THIRD OREGON DREW PRIZE IN LOCATION

Boys Are Near Beach, Where Bathing Is Good—Weather Delightful

The following extracts from a letter written by Corporal Perry Reigelman to his parents living at 940 Mill street gives an inside view of the life of a soldier. It is written from Palm City, Cal., and dated July 18.

"Well, I am at Palm City. We left San Ysidro Thursday noon and arrived here about two hours later, after a march in heavy marching order with blanket roll, haversack and full equipment. We are now with the entire regiment with the exception of two companies which replaced our battalion on the border."

"Palm City is about four miles from San Ysidro and about 12 miles from San Diego and on the road that leads to Tin Juana. All automobiles going to the Mexican border, so I am told, are stopped and searched for hidden ammunition. We are camped on a little plateau near the river that went on such a rampage last winter. From my tent I can see the lights of San Diego, twinkling and throbbing."

"It is very much more pleasant here than at San Ysidro. We are about a quarter of a mile from the south arm of San Diego bay and three miles from Imperial Beach, a summer resort. It has been quite cool here and cloudy. People say they are having the coldest weather in years but it is a very pleasant and decidedly livable place with just enough vegetation to keep the eye satisfied. We are in a lemon growing country and can see ripe lemons and blossoms on the same trees. The land is pretty good and sells for $250 an acre, but it has to be irrigated to make it produce."

"I was talking to Major Abrams last evening and he said we would probably go into permanent camp at Imperial Beach, a beautiful spot a quarter of a mile from the beach and just south of the famous Coronado Beach."

"The Third battalion marched to the beach Friday and took a bath in the Pacific. The bathing was great and everyone enjoyed it. The water was fine, the beach sandy and shallow and the air cool. It will be a treat to be camped here five or six months, as it is expected we will be."

"Do not worry about my clothes. I have several pairs of socks, two suits of government underswear and a shirt to be issued and a new pair of shoes. We were issued extra blankets and now have coats—so we are pretty well fixed for a lengthy stay."

"Our battalion has had a medical inspection and Company M was given a 100 per cent clean bill of health. Every care is taken by the officers and non-commissioned officers to guard the health of the men."

"In an address by Major Gilbert, chaplain of the regiment, he scored those who have been preaching preparedness and then when the call came, did not respond. He said he had been amazed during the past few weeks to find so few who are responding after all the preparedness parades and the disclosures of our national weakness in defense."

"The officers keep us busy at drill, at school and at details so that we have scarcely time to write. No one can write for the newspapers without the permission of the secretary of war."

Wounded Policeman and Killed Himself

Santa Cruz, Cal., July 21—After having shot and seriously wounded Policeman Robert J. Robertson, set his own house afire and engaged in a revolver battle with police and firemen, Louis Miller, aged 58, a shoe maker, today committed suicide before the officers could capture him. He is believed to have been demented.

Without warning Miller emerged from his cabin today carrying a shot gun and fired twice at Robertson and his son, who were working in their vegetable garden next door. One charge struck Robertson and seriously wounded him. Miller then dashed back into his cabin and seized a rifle after setting fire to the house. He stood in the doorway and opened fire on the firemen and policemen as they approached but without effect. The police returned the fire and advanced and Miller then sent a bullet into his own head. He fell dead in the doorway of his blazing home.

Firemen dragged the corpse from the house. Two shot guns, a rifle and several revolvers were found in the ruins of Miller's cabin.

Miller and Robertson quarreled recently.

Sir Samuel Simons saw sweet Sarah Sanson swimming. Suddenly she seemed sinking. Sir Samuel stood stunned. Striding seaward, spurning shingle, Sir Samuel swiftly swam Sarah wards. Sir Samuel skillfully supported swooning Sarah. Swimming shorewards, Sir Samuel successfully succored Sarah. Seeming somewhat shaky, Sir Samuel sampled some spirits—special Scotch.

Sarah saw Sir Samuel's sacrificing spirit. Sir Samuel saw Sarah's sweetness. Sir Samuel soon sought Sarah. Striding slowly, Sarah sighed softly. Sir Samuel seemed speechless.

"Say something, Sir Samuel," said Sarah.

"Say 'Sam,' Sarah," said Sir Samuel.

Sarah, smiling shyly, softly said, "Sam."

"Sarah—Sally," stammered Sir Samuel. "Sweet Sarah—sweetheart."

Sarah solemnly surrendered.

How Amateur Mechanics Work.

"What do you do when anything goes wrong with your car?"

"I tinker with the carburetor."

"Does that remedy the difficulty?"

"It never has, but I always tinker with it anyhow in the hope that possibly that may be the cause of the trouble."—Ex.
