Agreement Not Wanted.

"The Mexican government, sincerely lamenting the happening and with the idea of efficiently protecting the frontier, proposed that the government of Mexico and the United States celebrate an agreement by which bandits might be punished. Furthermore, the Mexican government made this proposition, guided by precedents prevailing in the years 1880 and 1884, and earnestly asked permission that Mexican forces might cross the American frontier in pursuit of bandits under the reciprocal condition that like permission would be granted the forces of the United States should a case similar to that of Columbus be repeated at any other point along the frontier line.

"As a consequence of this proposition, made in the Mexican note of March 10, the United States government, through error and precipitation, thought that the good intention of the Mexican government was sufficient to authorize it to cross the frontier and without awaiting a formal agreement ordered a large party of Americans to enter Mexico in pursuit of Villa and his party. Because of this the American government made most emphatic protestations that it was acting in good faith and that its only purpose in crossing the line was to pursue, capture or destroy the Villa band, and that the act did not signify an invasion of our territory nor an attempt to violate the sovereignty of Mexico and that as soon as a practical result was shown by the expedition the American troops would be withdrawn from Mexican territory.

News Obtained Privately.

"The Mexican government had no knowledge that American troops had crossed the border until March 17, and this came from private sources in El Paso. This government then directed a note to the American government, stating that inasmuch as no formal agreement had been entered into between the two governments, the Americans would not be considered as authorized to send such an expedition. "The Washington government explained the sending of such an expedition, saying that it regretted the attitude of the Mexican government regarding the passage of troops across the frontier in pursuit of Villa, and that it was done in the understanding that the former interlocking of notes plainly implied the consent of the Mexican government without further formalities.

"The government of the United States explained also that its attitude was taken in view of the necessity for rapid action and explained its willingness to receive any suggestions of the Mexican government relative to a formal agreement for the crossing of the international line by forces of either country.

Note Ignored, Is Charged.

"Meanwhile the American government did not answer the note of April 12, nor withdraw the troops, and it was found convenient by both countries that a convention of military chiefs might meet at some border point in order to treat on the military aspect of the situation and ascertain if by this road it were possible to arrive at a satisfactory solution, which on Mexico's part consisted in the retirement of the American troops from its territory.

"To this effect there met at Ciudad Juarez and El Paso, on the part of the American government Generals Scott and Funston, and on the part of the Mexican government the secretary of war and navy, General Obregon, who held a series of conferences in a spirit of frank cordiality.

To Make Request of Pershing.

El Paso, Texas, June 1.—General Gavira, Carranzista commander in northern Chihuahua, is believed to be carrying a copy of Carranza's note to General Pershing, where he will confer with General Pershing. Regardless of Pershing's instructions not to discuss withdrawal of American troops, Gavira will make a formal request, in compliance with the terms of the note, it is understood here. This will be purely a diplomatic move, suggested by the Mexican foreign office.

Rumors of Mexican troop movements were circulated here today. Officials at Juarez would not confirm these reports and insisted that no significant developments have occurred since the Carranza note was handed to the state department.

Funston Makes Statement.

San Antonio, Texas, June 1.—General Funston today issued a statement regarding the recent Scott-Obregon conference in El Paso and Juarez in which he declared no agreement was ever reached. The statement was designed to counteract possible Carranzista claims that terms were agreed upon covering the conduct and withdrawal of the American expedition.

San Diego Feels It

San Diego, Cal., June 1.—Not a longshoreman is working in San Diego today. Between 150 and 200 are out. This was the statement today by B. D. Brown secretary of the local longshoremen's union.

Situation is Serious

San Francisco, June 1.—Striking longshoremen today tied up 200 vessels along the Pacific coast and precipitated one of the most serious labor situations in recent years in western America. Nearly 10,000 longshoremen have walked out, their demands for increased wages being refused. The marine engineers may join the strike. They have decided to ask a 10 per cent raise in pay. With all Sacramento river steamers idle San Francisco faces a produce shortage. Pickets patrol every dock except the Berry wharf, and rumors of non-union labor being imported make the atmosphere more tense hourly.

That the department of justice will send an arbitrator here to attempt mediation of the strike was reported along the waterfront today. Henry M. White immigration commissioner, is in Seattle at present. He went there to try and prevent the walkout.

Advices from every port on the Pacific coast of the United States and from Alaska show that the long threatened strike is in full blast. Work at the government transients docks continued, the federal authorities agreeing

LONGSHOREMEN GO

The strikers were established here, in the Arcade building, and shortly after seven o'clock, coast secretary J. A. Madison announced: "They are out all along the American side from Bellingham to San Diego."

The strike has not gone into effect in Vancouver, B. C., so about half the vessels unloading in Seattle were immediately diverted to the Canadian port to avoid trouble. Shipping men pointed out that the strike would cost many thousands of dollars daily.

Pickets were thrown out along the waterfront by the strikers yesterday, but no violence has been reported by the police up to 9 o'clock this morning.

"The key to the situation lies right here in Seattle," said Secretary Madison. "If the employers grant our demands here, they will be granted all along the coast."

The strikers are asking for a graduated increase in wages, and as high as $1.50 an hour for handling explosives is demanded. One hundred fifty cargo checkers walked out yesterday in a sympathetic strike. They have been receiving varied wages, and are classed as skilled workmen.

After the waterfront employees' union had appealed to the department of labor at Washington, D. C., requesting steps toward mediation, immigration commissioner Henry M. White was instructed to offer the government's good offices. This was done Wednesday.

"The only result so far," said Secretary Madison today, "is that the union men and the employers understand that Mr. White is willing to act when either party has something to present."

The strikers claim they will check the move to concentrate shipping at Vancouver, B. C., by calling a strike there when the proper time comes.

Portland Hard Hit

Portland, Ore., June 1.—Six vessels were tied up in Portland harbor at 6 o'clock this morning when 900 longshoremen struck for higher wages.

Simultaneously about 800 stevedores men went on strike and several river steamers were unable to move from their berths.

The passenger steamer Beaver of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship company is one of the six vessels tied up here. Officials of the company intimated that the Beaver may cancel her schedule entirely instead of sailing with passengers only.

The Hammond Lumber company steamers E. H. Vange and Neocanic, the steamer Nehalem and the lumber schooners A. F. Coats and Alunna are at docks waiting to load their cargoes. The steamer Alcatraz completed her loading and sailed for San Francisco with lumber yesterday, avoiding the strike by hours.

"All out to the man," was the word that went out from the headquarters of the longshoremen's union. The men demand minimum wages of 55 cents an hour and $1 an hour for overtime. The employers were silent.

Los Angeles Has 600

Los Angeles, Cal., June 1.—Between five and six hundred longshoremen went on strike at 6 a. m. here today, as part of the Pacific coast walk-out ordered by union officials.

A complete tie-up of both freight and passenger coastwise traffic was free by predicted among strikers here. Members of the local sailors' union are giving heavy moral support to the longshoremen. Many lumbermen who have joined the sailors' union are also out. Strikers conducted themselves quietly. There were no indications of trouble this morning.

900 Quit at Tacoma

Tacoma, Wash., June 1.—Shipping activities on the Tacoma waterfront ceased at 6 o'clock this morning, when about 900 longshoremen went on strike for higher wages. The Lumber Handlers' union alone is not affected.

Two Japanese liners, the Annan Maru and Shimo Maru, are tied up in this port as also are several American vessels.

No plans have yet been made, it is said to employ strike breakers, although officials of the Employers' association declare they will hold out against the men and will not consent to mediation.

600 At Oakland

Oakland, Cal., June 1.—Oakland is represented by 600 stevedores and riggers in the general strike of Pacific coast longshoremen. All vessels in Oakland harbor, with the exception of lumber carriers, are affected. Selling prices on the produce exchange have already shown an upward tendency as a result.

THE MARKETS

The following prices for fruits and vegetables are those asked by the wholesaler of the retailer, and not what is paid to the producer. All other prices are those paid the producer. Corrections are made daily.

The new quotations on hard wheat flour this morning are $1.40 to $1.65 for the hard wheat and $1.15 to $1.25 for valley wheat. Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, strawberries are coming in to fill the demand and today the prices a crate run from $1.50 to $1.75. The general law of supply and demand will regulate the market during the remainder of the season.
