ROBIN HOOD WILL BE EVENT WEDNESDAY

Splendid Comic Opera To Be Put On by Pupils of the High School

'Robin Hood' the comic opera written by De Koven, will be given at the auditorium of the high school next Wednesday evening by the pupils of the music department of the high school under the direction of Miss Minetta Magers.

This comic opera is really beyond the reach of the average high school soloists and singers, but it just happens that Salem has an unusual amount of talent, not only able to take the difficult solo parts, but also singers that will bring out the full effect of the rousing choruses. In fact, it was mostly on account of the opportunity to show that the choruses could to, that Miss Magers selected this opera.

And it might be added that the opera is so highly prized by the owners of the copyright, that the right of public production is given only on the payment of a cash sum prohibitive to the average high school.

The manual training class has been busy for the past week working on the forest and chapel scenes, and the pupils of the art department doing their bit in the way of the artistic posters shown in the store windows.

The cast of the opera is as follows: Lady Marion—Luna Minton; Robin Hood—Max Alfred; Sheriff of Nottingham—Archie Smith; Sir Guy—Frank Zinn; Little John—Victor Reid; Allan A. Dale—Leta Beisel; Friar Tuck—Cecil Saffel; Dame Durden—Marybelle Reinhardt; Scarslar, an outlaw—William Harris; Anna Belle—Athena Esch.

Unusual interest will center about the Three Russian Concertists who appear at the Oregon next Saturday and Sunday. The leader of this trio who is a violinist of marked ability has recently served in the Russian army on the eastern front in Europe. He was wounded in Warsaw last fall and sent to the hospital camps in Siberia to recover. From there he escaped with his two friends into China and thence to Japan and the United States. They have played many concerts together and are well known in Russian cities. Those who have heard them speak in terms of high praise of their renditions of the world's best music. Two of these artists play violins that are of wonderful tone quality and the third accompanies on the piano. Their repertoire will include many well known selections, and American music will be included in their program each day. A benefit for them in Portland was held May 21 at which these men presented a program of 11 numbers.

Odd Fellows Elect Officers for Next Year

Roseburg, Ore., May 26.—Election of officers, consideration of official reports, parades and numerous entertaining features outside of the lodge room featured yesterday's sessions of the grand lodge of Oregon Odd Fellows, which is meeting here this week.

In pursuance of a resolution adopted yesterday, the election of officers was made a special order of business at 10 o'clock in the morning. Those elected for the ensuing year follow: Henry S. Westbrook, of Portland, grand master; George W. Trefen, Astoria, deputy grand master; W. F. Walker, Springfield, grand warden; E. E. Sharon, Portland, grand secretary; Dr. O. A. Deane, The Dalles, grand treasurer; John P. Hall, Marsfield, grand representative; Thomas F. Ryan, of Oregon City, trustee of the Odd Fellows' home. Installation of officers will take place tomorrow morning.

Official reports presented at yesterday's sessions showed that the membership had decreased about 375 during the past year. This was attributed to the industrial depression which has prevailed in Oregon for the past few years. The financial condition of the lodge was reported to be the best in its history.

The visiting delegates to the grand lodge paraded the business streets of the city in the afternoon and later attended the crowning of the queens of the Strawberry Carnival. Queen Jessie is a member of the Rebekah lodge. It is estimated that 1500 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were in line and the parade was the biggest ever witnessed here. Following the installation of officers this morning, addresses will be delivered by Henry Westbrook, grand master and John F. Hall, the retiring grand master. The grand lodge will adjourn at noon today.

The day's sessions of the Rebekah assembly were featured by the installation of officers and consideration of reports. Those installed were: Mrs. Nellie Wattenberg, Klamath Falls, president; Mrs. Mary Lamcketer, Astoria, vice president; Genie Burke, Grants Pass, warden; Mrs. Ora Cooper, Dallas, treasurer; Mrs. Edna J. Cole, Portland, secretary; E. T. Shattuck, Prineville, master; Madge Bushman, Roseburg, conductor; Margaret Allingham, Halsey, chaplain; Ethel Fletcher, Salem, inside guardian; and Hattie Houston, Pendleton, outside guardian. Mrs. Rose Palmer, retiring president of the assembly, acted as installing officer.

Just prior to adjournment last night the assembly received Queen Jessie, who is a member of the Roseburg Rebekah lodge.

The annual banquet of past grand masters, past grand patriarchs and past grand representatives was held at the Europa hotel here last night, followed by a parade of the Muscovites. This was one of the feature events of the grand lodge.

The Muscovite degree was later conferred on several candidates. The initiatory degree was also conferred here tonight by Sutherland lodge, No. 229.

The next meeting of the grand lodge will be held at Eugene.

THE MARKETS

The following prices for fruits and vegetables are those asked by the wholesaler of the retailer, and not what is paid to the producer. All other prices are those paid the producer. Corrections are made daily.

Everything continues to drag in the local markets. There seems to be a shortage in the poultry market, especially broilers, which are quoted at 25 cents. Strawberries are still at market, which means that prices will vary according to supply and demand.

POLICE BATTLE WITH DESPERATE CRIMINAL

Counterfeiter Kills Police Sergeant and Fights Police Until Killed

San Francisco, May 26.—Surrounded by 100 policemen led by Chief White, an unidentified Greek counterfeiter and murderer was killed today in a deserted flat after a battle lasting an hour and a half, while five thousand spectators looked on.

Police sergeant John Moriarty was slain by the desperado a short time before the pitched fight started. Peter Mark, a citizen watching the encounter, received a bullet in the arm.

Efforts are being made to identify the outlaw who appears to be about 24 years old.

After having killed Moriarty, who attempted to arrest him on a charge of counterfeiting, the man fled across the mud flats from the sparsely settled Potrero district pursued by B. Gorman, an inspector for the United railroads, and a crowd of car company employees. Gorman emptied his revolver at the fugitive, but evidently failed to hit him.

Taking refuge in the abandoned cabin, the murderer threw off all his clothing except trousers and undershirt and with two pistols gave battle to ten patrolmen and six mounted officers who surrounded the hut. Telephone calls for reserves quickly brought additional squads of officers, blazing away at the shack from every side.

The fugitive was first hit in the wrist. He bound up this wound with a strip of shirt and went on shooting. Then two bullets struck his abdomen, but he continued his defiance.

Meanwhile the mud flats were black with spectators and a squad of police was detailed to keep them out of danger. A skiff, filled with armed officers, approached the cabin cautiously by way of Isabel creek and suddenly poured volleys into it from a new angle.

Taking advantage of every slight unevenness in the flats, the policemen crept steadily closer. Finally the shots from the shelter ceased. The posse kept firing into it from all sides, until the weather beaten structure was riddled.

Police then rushed the house. They found the desperado dead on the floor in a pool of blood, his bullet having split his head open. He still clung to his revolvers.
