McLOUGHLIN TO HOLD COMMAND OF GUARD

Portland Paper Says Adjutant General White Was Playing Army Politics

(Portland Telegram.) Colonel Cleland McLaughlin, U. S. A., will remain in command of the Third Oregon regiment, now stationed on the Mexican front. The war department issued orders to this effect this morning, according to a message received at 11 o'clock by Circuit Judge Gantenbein.

The order spells defeat for Captain George A. White, adjutant general of the Oregon National Guard, whose activity, Judge Gantenbein says, was responsible for the original order removing Colonel McLaughlin. Judge Gantenbein says that the Manchus act, under which Colonel McLaughlin was to have been taken from command of the militia and sent back to service with the Thirtieth United States infantry, has been abrogated.

From National City, Cal., came a telegram to Captain A. W. Orton yesterday casting light on internal troubles in the Third Oregon. The name of the officer who sent the message is withheld. Here is the telegram:

Politics is Alleged. "Orders have been issued relieving Colonel McLaughlin from command of regiment. Officers believe White responsible and those of First and Third battalions have wired Governor Withycombe to ask the war department to rescind, and the Second battalion will wire today. Do what you can with the governor, the veterans and Representative McArthur."

Cleveland, July 15.—Miss Bettie A. Dutton, 76, just retired as principal of the Kentucky grade school here, is believed to hold the record for the longest continuous service in the public schools of this country.

Government Studies Goat Grazing on National Forests

Portland, Or., July 15.—In connection with the effort to introduce best methods of handling all classes of livestock on the National Forests, a study of the goat industry has been inaugurated by forest service officials.

The goats are grazed in bands of 600 to 2,000, although the smaller herds are more common and feed mostly on brush and undergrowth. Sheds are necessary during the kidding season, since the newly born kids are almost as helpless as babes and must be protected from the cold and wet.

Plans were also laid for the committee on co-operation and taxation and the committee on markets for bringing matters of their departments before the subordinate lodges.

DEATH OF HARRY COLE

Harry E. Cole died at his home in this city at 2 a. m. this morning after a prolonged illness. He had returned the Sunday before with his wife from the mountains, where he had gone with the hope of improving his health.

Harry E. Cole was born on a farm near Plattsmouth, Cass county, Neb., November 4, 1864. He married Myrtle B. Richardson February 16, 1888. With his family he moved to Oregon in 1897, locating at Halsey, where they remained two years. They then moved to a farm one mile northwest of Woodburn and lived there until they moved to this city where he resided until called by death. For a time he was in the furniture business here.

Harry Cole was a devoted husband and father, a good man, of cheerful disposition, who had performed many acts of kindness, was always ready to help where he could be of assistance, and all who knew him were warm friends.

There survive him a widow and two sons, Willard T. and J. Gilbert. He will also be remembered by many children, whom he loved and who loved him.

The funeral will be under Masonic auspices and services will be in the Masonic Temple Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Interment will be at Belle Passi.—Woodburn Independent.

HURT IN RUNAWAY

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Solberg met with a runaway accident Monday evening, in which the latter sustained injuries which may prove fatal. She was immediately taken to the Silverton hospital and placed in care of a physician, but it has not yet been determined what the result will be.

Mr. and Mrs. Solberg were just starting for home after having been shopping in the city, and they were passing the depot grounds where some horse dealers were camped, their team became frightened at the tent and ran away. Both occupants of the vehicle were thrown out upon the ground, and Mrs. Solberg was seriously bruised. She sustained several fractures of the ribs bones, and it is believed that she was injured internally. Mr. Solberg was considerably bruised, but not seriously injured.—Silverton Tribune.

GOVERNOR EXTENDS CLEMENCY

Acting upon the recommendations of prosecuting officers, Governor Withycombe has granted a conditional pardon to Warren Fairchild, who has been serving a term for larceny in the Multnomah county jail.

J. P. Nordin didn't pay a fine of $200 when he was convicted of practicing medicine without a license and so has been serving time in the county jail at Portland. The governor has remitted this fine.

Citizenship was restored to George M. Messenger who had been at the penitentiary a trifle more than year before he was paroled. He came from Crook county where he was convicted on a larceny charge.

WILL EQUIP NAVY YARDS

Washington, July 15.—The navy yards at Philadelphia, Boston, Norfolk and Bremerton, Wash., were authorized equipped for battleship construction by the senate yesterday afternoon. Six million dollars is to be spent on the four yards immediately.

The house already has agreed to the proposal which is part of the general naval bill.

Mr. Jones had recently become the father of twins. The minister stopped him in the street to congratulate him. "Well, Jones," he said, "I hear that the Lord smiled on you."

BEUNA VISTA MAN KILLED

Charles Black, aged 22 years, was instantly killed last Saturday, when the team he was driving ran away and he was thrown from the front seat on the water tank to which they were hitched. The front wheel of the heavy wagon passed over his head, crushing it. Young Black was a son of "Doc" Black, and lived with his parents in Beuna Vista. He is said to have been an exemplary young man and was highly thought of in the community where he lived.—Dallas Itemizer.
