

How do You Heat Water on "Wash Day?"

Most laundry work is tedious and tiresome owing to the lack of an adequate method of getting hot water promptly and in sufficient quantities to carry the work to completion. The easy way—the quickest way—the cheapest way is to fill your tubs direct from the faucet with scalding hot water as provided by the

Ruud Tank Heater

This little heater connected to your range boiler plentifully supplies the laundry and the whole house. The quick ample service is made possible by the long copper coil and high power burner that heats the water in surprisingly large quantities at a low fuel expense. This system will be installed in your home complete, at a trifling monthly outlay payable with your gas bill. Full particulars at the Gas Office.

Emma L. Savage has filed notice of appeal to the supreme court, not being satisfied with the award of $100 made to her in settlement by Gertrude Krause as trustee of a trust fund under the provisions of the will of Orin G. Savage, deceased.

In an action brought against the Portland Railway, Light & Power company by the city of Silverton, seeking to condemn certain property belonging to the defendant corporation, the company has made motion for a judgment on the pleadings in the circuit court. It is claimed by the power company that the city has shown no disposition to reach an amicable agreement, even though the company has agreed to waive damages in the case, thus making it unnecessary to condemn the property. That the city has not replied to the company's answer to the complaint filed in the case is further stated.

Judge Galloway has ordered in the case of Napoleon Legault vs. William M. Hendershott and Ltbie E. A Good-Natured Girl A Good-Natured Girl

Washington, July 27.—Mrs. Catherine Wylie, whose husband, Horace Wylie, eloped in 1910 with Mrs. Helen Hoyt Hiehorn, wife of Phillip Hiehorn, was granted an absolute divorce this afternoon.

Mrs. Wylie is given the custody of the children. Wylie now living abroad, did not contest. Testimony was given by Henry M. Hoyt, Jr., that he saw Wylie and Mrs. Hiehorn at Burley, Hampshire, England, in 1912. He stayed with them, he said and found them posing as man and wife.

Phillip Hiehorn committed suicide several years after the elopement. Mrs. Hiehorn started society in many cities when she eloped with Wylie, 20 years her senior. Wylie, wealthy clubman, and Mrs. Hiehorn were together a year, most of the time in Europe. The year ended, Mrs. Hie-horn suggested that Wylie live again with his wife, for five months, to see if they could be happy. Apparently they could not. The day the time limit expired, Wylie went back to Mrs. Hiehorn, saying, according to his wife: that he "must live with Mrs. Hiehorn permanently."

to the spies that the Deutschland must at last plan a run for home. The story went that she would sail before night. Her chances of safety seemed more precarious with the allied patrol growing greater and bolder; perhaps the sister ship Bremen brings fighting submarines across and these may be the Deutschland's guard returning. The Deutschland promoters were joined over one point—that the United States government seems determined that there shall be no transgression of the three-mile limit law by the British vessels.

"We'll be safe," said Captain Koenig. "If the British don't violate the three-mile law."
