MORAN A PLAYTHING FOR "LITTLE" DILLON

Put the Pittsburger Out of Drawing Class and Won Without a Scratch

New York, June 30.—Jack Dillon has lived up fully to his reputation as a "man killer" today and though the services of an undertaker were not needed at the close of his fight with Frank Moran last night, the Hoosier scrapper certainly killed off the Pittsburger as one of the "big money" fighters of the country.

Moran received $25,000 for the beating he took from Dillon, but every jab and hook that brought blood flowing from Frank's face and sent him backing away, puzzled and pasty looking, was shaking him loose from further chances at fat purses. With last night's fight Moran has collected $82,000 for taking beatings within four months. He received $37,000 for his fight with Willard in March. But the beating he took from "Little" Dillon—more than 30 pounds lighter and six inches shorter—probably spelled the end for Moran as a card that will lead promoters to put up thousands to get him in the ring. The way is now open for Dillon to collect some of the big stuff.

"If Jack only weighed 30 pounds more," was the most frequent remark heard in New York today among followers who witnessed the mill. And when they thought of his lacking 30 pounds, they also thought of huge Jess Willard, the heavyweight champion. Moran appeared small when in the ring with Willard, but he looked like a giant compared with Dillon. However, game, fast and clever, Dillon may be, therefore, his chances against Big Jess are held at zero.

Moran Stopped Smiling

Moran was fat and in anything but good condition for the fight. Dillon, on the other hand, was trained to the minute. His muscles rippled beneath clear, healthy skin, burned to a nut brown. He was in deadly earnest from the tap of the first bell. Moran smiled and winked at friends at the ring side during the first round and laughed when Dillon hit him. Once, when giving himself over to such a bit of mirth in the second, Dillon cracked him on the jaw so hard he almost turned Frank around. After the third round when Moran got Jack on the ropes twice and hammered him with the best he had, the smile of the Pittsburger was conspicuous by its absence.

Dillon did his greatest execution with short arm pokes at close quarters. In the seventh round he hit Moran seven times in the face without return with snappy rights that traveled only a few inches but brought streams of sweat and shook up Moran. They went in like blows of a trip hammer.

At the finish, Dillon, without a mark on him and still fresh, tripped over to Moran's corner to shake hands with him, but was greeted with nothing but a scowl.

Official figures today showed the receipts for the fight were $28,521. If Moran and Dillon drew the amounts credited to them for their work, the promoters must have lost a trifle over $11,000 on the bout.

INVESTIGATING RATES

Washington, June 30.—The rail and water carriers serving Alaska were today named as respondents in a general investigation by the interstate commerce commission into passenger and freight rates, both inside Alaska and to and from Pacific coast and other points. The commission also will seek to ascertain whether Alaska railroad own or operate mines. The government line is not affected by the inquiry.

YUKON TO VOTE ON IT

Dawson, Y. T., June 30.—The people of Yukon territory will vote on the question of prohibition not later than September 1. The territorial legislature has decided on the referendum following presentation of a dry petition signed by two thirds of the qualified electors of the district.

Watching the Scoreboard

Fittery played Svengali to the "Tigers" Trilly at Los Angeles and had the bengals obeying his will at all times. Score 2 to 0.

Bunny Brief contributed to the Utah victory with a screening three sacker.

Angeles and Portland got three hits apiece in a rare old leavng duel, but the Beavers bunched theirs and the seraphs didn't.

San Francisco eased a nice little ball game out of Oakland yesterday—the Sawks' first victory of the series.

Browns pitching proved too slippery for Oakland. San Francisco got its run in the opening inning on two clean swats and every frame was runless thereafter.

Heige Zimmerman pulled the fat out of the fire at St. Louis with a triple which sent the tying run across the plate. He gave his team the lead a minute later when he scored on a sacrifice fly.

Boss Finkler of the Cubs drove out a long fly which scored Zimmerman with the run that gave the Chi-goans the game.

The povered Phillies walloped the Giants twice after losing five straight. 27 Giants faced Rixey in the first game.

Lauder's Philly first sacker broke his hitting streak when he flied out in the second game. He had made seven consecutive hits.

"Home Run" Baker hurt his leg in making a double and was forced to quit the game.

The Indians are consistent anyway. They lost another game, this time the Browns taking their measure for a 7 to 0 count. Davenport held Cleveland to 10 hits.

LEGAL PIPEL AND DRIVEL

(Medford Mail-Tribune.)

The supreme court of the state of Oregon in its opinion in White vs. East Side Mill & Lumber company, a case on appeal from Multnomah county, has just perpetuated a most glaring outrage against common sense and justice.

"White was a traffic policeman on duty in Portland and was run over by one of defendant's trucks. His widow brought suit and recovered a judgment for $7,500 in the circuit court of Multnomah county. An appeal was taken on the ground that the lower court erred in overruling a demurrer to plaintiff's reply to the answer, wherein plaintiff denied that defendant had carelessly and negligently turned his back on defendant's truck." The contention being that the reply should deny that he had carelessly or negligently turned his back on defendant's truck.

After a pedantic discussion of negative preagnats, the upper court reversed the decision on the theory that it violated the most ancient rules of common law pleading.

Of all the stilted-hair-brained, hair-splitting and refined technicalities upon which to outrage justice this is the extreme limit. Is it any wonder that the people are crying out against the law's technicalities and delays, and that judges and courts are in disrepute?

For pure snark and drivell the Oregon supreme court is entitled to the banner, and this, may it please you, must go down in the annals of Oregon jurisprudence as an established precedent for future generations to pattern to.

Infantile Paralysis Epidemic in New York

New York, June 30.—Thirty eight new cases in Brooklyn and seven in Manhattan, brought the known total infantile paralysis victims in New York's epidemic of the dread disease up to 207 today. This is the largest number so far reported in one day and it spurred board of health officials into renewed efforts to check the wave. Special instructions were issued to all mothers of greater New York urging that they keep their babies scrupulously clean and avoid letting their children play with others unless of known cleanliness.

The board has also asked the United States public health service to investigate and ascertain whether the disease was not brought to the United States by immigrants on Italian liners.

CHANGES OF S. P. OFFICIALS

San Francisco, June 30.—D. W. Campbell, at present assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific with headquarters at Portland, will be transferred July 1 to Los Angeles where he will be in charge of the southern district, according to an announcement this afternoon of vice president W. R. Scott of the Southern Pacific. Superintendent H. J. Dyer of the Sacramento division is appointed assistant general manager with headquarters at Portland. Superintendent J. D. Brennan now of Oakland will succeed Dyer at Sacramento, and Superintendent T. H. Williams of Tucson, Ariz., will succeed Brennan at Oakland.

RAINING AT REDDING

Redding, Cal., June 30.—Rain has been falling continuously here since midnight. Half an inch is the precipitation in Redding thus far, but the storm is heavier toward the Oregon line. Ranchers say the rain is doing more harm than good, hurting ripening fruit and damaging the drying fruit. The seasons rainfall is 34.92, twenty inches short of last season's.

W. O. W. WIN BIG CASE

Dallas, Tex., June 30.—Lewis Habney, a local attorney, sitting as special judge yesterday rendered a decision in favor of the Woodmen of the World in the famous "twenty year policy" case.

The order formerly issued policies on which the payments were completed in twenty years. At a recent convention these policies were abolished and the holders obliged to continue payments. H. B. Sney of Dallas brought suit against the order.

Thirty four thousand policies held in all parts of the country were involved. They represented a total valuation of $88,000,000.

"To Hell and Back" an Interesting Trip

Despite the rain last evening a large audience gathered at the First Baptist church to hear Dr. W. B. Hinson's sermon on "To Hell and Back." The discourse was an analysis of Peter's descent from discipleship and fellowship with Jesus to the depths of blasphemous remorse, and his heart breaking remorse, and his restoration to manhood and loving, loyal service. Following Jesus a far off, selfish association with the ungodly, and sitting with the scoffers was the road Peter traveled to his downfall.

Dr. Hinson showed last night many of the qualities which make him a strong and popular preacher. His word pictures made the scenes real to his hearers. With dramatic power and persuasive eloquence he forced home the truths which the incident revealed. Watchfulness lest we fall, sympathy for the erring, dependence on God, the love and forgiveness of God who gives us a second chance, were some of the lessons drawn from Peter's experience. The large number who responded to the appeal showed the endorsement given to the message.

Tonight's theme will be "The Strongest Thing in the World." The service from 3 to 4 this afternoon and the service this evening will be the last services this week. Dr. Hinson will speak morning and evening next Sunday.

Captain Tauscher Found Not Guilty

New York, June 30.—Captain Hans Tauscher was found not guilty by a jury today on the charge of conspiring to inaugurate a military movement against Canada which had as its object destruction of the Welland canal.

Mme. Galski, prima donna, and wife of the German captain, was in court when the jury announced its verdict and enthusiastically congratulated every one of the twelve men.

Testifying in his own behalf yesterday Tauscher intimated that he had been duped by Von Pappen, whose recall was asked by the United States. The specific charge against him was that he furnished the explosives with which the government contended the others in the alleged conspiracy were planning to destroy the Canadian waterway.

HUGHES MEETS TAFT

Bridgehampton, L. I., June 30.—Candidate Charles E. Hughes had a two hour conference today with former president Taft. The republican nominee wanted Taft's advice on a number of matters connected with the campaign and it is also believed he undertook the part of peace maker in trying to heal the bruises incurred in the personal strife between Taft and Roosevelt. Taft was a lunch guest.

The republican nominee spent the morning in true vacation fashion, playing golf at the Bridgehampton club with his secretary, Lawrence H. Green.

AUTO GOT TWO

Willows, Cal., June 30.—Ray Stoddard, aged 35, of Princeton; Virgil Davis, aged 25, of Princeton, were killed last night near Arbuckle when their automobile went over a 12 foot embankment according to word reaching here today. Both men were crushed under the car.

A Japanese, who was also in the automobile, was pinned under the wreckage for three hours and was badly hurt internally.

WOULD BRING IDLE MAN TO IDLE LAND

The land cure for unemployment is proposed in a bill introduced into congress by Representative Robert Crosser of Ohio, who would have unoccupied American tracts used for colonization projects under the direction of the federal government.

Crosser, who is a single taxpayer, proposes to make single tax a feature of his colonization projects. Under the terms of his bill, no revenue would be derived from land products, but all assessments be levied against the value of land occupied by each colonist, irrespective of improvements. It is designed by this means to encourage thrift and to discharge the tide holding of land.

Control of the project would be in the hands of a board composed of Secretary Wilson of the department of labor, Secretary Lane of the interior department and Secretary Houston of the agricultural department. A fifty million bond issue is to provide the initial funds.

Exhaustion of free land that can be worked for a living is Crosser's reason for introducing this measure. On the other hand, he points out that millions of acres, formerly belonging to the government are held speculatively out of use by those who acquired title from the original settlers. He would have the commission reacquire such land as is necessary for colonizing purposes.

While useable free land remained, Crosser points out, the nation always had a safety valve against the worst phases of unemployment. To-day any sudden industrial depression throws tens of thousands of workers upon charity for their subsistence.

WANT CARRANZA'S

Liberty that the First Iowa cavalry squadron had had a change of heart and would yet enlist. Reports reaching the Quaker cavalry men that "snakers" at Camp Dodge had had yellow stripes of iodine painted on their backs and that the infantrymen said the cavalry would not fight anyway, got up the dander of the men and nearly all said they would take the federal oath today.

Gold Diggers Start

Sacramento, Cal., June 30.—They're off for Mexico. The first units of the California national guard to get orders are en route to Nogales, Ariz. today. Other organizations are standing in arms, waiting for the telegraphic command that will send them marching to their troop trains.

The first squadron of cavalry got away during the night. A great crowd watched the men march from the mobilization camp to Jeffrey, a distance of two miles, where the trains waited. Two hundred automobiles followed the soldiers and the road was lined for the entire distance with cheering spectators. The cavalrymen will get their horses at the border.

It is expected that the first battalion of field artillery will be next to go. The Second and Fifth regiments of infantry anticipate orders during the next 24 hours. That leaves the Seventh infantry from southern California and a number of auxiliary establishments still in camp, but all will be en route south, it is believed, before the end of the week.

Will Stay Some Time

New York, June 30.—Even should the Mexican situation ease up, the national guard of the United States may be kept some time at border concentration camps and put through a rigorous course of training. High army officers here today intimated that opportunity for training such a large body of citizen soldiers as will be assembled on the border was too good not to be utilized in the interest of future efficiency of the nation's military units.

Troop movements were practically at a standstill in the eastern part of the country today. Now that Carranza has released the negro troops for the Tenth cavalry there was a perceptible feeling among militia officials that it might be ill to make haste more slowly in sending of poorly equipped and poorly drilled militia units to the border. It was admitted today that not a single one of the regiments now en route is actually "fit" from a military standpoint, to stand arduous service.

Where These Will Go

Nogales, Ariz., June 30.—The Twenty Second infantry of U. S. regulars guarding the railroad and water supply of Bisbee will be replaced by the militia of District of Columbia, it was reported here today. California militia due tomorrow morning will be distributed between Nogales and Naco, according to statements made here.

Vanderbilt's Regiment

Dallas, Texas, June 30.—Colonel Vanderbilt's regiment on the New York national guard passed through here en route to Mexico today.
