, who resigned.

Cottolene

"The Natural Shortening"

Make your next shortcake this way

Into two cups of sifted pastry flour sift and mix one level teaspoon of salt and four level teaspoons baking powder; chop in two level teaspoons chilled Cottolene, and add one egg. Wet to a stiff dough with about three-fourths cup of milk, or half water and half milk. Toss out on floured board, roll one-half inch thick, cut into rounds, and bake in hot oven.

When baked, pull the biscuits apart and spread with butter. Put mashed and sweetened berries or other fruit between crusts and over the whole.

Cottolene will improve the delicious quality of your shortcake, just as it improves the flavor, appearance and wholesomeness of all other kinds of foods that are shortened or fried in it. Use Cottolene for all shortening, and for frying doughnuts, croquettes, chicken, fish, etc.

Cottolene is put up in pails of different sizes, to suit your convenience. Its use is simple, and always gratifying. Ask your grocer for a regular supply. Do it today.

A copy of our real cook book, "HOME HELPS," will be mailed to you free, if you will write our General Offices, Chicago.
