COAST ARTILLERY IS ORDERED TO BORDER

Secretary of War Baker Sends 1,000 More, and Engineers

Washington, June 12.—Secretary of War Baker announced this afternoon he had ordered 1,000 additional coast artillery and the engineer corps at Washington barracks here to proceed at once to the Mexican border for patrol duty. This action was taken following the receipt of additional news of a disturbing character.

So far, Baker said, he sees no need for calling on the states for additional militia troops for border duty. It was stated among war department officials, however, that if more troops are considered necessary by General Funston, the war department will be compelled to call for state troops, unless it is decided virtually to denude coast defense fortifications and send coast artillery contingents.

If more militia is called, officers said, they probably will be drawn from states near the border.

noted his departure. At his suite at the hotel, it was said his plans for the visit here were not complete. It was understood he probably would confer with former Attorney General George W. Wickersham.

The New York police department had been tipped regarding Hughes' visit and 50 detectives were assigned to guard the candidate on his arrival at the Twenty-third street station and on the drive to his hotel.

Reports that Hughes and Roosevelt would meet and that the colonel's full support of the republican candidate were discussed in news of the candidate's visit.

"I came to New York primarily to make arrangements for the summer," Hughes told reporters who met him on the ferry. "Of course other matters will engage my attention."

Refuses to Talk Politics.
"Will you see Roosevelt?" he was asked.

"I have nothing to say about politics," Hughes replied.

Hughes and his secretary made the trip from Washington in lower berths, traveling as any private citizen might, and the candidate was unrecognized by passengers. The colored porter who recognized his star passenger grinned broadly and kept his discovery discreetly to himself. At the station, Hughes picked up his bag and with an umbrella crooked over his arm made his way through the ferry. On the boat his presence was made known when movie men rushed up and requested him to be a willing victim. He showed that he was, by mounting to the upper deck where the light was good and moving about as the picture men directed.

William R. Wiley, former chairman of the public service board, joined Hughes at the station and made the trip to the hotel with him.

Travis Whitney, member of the public service commission, a close friend of Hughes, when the latter was governor, talked with the candidate for some time in the hotel suite.

On his arrival Hughes bought an armful of morning newspapers and read them with apparent interest.

Former Attorney General George W. Wickersham called on Hughes and said afterward that the visit was "purely personal." He was greeted warmly by the candidate.

It had been rumored that Wickersham went to Oyster Bay Saturday night as a peace maker. He explained today that he lives at Cedarhurst, L. I., and that he was merely on his way home when a reporter saw him. He denied that he had seen Roosevelt and said he was not well informed as to the political situation.

Senators of others, including Senator Lippitt, of Rhode Island, flocked to the Astor to pay their respects.

shoremen here found themselves hampered by the strike of the steamboat men. They were compelled to refuse to handle all freight taken from river steamers, because non-union labor was used on the river craft. This applied particularly to shipments of paper from mills along the Willamette and Columbia.

Today a committee from the longshoremen's union talked it over with steamboat owners, and then called a meeting of the owners and strikers for this afternoon.

Should they settle the steamboat men's strike satisfactorily, longshoremen believe it will be a big step toward the final settlement of their own difficulties.

How Cherry Queen Contestants Stand

Very little interest seems to have been taken in the contest for queen of the Cherry fair during the past few days as the vote shows but a slightly larger number than last Saturday. Either the people have forgotten all about the queen contest, or those in the lead are holding out votes and just doling out a few each day in order that the contest may appear to be closely contested. Miss Cooler is in the lead by 290 votes, which means a voting value of 28 cents. Last Saturday Miss Wilson was ahead to the extent of 79 cents.

The vote is as follows:
Miss Varena Cooler ..... 28,560
Miss Estella Wilson ..... 28,300
Miss Luez Stege ..... 18,000
Miss Gertrude Corey ..... 8,370
Miss Minnie Harr ..... 1,260
