ALKALI IN SOAP
BAD FOR THE HAIR.

 Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.
 The best thing for steady use is just ordinary multifaceted coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.
 One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, sand and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.
 You can get multifaceted coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Wants His Pet Dog Cremated With Him

Portland, Or., July 19.—A little brown dog mourned today for his master, Walter Vivian, engineer, who committed suicide. But the pet's grief will not be for long. In a letter written just before death Vivian asked that his canine pal be killed and cremated with him. This will probably be done.
 Vivian's body was found in an apartment house. Police were brought to the spot by the dog's howling. When they attempted to approach the corpse, however, the dog rushed at the officers, holding them off for 20 minutes.

Umatilla Man Is Presbyterian Moderator

Eugene, Or., July 19.—Rev. James M. Cornelison of the Tutulla Mission, on the Umatilla Indian reservation, yesterday was elected moderator of the Presbyterian synod of Oregon, in session here. Rev. Joseph Diven, of Albany was elected reporting clerk.
 With the election of the moderator the synod began its real work, the morning sessions having been devoted to preliminary business and lectures by university speakers.
 Action on the proposed union of Albany College, at Albany, and the Pacific University, at Forest Grove, will be taken up later in the week.
 Pacific University was founded in 1848, and until eight years ago was a Congregational institution, but of late has been nonsectarian. As a nonsectarian institution it has raised an endowment of $200,000. Albany College as a Presbyterian institution, has an endowment of $250,000.
 Such a merger has been considered in previous years. Congregationalists in Portland and the people of Albany are opposing such a step, at this time. Dr. Calvin H. French, secretary of the Presbyterian college board, is here from New York to take part in the discussions.

POLK RECALL CANDIDATES

At a meeting in the courthouse Saturday afternoon of the Taxpayers' league the following were named as the candidates for county court places should the proposed recall be successful: S. H. Petre, former county commissioner, county judge; Mose Manston, county commissioner to succeed George Wells; and George McCulloch, county commissioner to succeed C. W. Beckett. One of the three were present and no one at the meeting knew whether they would accept the nominations. A motion was made and seconded that, should any candidate renounce the nomination, the next highest on the ballots taken Saturday should be asked to become the candidate. This would mean that E. P. Rogers and Ed Lacey would be the alternatives to Petre and McCulloch. The name of William Riddle of Monmouth was proposed as a candidate for commissioner, but was withdrawn in favor of the name of Mose Manston.—Dallas Observer.

COLOR LINE IS REMEDIED

Baker, Ore., July 19.—Earl Lockwood and George Leonard object to traveling to the State Industrial school at Salem with a companion of color. When Constable John Jefferis took the two with Roy Southern, a lanky negro, they sought to improve on nature.
 When the constable was not looking Lockwood and Leonard applied liberal coats of talcum to their complexion until he presented the appearance of a very blonde ghost. Soon the powder dusted off and Southern refused further treatment. Jefferis returned from Salem today.
SEALION ATTACKS MAIL
 Toledo, Ore., July 18.—Protecting the United States mail from a sea lion was the job which fell recently to Mark Waldport. When C. R. Evans, who has the mail contract on South Beach, met up with a wounded sea lion his team became unmanageable and he had to summon help. Mark Guillems, keeping out of reach of the animal's tusks, attacked it with big rocks until he stunned it and then dispatched it with a club.
 Earlier in the day the sea lion attempted to attack a passing automobile.

Recruiting Squads Ready for Their Work

Camp Withycombe, Or., July 19.—Five hundred letters are en route today to as many able bodied young Oregonians, urging them to don Uncle Sam's khaki and enlist. When the letters have paved the way, four recruiting squads will start from this camp and canvass every nook of the state seeking new soldiers. The recruiters plan to begin their personal labors tomorrow. An official check at the Oregon National Guard units at the Mexican border showed they were 800 men short and that the number would probably grow to 1000 when those with persons dependent on them for support were relieved.
 The four recruiting squads are confronted with the task of getting 1000 enlistments to fill those vacancies.
 Experiments by a British expert of reforesting some of the hills of China have led to the establishment of a comprehensive course in forestry in a university in that country.
