"Be Sure Raw Fruits and Vegetables Are Clean"

By Samuel G. Dixon, M. D.
 Pennsylvania's Commissioner of Health. Fruits and vegetables are a necessary part of the diet during hot weather. Many of these are more appetizing when eaten raw. Berries, apples, radishes, onions and salads are popular and have their value as food.
 Care should be exercised in the preparation and serving of green foods, however, as they are subject to much hand-

GERMAN SENTIMENT TURNS TO WILSON

Say Possibility of Hughes' Election Aid Allies in Maintaining War Feeling

By Gary W. Ackerman.
 (United Press staff correspondent.)
 Berlin, July 17.—The coming presidential campaign in the United States may have an important effect on the prospect of peace in Europe, Theodore Wolff, editor of the Tagblatt, said today.
 With two other leading German editors, Wolff discussed the possibility of peace following the election.
 "It is possible, but by no means certain," said the Tagblatt editor. "The allies for instance, can increase public enthusiasm for continuance of the war by mentioning the possibility that Hughes will defeat Wilson. They can argue that this will aid the cause of Colonel Roosevelt and strengthen the position of the allies in America."

LONGSHOREMEN MAY BRING STRIKE TO END

Will Resume Work at Old Wage While Committee Plans New Scale

San Francisco, July 17.—Striking longshoremen here today prepared to resume work at once while awaiting action by the members of the Longshoremen's Union in Northern and Southern coast ports regarding the agreement reached between local stevedores and employers. The compromise, submitted to the San Francisco strikers at a secret ballot, was ratified by a substantial majority. According to the agreement the union men will resume, under the same terms as before the strike, and August 1 a committee will be appointed by employer and employee to work out a new schedule of wages.
 The Seattle longshoremen are declared to be against the compromise settlement, and some say they will hold out, but it is believed in labor circles that they will ratify the agreement if stevedores of Portland and other ports do, and that work will be resumed virtually everywhere on the coast by Thursday.
 The San Francisco Waterfront Employers' Union will ignore the strike of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Los Angeles, which has refused to reemploy union longshoremen.

"We have made our agreement with the San Francisco workers and will stand by that," said R. C. Thackara, secretary of the union today. "We will pay no attention to the actions of the Los Angeles body."
 Riggers and stevedores, who are expected to return to work here within a few days, gathered at headquarters to receive reports from coast points. J. J. Foley, president of the International Longshoremen's association, expects to receive definite reports this afternoon regarding the attitude of the coast unions on the compromise reached here.
 In the meantime the waterfront resumed its old activity today. Teamsters were hauling freight from nearly all wharves.

Sound Men Stand Pat.

Seattle, Wash., July 17.—Puget Sound longshoremen will not return to work under open shop conditions and at the wage scale in effect prior to their strike, regardless of the action of the San Francisco union.
 "Seattle, Tacoma and other Puget Sound unions have decided to stand solid for the demands made at the time of the strike," said J. A. Madson, secretary-treasurer of the longshoremen for this district. "We are not going back to work under the old conditions."
 Henry M. White, federal mediator of the strike, met today at 10 a. m. with officials of the longshoremen's association and the Waterfront Employers' Union to arrange if possible, for a conference in the hope of ratifying the action of the San Francisco longshoremen.

"Some of the officials will meet with Mediator White," said Madson this morning shortly before the meeting, but our attitude will not be changed. We have reached our conclusion."
 Madson said the union might hold a meeting this evening to talk over the San Francisco agreement. Ratification of that agreement, would not be considered, however, he said.
 "All the Pacific coast is with us, concluded Madson. "If the San Francisco union goes back to work it will be isolated."

Did Not Go to Work.

San Francisco, July 17.—Although the local stevedores voted 1,186 to 549 in favor of returning to work under conditions existing before the strike with the understanding that wage matters will be adjusted at conference beginning August 1, the men did not return to work as expected. They will await reports regarding their ballots on the same question.
 Seattle is said to be the only place where there may be trouble in connection with the ratification of the compromise.
 R. C. Thackara, secretary of the Waterfront Employers' association, issued the following statement today:
 "We thought that the men would come to work today, but as they did not we shall give them two or three more days heavy in the settlement of their difficulties. In the meantime, however, we are continuing to hire strikebreakers as if under a strike condition."
 The Law and Order committee of the Chamber of Commerce today reiterated

This Modern Adam May Find Six Eves In His Eden Today

New York, July 15.—Six modern Eves of unknown identity are determined to accompany the modern Adam, Joe Knowles, when he leaves his paternal apartments here today to plunge into the woods of the Adirondack hills on another of his famous back to nature jamborees.
 Knowles lives this way a month a year, when he goes in the only thing wrapped about him is his expression. When he comes out he is well fed on fruits, nuts and herbs and clad in a deer skin suit.
 Knowles didn't want the women with him so he chose one of them, Mrs. Emily Davis, whose husband was killed in the fighting in northern France recently and who is an experienced woodsman, to take charge of the six Eves after he has chosen a camp for them and left preliminary instructions in the art of finding edible roots and how to make snares, traps and fish nets of grasses and fibre. This coquette, unhairpinned and non-mirrored, sextette of Eves will live for a month in the secret camp in the Adirondacks then Knowles will go back to get them.

ling between the garden and the table. In many market gardens the gathering of the product is entrusted to a class of labor which is not any too cleanly; and care seldom is exercised to insure cleanliness.
 Food exposed for sale in markets also is often subject to indiscriminate handling by prospective purchasers.
 As a protection berries and foodstuffs of this nature should be thoroughly washed before being served. It is much better to risk a slight impairment of the flavor than to chance eating unclean foods.
 Nightsoil should not be used for fertilizing gardens from which the produce may be eaten raw. Watercress should not be gathered from streams polluted by sewage. Many cases are on record where typhoid fever has resulted from failure to heed these points.

Cornelius Resigns Position at Prison

Thomas E. Cornelius, foreman of the brickyard at the penitentiary, handled his resignation to Superintendent Minto to Saturday, to take effect at once. At the same time Mrs. Cornelius, his wife, matron in charge of the women's ward at the institution, handed in her resignation, to take effect August 1.
 The resignation of Mr. Cornelius followed a request on the part of Warden Minto that the force of men employed in the brickyard be transferred to the flax field.
 Mr. Cornelius has held various positions at the penitentiary under four administrations, covering a period of about six years. Prior to his appointment as foreman of the brickyard he was overseer of the prison farm, and considerable talk, mostly political in its nature, was indulged in by the general public at the time of his removal from that position. In a statement explaining his resignation from the brickyard foremanship, published by a Portland paper yesterday, he asserts that he has retired from politics.
 It is stated by Warden Minto that the brick yard will be closed down this month, to remain so until the season's flax-pulling is completed, and it is not probable that a successor to Mr. Cornelius will be appointed before that time.
 No intimation is given out as to who will succeed Mrs. Cornelius as matron.

Rescued From Tree Tops

Charlotte, N. C., July 17.—Several men who spent the night on tree tops after being swept into the raging flood of the Catawba river, when a railroad trestle went down, carrying fifteen or sixteen others with them, were rescued today.
 The Siskiyou state road leading from Oregon into California is a busy highway these days, according to the figures of the state highway department. During June a total of 1,765 vehicles passed over the road. The heaviest travel is on Sundays, the largest number in one day passing on Sunday, June 11, when 175 vehicles went over the mountains.

OLD PIONEER DIES AT THE AGE OF 82

Lafayette Marpole, better known as Fleck, died Tuesday, July 11, 1916, at the old home place near Brooks.
 He was born in Illinois January 26, 1834, and crossed the plains in 1851 and settled on the place where he lived until his death.
 He leaves one son William W. Harpole, and two sisters, Mrs. Nancy Hagrey of Hilgard, Mrs. Susan Shaffer of Cottage Grove, and many other relatives.
 By honesty and industry he had accumulated a fine ranch and other property, and was ever ready to assist a friend or neighbor. He seemed to have enjoyed very good health for one of his age, as he was able to be about and always cheerful, and was only confined to his bed for a few days, but he had been a sufferer for a long time.
 The funeral took place at the old family home near Brooks Thursday, July 13th, at 2 o'clock p. m. and burial in the Pioneer cemetery.—Gervais Star.

its stand for open shop conditions. "This committee will at no time," it declared in a statement, "compromise its strong position on the open shop. It will admit no weakening of its position."
 Changed conditions within the past decade in western Oregon are illustrated in the current crop bulletin of the United States department of agriculture. Government figures are given for the state as a whole, and the total production for Oregon has been kept up by the increase in eastern Oregon, but in the Willamette valley wheat days are over.

And now—that long leaf filler

Of course, the filler is what makes a cigar. You don't realize it, often enough, but it's there just the same.

Down inside the snug brown wrapper it lies. It's the heart of the cigar. It gives the flavor and fragrance of the cigar. The wrapper, of course, is just the surface coating.

Now in the OWL you get only long leaf filler, running the full length of the cigar. This enables the factory to get just the proper blend in every OWL—something which is impossible with short cut (scrap) filler. Moreover, this long leaf filler is clean.

You can unroll an OWL and see the filler, if you want to. But you don't have to look to know that the filler is long leaf. You can tell from the way it tastes and burns.

Remember that every leaf of this filler is time-cured and mellowed before you get it. Its flavor is insured by the million dollars' worth of leaf kept in constant reserve for the OWL.
