

COMMITTEE SUGGESTS PLANKS OF PLATFORM

Inheritance and Income Tax, Eight Hour Day and Child Labor, Features

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—Government ownership of railroad, telegraph and telephone lines and coal deposits, were advocated today by the democratic platform in a report to the resolution committee by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the committee on industrial relations.

Walsh suggested planks for a better distribution of wealth, recovery of public lands secured from the government by fraud and public ownership of public utilities.

Walsh's proposed planks are the outgrowth of the recent report of the commission on industrial relations, declaring that "two per cent of the people own 65 per cent of the wealth of the nation."

Walsh asks that the platform declare:

That national preparedness should be built on the prosperity of the workers.

Workers should have the fullest opportunity to form organizations among themselves.

Condemn the action of such courts as have prevented the formation of voluntary associations.

Denounce the practice of permitting private interests both to employ the state and national soldiers and to employ armed guards and detectives to crush out unions.

Denounce the importation from one state to another of armed guards, machine guns, armored cars, etc.

He urges legislation that will insure to the workers the full product of their toil.

An eight hour day; child labor laws; maintenance of the seaman's act.

Prevention of the concentration of wealth and power in the hands of a few by the enactment of inheritance and income tax laws; return to the government of all land titles, water power franchises and other special privileges secured by fraud.

Observe Anniversary Battle of Bunker Hill

The Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution, Salem chapters, will observe the date of the battle of Bunker Hill, June 17, by a joint meeting and exercises to be held in the auditorium of the public library Saturday evening of this week.

The story of the Battle of Bunker Hill, written by Winthrop Hammond will be read either by Mr. Hammond or a member of the Salem chapter. The story was read by Mr. Hammond at the meeting of the Oregon Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, in Portland, at their special meeting, June 17, 1915.

During the reading, the scenes of the battle will be illustrated by a large scale map prepared by Mr. Hammond, showing Boston and the hills surrounding, including the famous Goose Neck and Dorchester Heights.

Mrs. A. B. Rahn has accepted the invitation of the Daughters to sing several patriotic songs, and a short address will be made by the president, Mrs. S. C. Dyer. In charge of the program for the evening are Mrs. S. C. Dyer, Mrs. H. B. Thielson and Mrs. P. L. Applegate. Rollin K. Page, George M. Post and F. S. Gannett were appointed entertainment committee for the Sons of the American Revolution.

Canyonville Man Surrenders to Officers

(Roseburg Review)

That only one shot was fired, and that from a distance, and that no one knows whether or not the bullet was sent in the direction of his accuser, were the admissions of all parties to the Orchard Valley shooting affair, this morning when O. A. Jones, offering himself up to the officers, waived a preliminary examination in the local justice court and offered to face the charge against him of attack upon Edward Privett with a dangerous weapon last Thursday.

Nervous and weak from his three days as a fugitive, Jones came to town early this morning and placed himself in the hands of the officials. He will face trial willingly and not only give his account of the shooting but will attempt to justify his act by bringing out the attentions which for some time, he declares, Privett has made toward his wife. It is his declaration that Privett has been more than friendly for many months and that while the latter never visited at the Jones home in the owner's presence, he was often there when Mr. Jones was absent. Mr. Jones is of the belief that Privett will not appear to force the charge against him, but says he is willing that he should in order that he may show the other side of the story.

Jones offered no statement while before the justice court today, but denoted his willingness to confront the grand jury should the case be called. His bonds were fixed at $500, which were immediately furnished, H. C. Darby, of this city, and Milton Dubell, his neighbor, being bondsmen. He was allowed to return to his home this afternoon.

Jones was accompanied here by Mr. Dubell and Ed Darby, who was summoned by Jones' neighbors from Aumsville, near Salem. They talked with Jones yesterday and with Sheriff Quine, who spent the day in their neighborhood in an effort to persuade them to find Jones and bring him out of hiding. They later decided this was best and they brought Jones here in an automobile this morning.

Then You Won't Forget To Post Wifey's Letters

For those who know certain things but cannot just remember when called on for information, the meeting at the Commercial club next Wednesday evening will be of special interest. David M. Roth, the memory expert, will be there and talk on memory development. He will demonstrate how it is possible with a trained memory to remember faces, numbers, statistics and everything else the average man tries to remember and generally forgets.

He has taught more than 2,000 in the northwest and in Seattle numbered among his pupils the chief of police and many policemen.

In Portland, his work was with the members of the Rotary club, and among the business and professional men of the city. Classes were also organized in several of the large department stores with the clerks, teaching them how to remember names and faces.

It will not cost anything to hear the talk of Mr. Roth Monday evening and his advance man, H. Jacobson, promises that the memory demonstrations will be exceedingly interesting.

Waite Now in Sing Sing; Execution Date Is Set

DR. WAITE (RIGHT) AND SHERIFF

Retaining his marvelous composure, Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, murderer, was taken from the Tomba prison, New York city, to Sing Sing for electrocution in the week of July 10. In the picture Dr. Waite is seen on the right, handcuffed to a deputy sheriff. Like an after dinner speaker rising to a toast, he responded to a sentence of death in the criminal branch of the supreme court with a brief address, in which he expressed his gratitude for the penalty which the state intended to inflict upon him.

He—"I saw you out driving yesterday with a gentleman. He appeared to have but one arm; is that all the arms he has?" She—"Oh, no; the other arm was around somewhere."—Ex.

The Reputation of the Maxwell

"WHAT is the bore and stroke of your motor," was asked a Maxwell owner not long ago.

"I don't know," he replied simply, "I don't buy cars on figures any more. I buy them on what they've done."

For this man, and for many others like him, it was enough that during the thirteen strenuous years the Maxwell record for performance, reliability and economy had swept it to the front.

Figures—engine speed figures, horse-power figures, wheel-base figures—they meant nothing to him. The name "Maxwell" carried more weight than all the technical description that could be offered.

Maxwell cars have achieved this great good will and this priceless position with the public only by their unequalled record of things done. What is said of an automobile in its specifications is one matter. What the car actually does in the hands of owners, year after year, is another matter.

The Maxwell car has won its position through sheer merit. It has set record after record in competition with cars of all prices and classes.

Everything considered, the Maxwell is the safe investment. It is a known, tried and proved product. It will serve you as it is serving and has served countless others.

Let us arrange for a demonstration today. You will be under no obligation. We want to give you a chance to convince yourself.

Russians and Germans Clash on the Baltic

London, June 14.—Russian and German squadrons have clashed in the Baltic, the Copenhagen correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph cabled tonight. The Russians drove off the Germans. It is reported that eight armored German trawlers, one auxiliary cruiser and two destroyers were convoying fourteen German steamers with supplies when they were attacked suddenly by six Russian destroyers and several submarines.

Death of Mrs. Jarvis

Mrs. D. W. Jarvis, daughter of the late Governor John Whiteaker, died at Coburg, where she was visiting her daughter, last night at the age of 55 years, after having been in search of health for 18 months. Mrs. Jarvis was a resident of Portland for several years previous to her subsequent residence in Eugene during the last eight years. She was a student at the University of Oregon during her girlhood.
