Stiff & Son's.

The United Artisans are arranging for a picnic to be held Wednesday afternoon and evening at the state fair grounds. A program will be given and with the continuance of fair weather, the committee on arrangements is looking for a large attendance. D. I. Howard, director of the social department of the Commercial club, has appointed the following executive committee to serve with him in directing the affairs of his department: Dr. W. H. Hyrd, L. H. McMahon, William Lerchen and Carl Grabison.

It is held under the auspices of the Portland Chamber of Commerce and address will be made by Governor Edwin Cookingham of the Ladd and Bush bank and Tom Ingersoll, secretary of the National association of Real Estate Exchanges. The McGilchrist fountain in front of the Capital Drug store, State and Liberty streets, is once again a subject of contention between the Salem water works company and the city council. The water works company claims that having supplied water for the fountain at the Ladd and Bush bank, the city is estopped from designating a free fountain. The franchise of the water company gives the city the right to designate a fountain for man and beast and the city claims it has never exercised this right.

The United Artisans are planning an old fashioned basket picnic to be held at the fair grounds Wednesday evening. The W. O. W. cabin has been secured for the occasion where the older members will gather round a roaring fire and enjoy indoor amusements while out-door sports have been arranged for the young members. Every body come with well filled baskets. Hot coffee will be served and supper will be ready at 7 p. m. This is the first of a series of picnics planned for the summer.

Colonel Varnum of Portland is in the city to inspect the work of the recruiting office and to accompany three recruits to Portland received Saturday. Lester R. Swarts had an ambition to become a soldier but could not pass the physical examination. Those to return with Colonel Varnum this evening are, Harry McBride, living about five miles from Salem, Forest Walker and Wallace E. Brown. Including the three recruits going to Portland this evening, the local recruiting office has accepted and forwarded to Portland, 15 young men.

The social department of the Commercial club will not only be a place for men, but will also be the center of social gatherings for the families of members of the club, according to D. I. Howard, director of the social department. It is Mr. Howard's intention to form a Ladies Auxiliary and give them the privilege of the assembly room of the club for dances and afternoon parties. A fine viroleta will be placed in the rooms and everything made pleasant for small gatherings. In addition to the assembly room being open at all times, Mr. Howard intends to provide for an entertainment once a month, with singers and talent from the local theatres.

When Theodore Roth was elected director of the industrial department of the Commercial club, he addressed a few remarks on the situation and included in the remarks was the opinion that Salem needed a flax factory. Then he said the factory was not only needed, but that he would do all he could to establish one. A few weeks ago he organized a company, bought the machinery and also four car loads of flax, and within a week or two, Salem will have made a start on what many believe will be one of the leading industries of the country.

Rev. James Elvin, pastor of the First Congregational church, has been appointed chaplain of the regiment of volunteers now being raised by Col. Gantenbein of Portland. This appointment will not in any way interfere with Mr. Elvin's regular work unless the regiment should be called into service. Just at present there is little prospect of any active service. Mr. Elvin is now active in civic work, serving not only on a chautauqua committee, but also giving much of his time as chairman of the relief committee of the Sale Patriotic League.

"Patriotism is surely not lacking in Salem," said the Rev. James Elvin this afternoon. "This morning a gentleman came to me and subscribed $10 a month for six months and agreed to continue the monthly payment as long as the boys are at the front." Other reports are coming in of the generosity and patriotism of those who are able to give. At the mass meeting this evening in the armory, Mr. Elvin will present the pledges. The amounts received and pledged this evening will be used partly for a relief fund and partly for a sum to be sent to the boys as a mess fund.

A new rule has been established by the post office department relative to the shipping of fresh fruits by mail. Having had all sorts of unsatisfactory experiences in permitting fruit to be shipped in pasteboard or wooden boxes, the department has issued notice that hereafter fruits will be received only in water tight boxes. This information is for the benefit of those who intend to ship samples of Oregon fruit by mail. To Missouri river points and Chicago the rate is 11 cents for the first pound and 10 cents for each additional pound. East of Chicago, the rate is 12 cents flat.

Every auto reported stolen in this city has been recovered, according to Chief of Police Welsh. Sometimes it took a week or more but the machines ultimately were returned. In contrast to this record is a report just received from San Francisco, from January 1 to June 30, 44 machines were taken from the Bay city that have never been found. Of these 35 were Fords.

The Chautauqua Sunday night movies are having rather rough sledding in the Willamette valley. In Eugene, the objection was made by the moving picture shows and as a result, no pictures were shown last night at the Eugene chautauqua. In Salem, the objection was made by several members of the Salem Ministerial association, resulting in the promise of Ellison White to put on a satisfactory program next Sunday evening.

No admission will be charged at the meeting to be held at the armory this evening. It is a general mass meeting to which all citizens are invited to hear a discussion of what can be done for the relief of the families of Company M, who are in need of relief to some extent. For the dance to follow the meeting, a charge of 50 cents a couple. The balcony will be free for spectators.

Hundreds were turned away last evening at the First Congregational church as it was generally understood that Lieutenant Niemeyer would tell of his experiences at Tynes while serving in the English army. The lieutenant will speak at the open house Tuesday evening, telling of his experiences in trench life. The lecture was originally advertised for Friday evening, but on account of the chautauqua, it was thought best to give the lecture tomorrow evening. This is the first opportunity of a Salem audience to hear tales of the European war from one who has actually been on the front.

H. F. Bittman, president of the Cherry City Baking company, was in the city Sunday conferring with members of the Commercial club. It was through the efforts of the Commercial club that Mr. Bittman's attention was called to Salem as a distributing point. With one factory in Portland, the company visited several cities in the valley and finally decided that with the number of towns within a few miles of Salem, this city offered the greatest advantages. Albany, Eugene, Corvallis and in fact all the towns of the valley will be supplied from the Salem factory. Points to the north and west of Portland will be supplied from the Portland factory.

The near side stop has been adopted by the greater number of street car systems throughout the country and here is one instance in which Salem will beat Portland to it. In all street cars in Salem are posted notices notifying its patrons that after August 1, all cars will make the near side stop, which means that the car will stop before crossing the street. It is understood that an ordinance will be passed by the Portland city council providing for the near side stop, but it will hardly go into effect before September 1. The near side stop has been effective in reducing the number of accidents and to reduce the general hazard of accident. Anyhow, after August 1, Salem people will be strictly up to date while boarding a street car.
