LEAGUE LEADERS TO BATTLE FOR HONORS ON LEAGUE GROUNDS

Salem and Battling Bradfords Clash Tomorrow—Double Header

Salem must win tomorrow's game with the Battling Bradfords to lead the league with a percentage of 500 and even at that the Bradfords will share the leadership with the same percentage as the Bradfords have won six and lost two while Salem with its inept twin losses from Gresham is credited with five wins and three losses. If Salem wallops the Bradfords each will be credited on the official records with six wins and three games lost. Should the Bradfords win, however, and stranger things have happened they will be credited to lead the league with a percentage of 577 while Salem must be contented to drop behind Woodburn with a percentage of 555.

All of which goes to show that Salem has something at stake tomorrow and that the game will be a little royal from start to finish unless the weather man turns his attention to the sprinkling business. Yesterday's crowd was the largest of the season but Salem fans show a disposition to "wait 'till the clouds roll by" and if the bright sunshine had happened along an hour earlier yesterday the grandstand and bleachers would have shown many new faces. The fans are assured tomorrow that they will be the spectators at a real ball game regardless of a murky sky and a good crowd is promised for the contest between the league leaders.

Cole, the Stayton twirler, has been making a record for himself about the valley and yesterday pitched a two-hit game. He is anxious to show the Salem people that he can deliver the goods and probably will be the mainstay in the box during the remainder of the season. The signing of Barham by the Vancouver league team will give Cole his chance with Salem and the clever young twirler will be seen in action tomorrow.

Salem high school and Newberg will play a preliminary game at 1 o'clock and the main event will start immediately after the high school game at about 3 o'clock. Both games will be for the price of one admission.

DIED

MOYER—At his home, 593 South Commercial street, May 27, 1916, J. S. Moyer.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Leah Moyer, a son, H. H. Moyer, of Portland, and a daughter, Mrs. George Hill, of Salem. Other relatives live in Pennsylvania.

Funeral services were held this afternoon from the chapel of Webb & Clough conducted by the Rev. R. N. Avison. Burial was in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Contestants' Standing In Contest for Queen

The contest for queen of the Cherry fair is becoming more interesting, now that several of the lodges and business stores are backing candidates. The latest contestant is Miss Estella Wilson, of the Shipley store, who has been entered by the Artisan and Moose lodges. She starts in her first day with a vote of 5,500. It is expected that the Cherrina will become interested to the extent of entering a candidate and also other lodges and organizations.

The vote today is as follows:

Verna Cooder	6,370
Inez Stege	5,500
Estella Wilson	5,500
Gertrude Cory	2,730
Minnie Harr	1,000

D. WEBSTER.

COMES TO ARRANGE SALEM CHAUTAUQUA

J. C. Herberman, well known in Chautauqua circles of this city, will arrive in Salem Tuesday, June 6, representing the Ellison-White Chautauqua, to confer with the officers and directors regarding the Chautauqua to be held in Salem one week beginning Wednesday, July 12.

Mr. Herberman during the past year has been in charge of the public speaking department of the University of Washington and last summer was superintendent in charge during the Chautauqua.

Within a few days a luncheon meeting will be called of the officers and directors to arrange for the meeting with Mr. Herberman and plan for the coming Chautauqua. The officers are: President, Dr. H. #### ANSWERS QUESTION "WHO IS WILLIAM GRANT WEBSTER?"

To the Editor: There seems to be some curiosity concerning "Who is William Grant Webster?" Being a member of that family, and having the data to work from I will furnish the required information so that the public may know whom several republicans voted for as a vice-presidential candidate at the late primary.

About the year 1841 one John Webster came from Warwickshire, England, to the Massachusetts colony and finally settled at or near Hartford, Conn. He was elected magistrate in 1839, which office he held until 1855 when he was elected deputy governor and in 1858 governor.

He had four sons, Matthew, William, Robert and Thomas, and William Grant is a descendant in the eighth generation in the line of Thomas. William's father was a Methodist preacher and was settled at Sycamore, Ill., at the time our candidate was born, which was on the 24th day of February, 1860. He graduated from the Evanston H. S. in 1879, was then two years in the North Western university and was graduated from Harvard an A. B. in 1880 and from the Columbia Law school an L. L. M. in 1888. He was admitted to the bar in the District of Columbia the same year and to the United States supreme court in 1893, was clerk in the treasury department, 1888-'95; in the department of labor, 1878-'89; in general land office, 1889-'93, and lawyer in office of Robert T. Lincoln in Chicago, Ill., 1893-'96. In 1897 he organized and became the first dean of the Cleveland, Ohio, law school, 1898-1901, president of the Rhode Island law school, Providence, R. I., organized by himself, 1908, organized and became the first dean of the John Marshall law school of Chicago, Ill., 1909, traveled in Europe and, 1892 toured England, Germany, Austria and Holland, 1903-'04, resided in Rochester, Buffalo and Brooklyn, N. Y., 1906, 1908, 1912, candidate for U. S. senate from Illinois, polling 12,592, 14,704 and 24,567 votes respectively in the primaries. As a candidate for congressman-at-large in Illinois he polled in 1912, 48,720 votes. He was unmarried in 1913 and resided at 1608 Seventeenth street, Washington, D. C., also address, 707 Hector Building, Chicago, Ill.

What has happened to him since the above date I cannot say, but to judge from his activities heretofore, he has been busy at something besides running for office, although having little time outside of campaigning for other business.

Salem Has 3,379 Pupils Attending Schools

At the closing of the school year, 3,479 pupils are in attendance at the public schools, according to the report of Superintendent O. M. Elliott for the school month ending May 19. The boys seem to be staying with the public schools, much more than few years ago, as of this number, there are 1,648 boys and 1,731 girls. In the primary schools, ages between six and nine years, the number is equal, 378 boys and the same girls. Between the ages of nine and 12, the girls are 21 in the majority. Between the ages of 12 and 14, once again the boys and girls are equal in number, 273 for each. Between the ages of 14 and 20, the girls forge ahead, numbering 527 to 504 for the boys. Over 20 years of age, there are 20 boys and 12 girls.

During the month, 346 parents visited the school which seems to indicate that the parents take a rather more active interest in the school year is closing. The senior class of this year numbers 109 while the senior class of next year will be much larger. The graduating classes have been becoming larger each year and hereafter, part of the class will be graduated at the close of the first semester.

Utter Stagnation Was Main Feature of Market

New York, May 29.—The New York Evening Sun's financial review today said: Falling between Sunday and Decoration day, today's market was barely more than nominal. The attendance was very small. After a light first hour characterized by irregular and inconsequential changes, trading lapsed into utter stagnation. In such a market it was idle to look for an impelling influence in the news. President Wilson's Saturday night speech and James J. Hill's death did not figure as a factor, although Northern Pacific eased a fraction while Great Northern was firm. Prices were a shade stronger in the late trading but so dull was the movement that it was devoid of significance.

All owners of automobiles who feel patriotic enough to offer their cars for a short time tomorrow morning to take the G. A. R. veterans to the cemetery, are requested to be on hand at the armory by 9 o'clock. It is hoped that a sufficient number of cars will be offered in order that all the old soldiers may be taken to the cemetery in time for the ceremonies.
