

AEROLUX

NO-WHIP PORCH SHADES

POINTS OF AEROLUX SUPERIORITY—No Whip Attachment

Aerolux Shades have many points of superiority over other Porch Shades, the most important improvement is the PATENT NO-WHIP ATTACHMENT. It is attached to and made a part of the shade itself. It is adjustable, and without placing strain on shade holds it taut and prevents flapping and whipping in the wind, which is injurious to the shade and unpleasant to the occupant of the porch.

With these attachments it is not necessary to raise the shades at night or when leaving the porch. This is a very great improvement in Porch Shades, and found ONLY on AEROLUX.

When the Shade is not in use, these attachments may be rolled up with the Shade entirely out of sight.

CONSTRUCTION—AEROLUX Porch Shades are made of AEROLUX Split-Fabric, which consists of Linwood splints, woven with the finest being twine. The warp cords are in perfect alignment, not zigzag as in some shades, and the splints and spaces between them are of uniform width. As a result there are no irregularities in the fabric, either as to color or outline to detract from the appearance and hold the involuntary attention of those who are inclined to be annoyed by defects, as in flimsy Bamboo screens and mottled colored split shades woven with cords of colors different from the splints, or in which splints and spaces between are of varying width.

AEROLUX Splints are smoothed by a special process which with the soft colors used brings out the grain of the wood beautifully. All cords and twine are colored (except in Grade 3) to match the splints, adding greatly to the appearance of the shade.

GOVERNOR AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Monmouth, Or., May 31.—Governor James Withycombe was the orator at the memorial day exercises held at the Oregon Normal school yesterday, when most of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Women's Relief Corps of the county were guests of the school.

The Monmouth boy scouts and campfire girls met the guests at the train and escorted them to the Normal school. Sixty normal girls presented the "human flag" in a drill, while the audience of more than 500 sang the "Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. F. L. Partridge, representing the Daughters of the American Revolution, gave a reading.

as did Miss Ethel Claybaugh, a normal student. The governor made a short and stirring address, emphasizing the necessity of peace throughout the world. On the campus 40 training school children gave a flag drill before the large crowd of spectators. You read the news—we get it.

COL. HOFER RESIGNS FROM NORMAL SCHOOL BOARD OF REGENTS

Believes That One Board Should Handle All Educational Problems

Governor Withycombe has received the resignation of E. Hofer of Salem as member of the board of regents of the Oregon Normal school and the resignation has been accepted, to take effect June 1st. Governor Withycombe appointed C. L. Starr of Portland to take Mr. Hofer's place. Dr. Hofer's term expired July 1, 1915. Under the law however, the governor's appointment, unless to fill a vacancy, must be ratified by the senate, therefore, had Col. Hofer not resigned he would have continued in office until the next legislative session.

Mr. Starr has been prominently identified with Oregon schools. For a number of years he was superintendent of schools in Polk county. He was secretary of the Normal school board from 1907 to 1909, when the first board was abolished. He is a practicing attorney, and has been admitted to the bar and is a republican in politics.

The other members of the board of regents are W. C. Bryant, of Moro, Sherman county; Miss Corneia Marvin, of Salem; Mr. H. J. Maier, of The Dalles; E. E. Bragg, of La Grande; H. C. Stackweather, Milwaukie, Clackamas county.

Colonel Hofer's resignation in full follows: James Withycombe, Governor of Oregon. Dear Sir:

I cannot consistently serve longer on any such board, as I believe all the institutions of higher education should be under one board of three persons and that the people of this state are being taxed too much for higher education.

For the present biennial period the appropriations for this purpose are $1,991,582.40, and the ten other departments of state government cost only $1,756,478.87. Under separate boards the three institutions of higher education cost $235,103.63 more than all the other institutional expenses of state government.

I believe under one board of three persons applying business principles and not dominated by local interests of the institutions themselves, the complications could be avoided and the expense of higher education reduced about one-half. Such a measure has always been opposed by the institutions themselves and no reform is possible under the present system.

Very sincerely yours, E. HOFER.

MISSING AGENT IS SUICIDE

Ashland, Or., May 31.—The body of Ellis Neil, who had been missing since Saturday, was discovered in his home on Hargraves street Monday night. Indications point to suicide by asphyxiation. Coroner Perl decided an inquest unnecessary, although no motive is known for Neil's self destruction.

He was the son of Leander Neil, of this city, was 20 years of age and married. Besides his wife and father, he leaves two brothers and two sisters. He was interested in a vaudeville business here and was agent for a motorcar. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the Elks' Temple.

RECALL IN DOUGLAS FAILS

Roseburg, Or., May 31.—By a majority of more than 100 votes the members of the county court were defeated in their attempt to recall the school supervisors now employed in Douglas county.

The result of the vote means that the school supervisors will retain their positions here for at least another year at a salary of $100 per month. The result vote of the school directors regarding a continuation of the school supervisor system here was initiated by the county court.

NATIVE SON DIES AT 64

Eugene, Or., May 31.—David M. Parkerson, a native son of Oregon, aged 64 years, died at his home in Eugene Monday night following an attack of heart disease. For many years he was a pioneer sheepman, ranging bands on the Long Tom bottoms.

He is survived by a wife, one daughter, Mrs. J. W. Clark, of Pendleton, and two sons, Garrett and Grover Parkerson, residing in Eugene.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS' BILL

Washington, May 31.—The house committee on public buildings today voted to report to the house for action a bill carrying an appropriation of from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 for new post offices and the completion of building projects already under way.

Relief in Pulmonary Or Throat Troubles depends largely on the sufferer's ability to rebuild a weakened system, and thus hasten a return of normal body functions.

In this effort much depends on fresh air—night and day—and rest and good food. The patient should refrain from work that overtaxes and all sanitary precautions should be taken. These commonsense measures do not always achieve the desired results unless aided by proper medication.

It is here that Eckman's Alternative has evidenced its worth, for in many cases it has effected lasting benefit. And often such troubles seem to yield to it.

In no case is its use attended with possible harm, since it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs. Ask your druggist's.

SALEM MOTORCYCLE ENTHUSIASTS SEE RACES IN PORTLAND

Harley Davidsons Carry Off Majority of Prizes In Speed Events

A number of the members of the Salem Motorcycle club went to Portland yesterday to witness the Northwest Motorcycle races which were held at the Portland Speedway. The featured event of the program was the record breaking race of Otto Walker, of Los Angeles, and Marty Graves. Graves held the Northwest record for the mile on a dirt track of 48 seconds flat. Walker rode against this record and spluttered out a mile in 47 4-5 seconds. Graves then eloped one-fifth second from Walker's new record and traveled the distance in 47 3-5. Not to be outdone Walker tried it again on his famous eight valve Harley-Davidson and lowered the record to 47 2-5 seconds. Graves tried it again but failed to beat Walker's latest effort. The Harleys cleaned up the majority of the speed and endurance records.

The first event was a five-mile race for four-horsepower stripped stock machines, which was won by Duke Langman, riding a Thor.

The second event was a five-mile race for seven-horsepower stripped stock machines. Harry Brandt, the Northwest champion, riding a Harley-Davidson, won in 4:17 1-5 seconds. Red Ogburn, on an Excelsior, finished second.

The third event, the feature of the day, was a seven-mile race for seven-horsepower machines, open to all. Otto Walker, riding his Harley-Davidson, came in first.

In the fourth event, a five-mile race for novices with seven-horsepower machines, Duke Langman, on a Harley-Davidson, took first, making the five miles in 4:44 1-5 seconds. McKee, on a Harley-Davidson, second, and Yale Smith, on an Indian, third.

In the 10-mile race, open to all for seven-horsepower machines, Otto Walker again drove his speedy Harley-Davidson for first place, finishing the 10 miles in 8:12 4-5 seconds. Marty Graves, on an Indian, came in second, and Red Ogburn, riding an Excelsior, came in third.

The last event was a 15-mile race for the Northwest championship for Northwest riders only. Harry Brandt, last year's champion, retained his title, making first place. He made the 15 miles in 12:57 1-2.

W. H. Royle acted as starter.

MORGAN WILL FEED ONLY FEW OF THEM

Only 25 of 20,000 Women Can Be Guests of the Mag-nate Today

New York, May 31.—Only 25 of the 20,000 women delegates attending the Federated Women's Clubs National convention here will be received today as guests visiting the famous library in the home of J. P. Morgan. No one knows exactly who those 25 women will be, and thereby hangs a tale.

Miss Anna Maxwell Jones, chairman of the art committee of the General Federation, thought it would be also for the 20,000 delegates to the biennial meeting to visit J. Pierpont Morgan's famous library while they are here.

She early arranged a program which included all the museums, art galleries and some wealthy persons' homes containing objects of interest and felt that the split tour would not be complete without a glimpse of Mr. Morgan's collection of books. So she wrote Mr. Morgan and he sent favorable reply.

It developed that there was a misunderstanding somewhere, and instead of extending the privilege to as many clubwomen as desire to visit the library Mr. Morgan limited the number to 25. He sent out twenty-five engraved invitations for today and left to Miss Jones the task of choosing the lucky twenty-five.

Miss Jones declines. She told Mrs. William Grant Brown, chairman of the whole biennial, that she did not lack courage, but when it came to meeting thousands of western and southern women, all eager to see the inside of that Morgan library, and having them know that she had left them out of the favored party, she backed out.

Tuxedo Nights

by Walt Mason

When the day's work's done, and the good old sun has sunk in the well known West, then I stretch my form by the fireside warm, I sit at my ease and rest. Then I take my pipe which is mildly ripe, as the pipes of good smokers are, with a chortling soul then I fill its bowl from my glass Tuxedo jar. And I smoke at ease, and my trouble flees to the place where dead troubles go; and my worries seem, in my waking dream no longer to have a show. And I say, "Indeed, it's a noble weed that drives all the ghosts away, and clamps the lid on the cares that skid around through the busy day. The worries and woes and such things as those in the daytime leave their scar, but there's rest at night and a calm delight in my glass Tuxedo jar."

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS
President American Society for Thrift

Americans are accused of thriftlessness and waste in many particulars, especially the people of the cities, and paper is one source, from the coarse wrapping paper that comes into the home and which might be used again to the fine bond paper used in offices. But how the price of paper is going up by leaps and bounds owing to the fact that the war prevents this country from getting most of the material from which paper is made. Business houses are being advised to lay in a supply of paper now in anticipation of the time soon to come when they will be unable to get any.

In fact, some of the standard papers are even now unobtainable. That some large firms are already anticipating a shortage was brought to the attention of the employees of one of the largest newspaper publishing houses in the West within the month, when old show, fashion, theatrical and political posters were cut up into typewriting paper size, and furnished to members of the staff to be used for "copy" paper.

Children are the greatest destroyers of paper, a habit encouraged in some homes to keep the child occupied, which clings to it in school days and often in later life in the business world.

Among the materials essential to the paper industry which central Europe has been supplying are rags, and in 1913, when prices ranged from 2 cents to 6 cents a pound, the imports of rags amounted to over two hundred million pounds, or $2,907,705. These figures will give some idea of our wastefulness when we consider the quantity of rags thrown away every day, with the result that we have to import them from Europe.

One of the recent shining examples of thrift is Patrick Muldoon of Philadelphia. For thirty-five years Patrick Muldoon was employed around a hospital and at no time during that thirty-five years did his wages exceed $30 a month. Part of the time he received less than $30 a month. Yet the other day when he decided to retire and take the rest he had earned, he had $7,200 to his credit. He remarked that he thought that sum sufficient for his old age and added with satisfaction, "I haven't fooled much away." He began to save from his small salary in his young manhood, so that in his old age his savings would take care of him. He did not live for the pleasures of the day, but for the independence of the future, and his old age is sweet with the memories of a prudent past.

ARMY TAKING NO CHANCES OF POSSIBLE TROUBLE WITH EL PASO MEXICANS

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

PATROLLING EL PASO'S MEXICAN QUARTER

The military authorities at El Paso, Tex., are taking no chances with a possible anti-American outbreak among the large Mexican population of the Texas city. As a measure of precaution the Mexican district is inspected and patrolled regularly. Some of the Mexicans on the American side of the Rio Grande are not at all pleased with the presence of large American forces in their home land, and they have expressed their dissatisfaction. The pictures show a patrol of the Mexican quarter of El Paso by Company E of the Twentieth infantry, Captain DeWitt W. Chamberlain commanding.
