Absence of Risberg Resulted in Drubbing

YOUNG MEN REDUCE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Round Dozen of Them Run Their Own Boarding House at $2.09 a Week

Does your table board cost you more than $2.09 a week? If it does, you are living too high, for the Common Co-operative club of Willamette University has shown by a three months trial that $2.09 is enough for any one to pay for three square meals every day in the week. In fact, the club now has plans under way by which it will be able to reduce this cost to $2 a week.

The Common Co-operative club was organized last January by 12 young men attending the university for the one purpose of reducing the board bill each week. They secured rooms in the basement of Waller hall, which was fitted up as a kitchen and dining room. For $23 a month and board a woman was engaged to do their cooking and to wash the dishes for two meals each day. The young men did the household work themselves such as cutting wood, making fires and sweeping the rooms. As twelve sat down to the table at each meal, they agreed to take turns in serving, thus saving the expense of a waiter.

The expenses of the kitchen including the cook and laundry, light, fuel and incidentals was kept by one of the young men and at the end of the month, each was called on to pay his share. Although organized the first of the year, the actual test of reducing the cost of board was made during the last twelve weeks of the term.

The daily menu was not very far from what the average person finds beautiful and of course did not include much of the fancy stock from the grocery. It was the plain food that doctors say everybody should eat, including for breakfast, ham and eggs, hot cakes and coffee. At noon, a lunch was served with vegetables and always plenty of bread and butter. The big meal of the day was in the evening when there was always meats, fruits, vegetables, hot buss or biscuits and generally cocoa. The dinner was all that a healthy young man could ask for.

Having been so successful in their first attempt, the young students decided to continue their efforts in fighting the high cost of eating. Their plan now is to increase the membership of the club, thereby enabling them to buy flour, sugar and meats in wholesale lots. Their first experiment was made in paying retail for everything. Next fall, with double the membership those who have managed the club believe that the cost may be reduced to $2 a week and the menu greatly improved. They expect to be able to save at least 25 per cent in the cost of half of their purchases.

Already the cook that gave them such satisfactory service last semester has been engaged and arrangements made whereby she puts in part of her time this summer canning fruit and berries for the coming winter. The boys are even thinking of buying a couple of hogs and feeding them from the kitchen remnants, thereby not only again putting a crimp in the high cost of pork, but in enabling them to invite their university farmer friends in to assist at a regular hog killing about Christmas time.

With the cost of board reduced to $2 a week, or say $9 a month, the expense of attending the university may be figured, as dormitory rooms at $4 a month may be occupied by two young men. These dormitory rooms are partly furnished. The officers of the club who feel they are doing much in reducing the expenses of a college course are: Foster Friddy of Salem, president; Chester P. Womer of Estacada, vice president; Mr. Sandifer of Hood River, secretary; Derrel Rexford of Albany, treasurer.

Where the Bulgarians Crossed Greek Frontier to Move Against Allies

The Bulgarian invasion of Greece, which it had often been said would invade the Hellenic nation that the latter's entry into the war would become inevitable, has taken place with the consent of the Greek government, although the Greek people may have the final say in the matter. They are known to favor the French and hate the Bulgarians. In giving consent and explaining it to the diplomats at Athens King Constantine's government stated that no other course was left open to Greece after she had made similar concessions to the entente powers in the past. "Greece has no option to act otherwise," a Greek statesman is quoted as saying, explaining the con-

HUGHES PREPARING FOR HIS CAMPAIGN

By End of Week Expects to Make Statement Outlining Campaign Plans

New York, June 19.—Charles E. Hughes returned to his political headquarters at the Hotel Astor early today with an important series of conferences with republican party leaders scheduled. The sub-committee on organization was to meet Candidate Hughes this afternoon. William R. Wilcox, of New York, was reported to be favored as national chairman by some members of the committee and Hughes will express his preference for campaign manager when he meets them. Murray Crane was one of Hughes' first callers. He refused to discuss his visit but it was assumed he had talked over the matter of the appointment of a national chairman and returning to meet other members of the sub-committee giving them Hughes' views.

In his talk with newspaper men today Hughes said it was too early to make any definite statement as to campaign plans. "I desire to meet thoroughly and competently all the issues," he said.

By the end of the week, he said, he expected to issue a statement outlining the republican plan.

Hughes will leave for Providence this afternoon to attend his class reunion at Brown university commencement. There will be no politics connected with the trip.

On his return Thursday the candidate will go to Brighthampton, L. I., where he said he hoped to get in some "quiet work."

Senator Lodge was elated with Hughes today for three-quarters of an hour.

Hughes refused to comment on the Mexican situation.

Among today's callers was Fred M. Davenport, one of the bull moose, whose visit is regarded as extremely interesting by politicians.

Judge Walter Bordwell, of Los Angeles, and Richard Veale, from Martinez, Cal., delegates to the republican convention, also called on Hughes and were followed by Chairman Hillis of the present republican committee.

It reached the top of a rather steep hill when the engine balked. Mr. Thomas applied the emergency brake, which held a moment, but gave way and the car started back down the hill. Mrs. Thomas jumped and rolled down a steep bank but was not seriously hurt. This distracted Mr. Thomas' attention and the car swerved to one side then quickly to the other and plunged over a steep bank turning upside down. Mr. and Mrs. Drexler and Mr. Thomas were caught under the car. One bone in Mrs. Drexler's wrist was broken and she was pretty badly bruised. Mr. Drexler was also badly hurt but no bones were broken. Mr. Thomas was seriously hurt, three ribs being broken and internal injuries received but how serious those may be is not yet known. Miss Thomas was not injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Davis, who were on the way home from Eugene, saw the accident and took Mrs. Drexler and Mrs. Thomas to Independence. Dr. Butler of that city went at once to the relief of the injured ones and brought them to Independence. They were all residents of that place except Miss Thomas, who resides at Jefferson.

SECOND KILLING ON ACCOUNT OF STRIKE

Wharves at San Francisco and Oakland Heavily Guarded by Police

San Francisco, June 19.—Following a second killing in connection with the longshoremen's strike, wharves here and in Oakland were heavily guarded by police today.

Thomas Olsson, a striking picket, was the second victim. Three negro strikebreakers killed him last night as he walked the bulkhead at pier 32. Immediately after the shots a crowd of night police rushed to the barge where they are quartered, surrounded the slayers and conveyed them back to the barge so they could not be identified.

Hold Secret Conference

Portland, Ore., June 19.—The result of a secret conference of members of the longshoremen's and steamboatmen's unions last night was telegraphed to the strike conferees at San Francisco yesterday. The longshoremen refused to reveal the result of the conference. It is thought the action of the longshoremen in refusing to handle freight from river steamers operated by non-union labor was discussed.

Mexican Capital Is Not Much Excited

Mexico City June 15.—Though completely appraised of the critical situation existing between the United States and Mexico, the citizens here, taking example from the officials, are calm today.

Consul Silliman Leaves

Washington, June 19.—Consul John A. Silliman of Seattle is en route to the border, under orders from the state department to quit his post. There are now no full consuls in interior Mexico, though at coast points they still remain and probably will, unless serious trouble develops.
