HARVARD WON BOTH MORNING EVENTS

Gay Crowds Watch Big Races --Big Race at 5:45 This Afternoon

New London, Conn., June 23.—Harvard won both the morning races in the annual regatta from Yale on the Thames river today, increasing confidence of the crimson crowd in the schedule of the Cambridge boys in the eight oared four mile race scheduled for 5:45 o'clock this afternoon. In the freshmen two mile eight oared event, which opened the regatta, the crimson shell shot across the line a full length ahead of the blue. In the junior varsity two mile eight oared race, the second event, Harvard won by a length and a half.

The day was perfect. Gay crowds packed observation trains and the course from the railroad bridge northward displayed the finest collection of pleasure craft ever gathered here. As the crews neared the finish in the morning races, steam whistles blew their whistles and the smaller craft tooted their horns as the crowds screamed and cheered while the alternate boating of the sport "rah-rah-rah" of Harvard and the long drawn yell of "y-a-l-e" sounded above the din.

At 5:45 the Yale crew was calm and quiet. The giant Yale varsity crew was in fine trim. After the junior varsity race, the crowd rushed to the hotels and beaches for luncheon parties.

Many gay gatherings took place on the yachts during the afternoon wait for the big event.

Big a Race for Harvard
Harvard won the freshmen two mile race, the opening event of the annual Yale-Harvard regatta on the Thames today under ideal weather and water conditions.

The crimson freshmen were a full length ahead of the blue as they crossed the line.

Two eights were off at 9:44. Yale got away to a strong start, nosing out into the lead. At the half mile Yale was still slightly ahead pulling away. Harvard however soon settled down and the race from this time on was a nip and tuck battle. Approaching the finish Harvard spurred and took the lead.

Harvard's time for the two miles was 10:26.3-5; Yale 10:39.

The race was started at the navy yard two miles up the river from the railroad bridge. The course was lined with magnificent pleasure craft practically all the way. The race was down stream.

The freshmen eight oared race was set for 10:30 a. m. and the varsity at 5:15 a. m.

Harvard won the junior varsity eight oared two mile race, the second event of the day.

The race started at 10:58. Yale got away in the lead but at the quarter mile Harvard had overtaken the blue crew. At the mile point they were a bout even. From then however, Harvard pulled steadily ahead, crossing the finish line a length and a half ahead of the Yale eight.

Say Sherman is Right
Seattle, Wash., June 23.—Gilmore Dobie, football coach at the University of Washington is agreed today with Sherman on what war is.

Five football warriors who formerly held sway with the molasses at the university, are members of the various militia companies that will soon be kicking their heels along the Mexican border.

"Sherman was right," said Dobie today when informed that Cy Noble, who played end last year and Hank Dorman, a back two years ago, were the latest to offer their services to their country.

Dave Lagg, center; Ernie Murphy, end; and Roger Harold, who has promised to turn out this year, have been in the militia for some time. Dorman was not at school last year but had intended returning this fall.

Pinkham to Meet Anderson
Seattle, Wash., June 23.—Eddie Pinkham, recently returned from Los Angeles where he lost to Willie Hoppe by a close margin, will meet Harry Anderson here tonight in a four round bout. The match is being more commensurate than any staged here for some time. Anderson bats from Vanuycer, B. C., and is recorded an even chance with Pinkham, who is known in California as Eddie Brewster. They are lightweights.

Semi-Finals Today

Considerable interest is shown in the women and mixed doubles, which have progressed to the final round.

"CHUCK" LOW OUT
Charles (Chuck) Low, first sacker of the Lajans in the Montavilla game, has made his last appearance this season. He is now on the way to Arizona to work in the mines.

Low is a student of mining in O. A. C. and an athlete of note holding down the first bag on the Aggie freshman team. In this city he made a name for himself while in the high school, as a baseball and football man.

Ray Tiebel, regular first baseman for the O. A. C. varsity team, will appear in a Salem uniform in Low's place Sunday.

Low is a son of Walter Low, city street commissioner.

Champion Golf Player Coming—Holder of Fifteen Prize Cups

We have had from time to time various celebrities sojourning among us—famous ball players, poloists, gridiron veterans, but it is our pleasure to welcome a distinguished involution to the list—Mr. Bert P. McKinney—a long series of battles on the links, in competition with the best golf players in which he was a participant, he has played all over the country winning fifteen cups. His prowess effected a decided intention in several National tournaments. Additional to the fifteen cups captured in the game, Mr. McKinney won and maintained inviolate for two years the gold championship of St. Louis, Missouri.

Mr. McKinney is manager of the International Operatic Company, a musical program feature of the chautauqua. He was formerly leading baritone with Savage's English Opera company, and sings that part with his company. Not the least delightful of his many qualifications as an operatic star of international prominence is the unconscious out-of-doors freedom, control and zest of the links signally apparent in his work in opera. This opera company will be one of the Salem chautauqua attractions next month.

Ex-Congressman To Test Prohibition Laws

Tacoma, Wash., June 23.—Attorneys representing former Congressman Stanton Warburton announced today an appeal will be taken from the judgment imposed by Justice Graham late yesterday when he fined Warburton $250 for importing a trunk filled with intoxicating liquors, in violation of the prohibition law. The case will be carried to the supreme court, Warburton's attorneys say, where the question involving the constitutional right of a citizen to bring into the state intoxicants desired for his own personal use will be decided.

Warburton purchased the liquor in Chicago where he had been attending the progressive convention as a delegate from this state.

CALIFORNIA MILITIA GATHER AT CAPITOL

Mobilization Began This Morning When Second Infantry Arrived

Sacramento, Cal., June 23.—Actual mobilization of the state militia is on today at the state fair grounds. The first outside soldiers arrived at 10:30 this morning. This was company F, Woodland, with two officers and 63 men. An hour later a special arrived from Chico with 135 officers and men. The trains went direct to the fair grounds. The Chico contingent consisted of Colonel Bond, chief of the Second Infantry, the regiment headquarters band and scouts and company K.

Adjutant General Thomas orders for all companies of the Second Infantry to move to the fair grounds some late last night. Company I, Oroville, is scheduled to arrive this afternoon; company II, Red Bluff is to arrive at 4 p. m. The Oroville troops number two officers and 73 men and the Red Bluff company two officers and 71 men.

The other companies of the Second Infantry—D of Visalia; M, Hanford; C and K, Fresno, and L, Watsonville are to arrive tonight between 8 and 9 o'clock. The present strength of these companies is 387 officers and men.

The ambulance company of Napa and the San Francisco signal corps company are to arrive at the camp tonight.

The latest figures compiled by the adjutant general show the total strength of the militia to be 199 officers and 3,282 men, the number of enlistments yesterday being 416.

The Fifth regiment of infantry, headquarters at Oakland, is weaker than the others, but the officers have been very active as shown by the report of 148 enlistments in that regiment during yesterday.

"THE INNOCENT LIE," PHOTO-PLAY OF REAL THINGS!

"The Innocent Lie," the latest Famous Players-Paramount production appearing at Ye Liberty today and tomorrow, was staged in Bermuda, under the personal direction of Sidney Olcott with Miss Valentine Grant in the stellar role of Nora O'Brien, a poor Irish emigrant. The story is as follows:

Nora O'Brien is entrusted with a message from a Nora Owen to a certain Mrs. Winters, a sister of the late Mrs. Owen. Nora has Mrs. Winters' address on a card and proceeds to find the residence upon her arrival in New York from Ireland. She becomes the victim of foul play and is identified as Mrs. Winters' niece by the card in her pocket. Believing Nora to be her niece, Mrs. Winters takes the injured girl home. Upon recovering Nora asserts her mistaken identity but is discredited by the Winters family, who are convinced that she is the genuine Nora. Later she is happy to think that her story was not believed, for she becomes a beloved member of the family. Her darling rescue of Teddy, the youngest of the two sons from asphyxiation, wins their hearts. Time passes and her love for Egan, one of the sons, grows as his does for her. But Nora's brother, Pat, a disreputable chauffeur, worms his way into the Winters' household, and upsets the lovers' plans. Recognizing his sister, he tries to persuade her to assist him in robbing the house. This discussion takes place in Nora's room and before Pat's departure he relieves her of valuable gifts from the Winters, dropping, however, Mrs. Winters' mesh bag in his haste, and thus throwing suspicion on Nora. Nora dons her old clothes and leaves the house. She is observed by Egan, who follows her to Pat's headquarters in the slums. Disgusted at the turn of events, Egan returns home. Love still burns in his heart and returns to find Nora in a group of insulting drunkards. Without delay he plunges into the crowd and a fight ensues. With the aid of a revolver, snatched from the saloon-keeper, Egan escapes with Nora. A letter from Nora Owen Stewart greets their arrival and the misunderstanding is all straightened out.

There is much scenic beauty in this unusual Famous Players-Paramount picture, and many episodes of great dramatic and emotional strength. At Ye Liberty today and tomorrow.

IDAHO RIVER IS HIGHEST EVER KNOWN

Sand Point, Idaho, June 23.—Bonnie's Ferry, Idaho, is entirely under water today. The Kootenai river is higher than ever before in history. Water covers the floors of business houses to depths of from six inches to three feet. No stores are attempting to do business.

NOTHER MURDER MYSTERY

Walla Walla, Wash., June 23.—A coroner's investigation today failed to throw any light on the murder of Charles Sam, 59 years old, who was shot to death early yesterday while he slept.

Mrs. Sams, sleeping beside her husband, was awakened by two shots. She heard somebody moving in the room. Before she could light a lamp, the door slammed and the murderer fled. Sam died an hour later without regaining consciousness. No motive for the murder is known.

REPUBLICANS PLAY POLITICS IN CONGRESS

Do Not Want To Be Blamed for Sending Troops to Mexico

Washington, June 23.—With republicans, led by Representative Mann, demanding explicit expression from the president as to his reasons for sending the militia to the border with power to order them into Mexico, Chairman Hay of the house military affairs committee, this afternoon began his fight to make the national guard actually a federal force.

Opposition to the resolution, because President Wilson has not appeared before congress in person to explain the Mexican situation, seemed to grow rapidly.

Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, asked that the whole matter be postponed for consideration until tomorrow. Hay pressed for immediate consideration.

Declaring the action would not constitute a declaration of war nor admission that a state of war exists, Hay brought the matter up immediately upon the convening of the house. He asked the house to consent to changes in the resolution, in effect placing on congress the responsibility for drafting the militia. Hay asked that the language of the draft empowering the president to draft militia be made to read:

"That in the opinion of the congress of the United States, whereas an emergency now exists which demands the use of troops in addition to the regular army the president hereby authorized to draft into the United States army any or all the members of the national guard."

Leader Mann Objects.
Republican Leader Mann objected to having placed on congress the responsibility of declaring that an emergency exists, unless President Wilson should directly or indirectly assure the house that such is the case.

"I am authorized," replied Chairman Hay, "to say that the president believes an emergency is present and it is absolutely necessary to command the services of the militia."

Continuing Mann said: "I do not know whether the troops should be kept in Mexico or not. It is evident that the troops cannot remain in the heart of the country without there being a certain amount of friction with Mexicans. I cannot see why they are being kept in Mexico, when they have not accomplished what they set out to do."

An amendment by Walsh shifting the responsibility to President Wilson for calling the militia was defeated by a vote of 122 to 24.

The Hay amendment declaring that congress considers an emergency present, requiring the use of the military was carried.

An amendment was carried limiting the service of the militiamen to "the period of the emergency, not to exceed three years."

Blames the President.
"The troops are not on Mexican soil today at our command," said Representative Walsh, republican of Massachusetts. "The responsibility for sending more troops into Mexico ought not be shifted now to us. We ought to have a message in writing from the president."

He was loudly applauded in the republican side of the chamber.

The house after much wrangling decided to limit the debate on the resolution to two hours. There was a great demand for time by republicans, indicating that the resolution will be strenuously fought.

Representative Walsh proposed an amendment to the Hay resolution, placing upon President Wilson instead of congress the responsibility for calling the militia.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon launched into a general attack of the administration's policy in jolley.

"If we are to defend against Mexican anarchy we must set that either they or we will establish a responsible government in Mexico."

County May Open Road by Repairing Bridge

If Douglas county will provide funds for repairing a bridge over the South Umpqua river at Myrtle Creek, the county will be allowed to open a crossing over the tracks of the Oregon & California railroad, according to an order issued by the state public service commission.

The opening of this road will allow farmers in a valuable agricultural section to get into the city with more convenience than is now afforded.

Permission to install three grade crossings in Columbia county has also been granted to the Nehalem Investment company which operates a logging railroad. The Valley & Siletz railroad has been permitted to establish crossings over various roads in Polk county.

Authority to raise freight rates on short hauls has been asked of the commission by the Southern Pacific company. Hauls from Portland to points on the Willamette Valley Southern and the Coos Bay, Roseburg and Eastern are involved in the matter.

England Will Take Charge for Uncle Sam

Washington, June 23.—The United States government is understood to have made formal request of Great Britain to take charge of American interests in Mexico should war occur between the two countries.

State department officials refused to confirm or deny the report today, but it was indicated that preliminary steps have been taken to safeguard this country's interest. It was explained that any such arrangement necessarily provides only for the future developments and does not, of course, apply to the present status of affairs.

No formal request could be made to Great Britain previous to the breaking off of relations between this country and Mexico. Consul Rodgers and other American representatives are still at their posts at Mexico City and other points in the republic and so far as is known, no instructions have been sent to them to return to this country.

Until this is done the only step the state department would take in the course of preparing for the eventualities would be an informal discussion with British authorities here of that country's willingness to assume charge of American interests.

Grangers Had Great Time at Stayton

A jolly lot of grangers motored from Stayton Wednesday, June 21, to attend Pomona grange.

There was a large attendance of about 50 or 75. The meeting was called to order by W. H. Stevens, W. M. of South Howell.

In the forenoon the usual routine business was transacted, including the reports from different granges.

A recess was taken and the granges were invited to the banquet hall and when some of the new members of the grange saw what a bountiful dinner was spread, forgot that granges always return thanks for their blessings and were almost through before thanks were returned. Of course this made it necessary for them to eat two dinners, but as this was their first appearance at Pomona grange they were excused, they then said when they saw all the chicken, salad, pies, cake and most everything else you might mention they could not wait, as a city dinner was generally composed of a small bowl of soup, or maybe just get the dog and imagine you had eaten.

Some of our new members are prominent business men of Salem and we were indeed glad to have them with us and they will get used to all the good things grangers cook.

After the dinner near the meeting was called to order and the worthy lecturer took charge of the meeting.

Bro. McPherson of O. A. C. was present and spoke on the rural credit bill. John P. Robertson one of the oldest grangers in the state spoke and the question is debatable whether it is a benefit or not a benefit to the farmer.

A delightful program was given by Stayton grange after which the fifth degree was conferred on a class of fourteen. The grange then closed in due form to meet with Macleay grange the third Wednesday in October.

SOME QUIET SUNDAYS
Portland, Ore., June 23.—The proprietor of a bakery pleaded with the municipal judge that two of his wagon drivers had gone with the militia, and if the third was sent to jail for drunkenness he would lose business. The obliging judge sentenced the driver to serve five successive Sundays in jail.
