

SOCIETY

By ALINE THOMPSON

SOCIETY'S most important affair today will undoubtedly be the final dinner dance of the season at the Hotel Marion tonight. Several of the dancing contingent have engaged tables for the festivity.

Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Lee Steiner accompanied by Miss Jane Fry left Wednesday for a sojourn at their summer places in Neskewin.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bellows and son and Mrs. A. J. Bellows who have been the guests of Mrs. A. J. Bellow's daughter, Mrs. George M. Brown, returned to Roseburg Thursday. The party motored home and were en route from a visit in Portland.

Mrs. Mary A. Long left Thursday for Indianola, Iowa, where she will spend the summer. She was accompanied as far as Portland by her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Bauch (Regina Long) who will remain over the week end.

The members of the Garden Road club were pleasantly entertained this afternoon at the country home of Mrs. A. P. Homer on the Garden road.

This was the last gathering of the members, before scattering for the summer. The first meeting of the new season will be held some time in September.

Miss Mary Stalley of Forest Grove is the house guest of Mrs. Gerald Volk. Miss Stalley will return home Monday.

Miss Pauline Remington has gone to Lincoln for a several weeks visit with her aunt Mrs. A. Payvino.

The local P. E. O. society will picnic Monday afternoon at Volkland, the suburban home of Mrs. Gerald Volk. This is one of the occasions when the gentlemen friends and husbands of the club are invited to attend.

A jolly crowd of young people participated in the gayeties of a picnic last evening at Wheatland. The party gathered at the state house and were conveyed to the river banks by an automobile.

Those enjoying the evening were the Misses Nellie McWhorter, Gladys Zell, Myrtle Rockhill, Christy Jones, Isabel Billings, Hazel Cox, Mrs. Howard Leach, Olive Suter and Robert Seamster, Harlow Scamporr, Bruce Petty, Fred Rockhill, Minor Billings, Earl Dane, Harry Stenstrom.

ELKS HOME-COMING A GLADSOME AFFAIR

Bright Speeches, Fine Music and Stunts by E. Cooke Patton, Features

The eighth annual home-coming of the Elks of B. P. O. E. lodge, No. 336, was pulled off last evening about like this.

Several hundred of the faithful gathered at the lodge rooms and blocked the sidewalk in front of the lodge about 8 o'clock last night until they were asked to move on, which they did about 8:30.

After every Elk had tried to get the chairs nearest the stage where the girls were to dance, everybody sat down to the tables already prepared with a real banquet.

Exalted Ruler Louis Laehmud arose and stated that he had no qualifications to address so many good people. (Loud applause). Then he said the Elks were there to have a good time if it lasted until 5 o'clock. (More applause).

Judge Charles McNary was called on to talk about "When the Elks Come Home to Feed." After taking his coat off, the judge said he did not come to make a speech. When he went into ancient history and told of his trip to Philadelphia where he saw Mr. Fairbanks who is now running for an office. About that time the idea of a home coming occurred and since then the Elk have been coming once a year.

"No one can stray so far from home but that he always remembers there are no hills like the Waldo and no river like the Willamette," said the judge. (Loud applause).

Boost for Miss Cooder. Brother John Knight said he was glad to be with the boys and that it did his heart good. Mr. Knight was the first exalted ruler.

Brother Charles A. Archard then talked about "A New Elk in the Herd," having just recently been taken in. ("Why are we Elks?" asked Mr. Archard. "No one answered, so Mr. Archard answered the question to his own satisfaction and that of the other 400 Elks present.

Brother Fred Bynon here arose and said it was customary to give some brother a special degree. Mr. Peck, the motorman, being a person of considerable weight, was selected by the exalted ruler and he got the third, fourth and fifth degrees.

Judge William Galloway was introduced as the "Easing bug of the Oregon bench who had married more women than any judge in the state and had kissed them all." The judge chose for his subject, "Should An Elk Be Paroled?" The question was answered to the satisfaction of all. The judge told a couple of stories and then one after that.

Miss Verma Cooder, endorsed by the Elk lodge as its candidate for queen of the Cherry fair, sang "My Dreamy China Lady." Exalted ruler said a lot of nice things about Miss Cooder one of them being "Every Elk should be proud that she has been endorsed by this lodge."

Then Attorney Pogue had his chance to say something. He said no city on the face of the United States can boast of more lovely women than Salem. Then the bar was passed to aid Miss Cooder in keeping at the top of the list.

Dr. W. Carlton Smith responded to the toast, "Eleven O'Clock," the hour dedicated to the absent brothers.

Some 10 Second Shots.

E. B. Ringo was on the program to say that all Elks looked alike to him, but as he will not hold the job of prosecuting attorney much longer, the boys were not especially alarmed. He told a few stories including the one about where he was secretary of a class and the editor of a Bulletin wrote him that he would always be glad to hear of the death of any classmate.

Mr. Laehmud called on a few long winded speakers, putting a limit of 30 seconds on each. Brothers Pinkus, Hart, Bahman of Portland, and even Gus Moser succeeded in getting in on the allotted time. Also Past District Deputy Harris, of Eugene. Kala Neis arose to speak and said he was prepared and sat down.

Brother Bingham handed the entertainment committee several bouquets all in 30 seconds.

The second part of the program under the care of E. Cooke Patton and his committee, included several first class vaudeville artists and it was the general opinion of all that the entertainment committee composed of E. Cooke Patton, T. G. Bligh, Fred S. Bynon, H. J. Wenderoth, A. L. Wallace, S. M. Endicott and W. A. Irvin were all good fellows.
