CHAUTAQUA

Ticket Day Monday July 12-18 Inclusive Ticket Day Tuesday

The Chautauqua begins Wednesday Evening, July 12, and continues seven days, bringing to our very door over one hundred eminent lecturers, musicians and entertainers, at a cost of only a few pennies a program, where season tickets are purchased. The Chautauqua program is far stronger than ever before. Several individual programs are worth the cost of a season ticket. ## Unusually Fine Program For Salem's Chautauqua

Walter Riels, the advance business manager for the Ellison-White Chautauqua system, arrived in Salem Saturday and when asked about the program said: "The people of Salem will enjoy one of the greatest chautauqua programs ever brought to a western audience, and from all indications the attendance will be large. No chautauqua in America presents a greater list of lecturers than the Ellison-White. We have: Sylvester A. Long, the president of the International Lyceum association, has come to us this year to deliver a great and burning message. Each year it is the privilege of the chautauqua to bring some distinguished personality, and in this we are fortunate in having several, but certainly not more fortunate in any of them than in Sylvester A. Long, America's premier chautauqua lecturer. For twelve years Mr. Long has been climbing toward the top until today he stands honored by not only the hundreds of thousands of people who have heard him in the various chautauquas of the land, but also by his fellow lecturers and musicians in his election to the presidency of the great International Lyceum association. For his lecture he will give you one of the three subjects: "Hungry People," "Lightning and Toothpicks," "The Challenge of the Hour." Charles Zueblin, publicist of Boston, is a civic lecturer of national renown. The average person in an audience comes away from a Zueblin lecture feeling that his mental processes have just received a cold shower bath followed by a vigorous rub that sets the whole body tingling and glowing with the shock. Robert Parker Miles, noted editor, traveler, and lecturer of two continents, gives here at chautauqua his most famous panoramic lecture on men and events, "Tallow Dips." Dr. Miles is an unusual man. This great lecture can neither be imitated nor counterfeited. With tingling vividness he runs the gamut of wit, humor, pathos, human interest, brilliancy of eloquence and illustration. A spot light from the eastern press: "Who will ever forget Gladstone, Pope Leo XIII, George Francis Train, and contemporaries, after hearing them presented in the vivid manner of Dr. Miles' genius?" Lou Beauchamp, the laughing philosopher, is to deliver his great lecture on "Take the Sunny Side." Mr. Beauchamp is known from one end of this country to the other. He is honorary president of the International Lyceum association, and is in demand from America's greatest chautauquas for return dates annually. It was by the greatest good fortune that Lou Beauchamp was secured for this program. "Be sure to hear him. You will kick yourself good and hard after he is here if you fail to hear his great lecture."

Lumbermen Want More Cars Furnished

Although the shortage of cars for lumbermen in the Willamette valley is not so serious as it was a week ago, there is still room for improvement, according to Secretary Ostrander of the state public service commission. The Willamette Valley Lumbermen's association has brought the matter to the

A certain young man had been seeing more of the pleasures of the town than was good for him and his father resolved to send him to his uncle's farm to engage in some honest toil. Day was just breaking on the first morning of his stay when his uncle woke him up. "What's the trouble?" asked the city boy, rubbing his eyes sleepily. "Have to get up and help gather the pumpkins!" exclaimed the farmer. "Great Scott!" growled the agricultural recruit. "Do you have to sneak up on them in the dark?"--Ex.

PRESIDENT TALKS

This is due to the manner in which some have tried to exploit her possessions. So far as I am concerned, I will not help these men. We must respect our own sovereignty--but we must respect that of Mexico. My belief is like the Virginia bill of rights--every people has a right to manage his own affairs. I say this for the benefit of those who would "but in." Ford's "Hat is Off." "What do we desire when this great struggle is over? Permanent peace. Lift your eyes to the horizon of business. Let your thoughts run abroad through the world and with the thought that you are Americans and stand for the liberties and rights of mankind, buy and sell your goods--and in so doing attempt to convert them to the principles of America." As the president concluded someone shouted "Hurrah for the next president of the United States." A din shook the hall for several moments. The first thing the president received on arising this morning was a message from Henry Ford. It read: "My hat is off to the man who has kept this country out of war and will continue to do so." With this in mind the president arrived at 10 o'clock and was taken immediately to the Auditorium where he delivered his address to the World's Salesmanship congress. Later he planned to speak to the employees of the Ford Motor works. En route home this afternoon the president expects to speak from the rear platform of his car at Toledo.
