Income, Inheritance and Munitions Taxes to Pay Cost of Preparedness

Washington, July 1.—Income, inheritance and munitions taxes are to pay the cost of preparedness. If there is war, the cost will be paid for by bond issue.

Shifting the burdens almost entirely upon accumulated wealth and big incomes, the new revenue bill to be introduced in the house today, is open-making, in the opinion of administration leaders. It will establish a national inheritance tax as a permanent part of the fiscal system of this country.

Experts say the new bill will raise approximately $210,000,000 additional revenue—$100,000,000 from incomes; $50,000,000 from inheritances and $50,000,000 from munitions.

The present income tax rate is boosted from one to two per cent. The super-taxes will begin at $20,000 and will increase at the rate of one per cent on each classification, until ten per cent is levied on all incomes in excess of $500,000.

The inheritance tax provisions will exempt all estates under $50,000 if the testator was a resident of the state in which the property lies. If a non-resident there will be no exemption. The tax rates are one per cent for estates under $50,000; two per cent for estates between $50,000 and $150,000; three per cent between $150,000 and $250,000; four per cent between $250,000 and $450,000; and five per cent on estates in excess of $450,000. The bill is so drafted as not to interfere with the purely state inheritance tax laws now on the statute books.

Varying rates of taxation are imposed on munition factories. If receipts of a plant manufacturing gun powder and explosives do not exceed a million dollars a tax of five per cent is laid. Eight per cent is demanded where receipts are in excess of that sum. A sliding scale of rates is also provided for cartridges and other munitions of war.

The stamp taxes are wiped out, although part of the emergency revenue act created at the opening of the European war is left to stand in modified form.

There will be no more stamps on telegrams, mortgages, telephone calls, perfumes and deeds.

Some of the special taxes remaining are $1 a thousand on the capital stock of bankers, $30 on brokers, $50 on pawnbrokers, a graded tax on theatres, beginning as low as $10 so as to catch the smaller moving picture shows, $100 on streets and a tax on bowling, alms and billiard tables. There is also a wine stamp tax. The rate of $1.50 a barrel on beer stands unchanged.

Legislative proposals include: Creation of a tariff commission as framed by Representative Rainey, of Illinois.

An increase of the tariff rates on dyestuffs to protect infant industries which have sprung up since the European war cut off the dye supply of the United States.

An unfair competition clause which is expected to keep foreigners from dumping goods in this country at prices lower than they command in foreign markets.

The de-staff tariff clause contains a provision that the duties at the end of a period of five years shall be reduced at the rate of 20 per cent a year on the theory that once the industry has been established it should be able to stand on its own feet without government protection.

Loganberry Variants Wanted for Investigation

Loganberries that are slightly different from the common run and wanted by the horticultural division of the Oregon Agricultural College, for investigation of the development and propagation of this popular cane fruit and also to throw some light on the possibilities of the new types as commercial berries.

"In many loganberry patches in Oregon plants that are just a little different from the common loganberry are occasionally found," says Professor Lewis. "While at Newburg this week I found a berry with foliage similar to that of the loganberry but a fruit of distinctly blackberry type. "We are very anxious here at the college to know just how many of these plants there are in the state and secure a collection of all such next fall. They will be of great advantage in our investigational work, both as to the development of the plant and as to the commercial possibilities of the newer types."

Anyone owning plants of this kind will confer a favor and assist in solving an interesting and important problem by communicating with Professor C. I. Lewis, who will make arrangements for securing tips.

COURT HOUSE NEWS

The question of inheritance taxes loomed large in a hearing held by Judge Bushey today. Mrs. Caroline Provost, who owned a 115-acre farm near St. Paul died recently, leaving the estate to her husband as long as he should live and after that to Mrs. Octava Quida O'Mara. Mrs. O'Mara had been practically raised by Mrs. Provost and was Mrs. Provost's niece. Her parents, however, would not permit Mrs. Provost to adopt the girl. Under the law exemptions up to $5,000 are allowed on estates going to lineal descendants and up to $2,500 for other heirs. It also provides that when a child has lived with a person for 10 years or more in the relation of parent and child the $5,000 limit holds. This is the interpretation put on the case by Judge Bushey.

Payment of $10,000 is demanded in a complaint filed today in the circuit court by Louis Weibert as guardian of Jacob G. Miller, an insane person. In 1913 Miller and others are said to have become entangled for an undertaking as guardian of Adam J. Mishler who was subsequently made guardian of the estate of Henry J. Miller. Mishler later became Miller's creditor in the sum of $5,000, Miller giving a promissory note secured by a mortgage. Finally, it is claimed, Mishler appropriated a total of $10,000 from the Miller estate. Weibert is suing Mishler and his bondsmen to secure payment. He wants it in sums of $5,000 and $2,500 at once and the remainder in $500 lots at such time as the court may specify.

R. R. Ryan and Lizzie Ryan are named as defendants in a money action brought by R. R. Randall, of Oakland, Cal. Randall claims $2,000 is due on a promissory note and asks costs and fees of $200.

Another money action started today is that of R. M. Randall against Effie McPherson, nee Effie Smith, and Preston McPherson and Alvaretta and Leslie Barrick. Randall claims that Mrs. McPherson gave him a note for $400 in 1911 bearing 10 per cent interest and which was secured by a lot in Yew Park Lane the lot was conveyed to the Barricks. The principal, $400, and fees of $75, are asked.

Ralph W. Walton yesterday secured a license to marry Miss Elva M. Smith. They were married last evening.

Some small commensation can be gotten out of the Mexican mass. Parties will not crowd everything else off the front page while the trouble lasts.

Receiving Entries for Baby Parade

Everybody is now hoping for fair weather Monday morning, as the baby parade promises to be a wonderful attraction. This afternoon Mrs. E. L. Baker and Mrs. H. H. Olinger are at the Commercial club receiving entries. Those who did not register this afternoon, may report to the registration booth at Wilson park Monday morning.

This arrangement is made in order that everybody with a baby worth showing off, may have an opportunity to enter, even at the last moment. The parade will begin immediately following the crowning of Queen Estella and the line of march will extend from Court to Summer to Cottage street, thence to State street, and thence to the road entrance to the park, grouping around the band stand. The awards are divided into 16 classes. Those in classes A, B, C, D, will form on the south side of Court street, adjoining Wilson park. Classes E, F, G and H will form on the north side of Court street. Those entering in classes I, J, K and L will form on the east side of Summer street. Entries in classes M, N, O and P will form on the west side of Summer street. Those in classes A, B, C and D will lead the parade, to be followed by classes in alphabetical order. Anyhow, now that the ladies have worked so generously for the success of the baby parade, everybody is hoping for fair weather, and if the rain must come, that it will stay away until some other day.

SYLVESTER LONG, MAN WHO SAYS THINGS

Prominent Lecturer One of Popular Speakers in America Today

A MAN'S success in this day and age depends a great deal on whether he can "come back." The man who can "come back" and make a bigger success than ever before is the man who forges ahead and in the end has won a way into the hearts of the people. Sylvester A. Long is a man who can "come back." He is one of the lecturers on the Chautauqua, and he "puts it over" in a way that is unusual. He is so well liked over the country that he has lectured in some cities as many as fifteen times, and that is an unusual record. Mr. Long has lectured in Cincinnati, Portland, Kansas City, Ogden, Philadelphia and dozens of other large cities. Mr. Long will be in demand here after he has been heard at the Chautauqua. Mr. Long says things and says them fast and well.
