This is a story of gloom for those who have, and of secret enjoyment for those who haven't. Gasoline advanced another cent a gallon August 1 and now those who ride will burn up all gas at the rate of 21 cents a gallon. All of which is a serious set back to those who were saving up to buy a Ford since the price dropped $80.

The river seems to be holding its own, as the gauge today is 1.1 feet above zero, the same as yesterday. One year ago today the gauge was .5 of a foot below and two years ago, .7 foot below. The summer climate also continues about right notwithstanding the predictions for a hot wave, as the maximum yesterday was 74 above and the minimum, 53 above.

The first lecture of the summer institute at Chemawa will be delivered this evening in the auditorium at Chemawa, at 8 o'clock by Adolph A. Berle, professor of social ethics, Tufts college, Cambridge, Mass. He will speak on "Education which Educates." The next lecture will be given Friday evening by Dr. Arthur P. Wedge, of Boston, Mass.

Luther J. Chapin made a trip to Mt. Angel, Aurora, Donald and Woodburn today to assist in making plans for local corn shows this fall. The general corn conditions are better than the average and are showing much better than expected considering the unfavorable weather. With the usual hot weather in August, the corn crop will average better than a year ago.

Attend Picnic and Send Band to Marshfield

The big event of the summer will happen at the fair grounds tomorrow afternoon and evening as the Cherrians and all friends of Cherrians will gather at the grounds for a 6.30 dinner and a dance and entertainment.

The program is about like this: Every Cherrian to the number of 120 is commanded by King Bing to appear in uniform and if they have families, to bring them along.

The dinner is what might be called of the picnic style in which everyone brings a well filled basket. The dinner will be served in the restaurant, everybody eating at the same time. During the progress of the dinner, several entertaining features will be introduced by Fred S. Bynon, who is the committee on entertainment. For those who came minus the lunch basket, relief will be afforded by William McGilchrist, Jr., who has been appointed master of the hot dog and hot coffee department, and who will for a slight consideration serve hot drinks and hot dogs. Mr. McGilchrist will make no money himself for his work, as the proceeds go into the Cherrian treasury. After the dinner and a few other pleasant features, the jinx dance will follow in the machinery building. For those who have a thirst, soft drinks will be served.

The Cherrian band will play and the Cherrian orchestra will furnish the music for the dance.

The price per dance is five cents and the dancing committee of which M. L. Meyers is high chief, announce that every jinx dance will be a long one, provided of course there is not too much of a rush.

The money received from the dance and stands and William Lerchen's bar will go into the Cherrian strong box, to help defray the expenses of the band to the Marshfield celebration.

This great event, under the auspices of the Cherrians, and to which all are invited is scheduled for Thursday evening, August 3.

Carranza Soldiers Rob Mexican Peons

By Webb Miller

(United Press staff correspondent.)
Columbus, N. M., Aug. 2.—As punishment for dealing with "gringo invaders," Carranza troops in the wake of the American expedition systematically robbed the natives of the gold and silver they obtained by selling General Pershing's column supplies. Many Mexicans have brought such stories to the American lines it was learned today.

The de facto government troops created a virtual reign of terror on the heels of the withdrawal by the expeditionary forces. From each village silver and gold were taken, and the Mexican that sold supplies to the "gringos." Squads of Carranza soldiers then hunted the Mexicans down and robbed them of the American money. Torture was resorted to when the natives refused to divulge the hiding place of the money.

Obregon Wants Mines Reopened

Mexico City, Aug. 2.—General Carl Malotte arrived here today for a conference with Minister of War Obregon, to plan concentration of forces for Villa's capture. Malotte announces here his determination to make a quick job and to take the bandit general at "all costs."

He stated a special representative had been sent to give assurance to the Guggenheim Exploration company of protection from bandit raids and guarantees of such facilities as it may desire in order to permit resumption of the Velardeña mines. This, General Malotte stated, would bring conditions in Durango practically up to normal since all the farmers of that state have put a large portion of their land under cultivation.

Will Not Resume Work

New York, Aug. 2.—Officials of the Guggenheim Exploration company said today they were ignorant of any "special representative" said to be offering protection and guarantees in their mining district. Mining in Mexico would not be attempted at present, it was said, because of lack of railroad facilities.

The transportation committee of the Marshfield excursion will go to Independence and Dallas tomorrow to secure the names of those who wish accommodations for the Coos bay excursion. Next week, the committee will go to Woodburn, Gervais and Silverton. The excursion will carry not only representative people from Salem, but of the surrounding towns as well.

Arrangements will be made by the Commercial club whereby the teachers coming from the entire northwest who are attending the summer institute at Chemawa may be brought to Salem for an evening's entertainment, which will include a ride about the city and a Coerrian band concert. As there is already an attendance of more than 200, arrangements will be made for a special train on the Oregon Electric.

The Riverside Dip committee from the Civic department of the Commercial club, met this morning and took definite action on two propositions that have been presented. Requests have been coming to the Commercial club that a dancing floor be erected at the beach and that dancing in bathing suits be permitted. The committee sat upon this proposition good and hard, and it was definitely settled that there would be no dancing on the beach. The other proposition was that of holding a special weekly event at the beach, in which there would be special sports and entertainment. This met with the favor of the committee and arrangements will be made for one big evening once a week for special attractions.

Sir Roger Casement Will Hang Tomorrow

London, Aug. 2.—Roger Casement will be hanged tomorrow morning, it was definitely announced tonight.

Preparations were going forward at Pentonville prison for the hanging of the Irish leader. In the meanwhile the prisoner's counsel declares Casement seems utterly unconcerned at his approaching fate. His condition was said to have improved since his trial when he appeared haggard and depressed.

Premier Asquith acknowledged receipt of a monster petition signed by prominent Irishmen today appealing for clemency for Casement but did not hold out any hope of exercise of mercy toward the condemned man.

Mikado Well Presented But--That Riverside Dip

The audience at the Grand theatre last night showed the effect of the counter attraction of the opening of Riverside Dip, but those in attendance were more liberal with their applause than on the previous evening, and to tell the truth "the Mikado" as presented last night merited it.

The performance was smoother throughout and there was more "pep" injected into the various scenes, while the orchestra played a better accompaniment, and picked up the encores in a snappier manner.

Mr. Wilson made an announcement between the acts and said in part: "Ladies and gentlemen: You will pardon my making an announcement in costume, but I feel that a word of appreciation is due you for your expression of our efforts and also the cast for the work they have accomplished in staging this standard opera so creditably in the length of time in which we have accomplished it. This opera we are presenting tonight has lived for a period of 31 years, has been translated into other languages and produced in almost every modern tongue.

There is a reason for this and it is that when Gilbert wrote the libretto he created types that were universal. The scene could just as well have been laid in France, Germany or Russia or in Japan.

"Poo-Bah" is the political grafter common to all systems of government. "Ko-Ko" is the cheap man of small caliber suddenly raised to an exalted position who does not know what to do in that position and consequently makes many mistakes. "Nanki-Poo" is the romantic young lover working under the cover of mistaken identity. "Yum-Yum," "Pitt-Sing" and "Peep-Bo" are typical school girls at the giggly age. "Katisha" is the husband hunting old maid with very decided views of life and "The Mikado" is the jolly monarch of the "Old King Cole" was a Merry Old Soul" style. From these materials Gilbert constructed a most ingenious and humorous plot and Sullivan set his rhymes to jingly tuneless music that has become familiar and loved the world over. No two men since Gilbert and Sullivan have been able to collaborate so successfully, and the comic operas (so-called) which are now produced scarcely outlast the season in which they are first presented.

"It is the opinion of the east and mine also that a standard opera such as we are presenting here tonight should be seen by more people of Salem than have witnessed it thus far, as it is educational to a certain extent as well as entertaining, and the younger generation who have never seen it should not miss the opportunity. We therefore will present it at popular prices of 50 cents and 25 cents for reserved seats, 25 cents general admission, and 10 cents for children next Saturday night. The opening of the bathing beach tonight has cut down our attendance and consequently many who would have come here tonight, have not come. We feel also that there are many people in Salem who did not feel they could afford to bring their families at the prices prevailing tonight, who would come at popular prices. Thanking you for your attendance and appreciation I trust that you will all tell your friends of this announcement and assist us in filling the house next Saturday."

Denver, Colo., Aug. 2.—Miss Anne Martin, chairman of the National Woman's party, today sent from here the following message to Charles E. Hughes:

"Your suffrage amendment makes the women of America your debtors for your courage and statesmanship. Miss Martin stated in an interview that the woman's party was not playing politics.

"If President Wilson comes out for the federal amendment or the present democratic congress passes it the president will not be opposed by us. However, from present indications there will be nothing else for the woman's party to do but to place its entire strength behind Mr. Hughes."

MAY LAND AT PENSACOLA

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 2.—Belief that the German submarine Bremen will dock here was strengthened today with the presence of several allied warships in the gulf off Pensacola. Also the destroyer Roe, stationed here, left today to engage in aeroplane maneuvers. No aeroplane was found but the destroyer is patrolling just inside the three mile limit beach and forth.

Several tugs are cruising just within the limit off the harbor entrance.

Prices Shaded Lower But Market Was Lively

New York, Aug. 2.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Professional pressure against prices in today's trading enticed the greater number of prominent issues to lower levels, the selling, however, failing to bring about an active market or to attract liquidation from substantial quarters.

Following an irregular opening in which price changes as a rule were confined to small fractions, the greater number of issues in the early trading moved slowly in the direction of the lower levels.

Railroad stocks showed a fair degree of life in the first hour under the leadership of Union Pacific. Talk again was heard in the street of the probability of the declaration of an extra dividend on this issue.

In the early afternoon sentiment on the floor turned decidedly bearish and pressure was exerted in most parts of the list, however, without bringing out stock in any volume. Further losses were recorded by the stocks which were the weakest in the initial transactions, including Industrial Alcohol, Maxwell Motors and Willys-Overland, the latter showing a decline of upward of four points from Wednesday's closing.

Although the rails were not sold as a whole reflected the bear situation, while the poor weekly government report of weather conditions in the great agricultural sections of the country contributed both to the general absence of interest in the dealings and to the bearishness among traders.

2500 Saw Dedication of Riverside Dip

Riverside Dip, Salem public bathing beach, established by the Commercial club, was formally opened last night with an attendance estimated at 2500.

The official program began with the automobile parade at 7 o'clock forming at the Marion hotel and led by the Cherrian band.

The main event of the evening's entertainment was the swimming contests put on by the Meyers department store, with the awards of bathing suits for winners in the four swimming matches.

In the match for boys under 13, the first prize was won by Donald Davidson and the second prize, by Francis Jarvis. In the contest for boys over 16 years, Florence Leggett won first and Louis Walker, second.

For girls under 16, Alice McClellen was awarded the first prize and Elizabeth Bayne, the second. In the ladies' contest, Miss Elizabeth Spitzbart was awarded the first prize and Miss Florence Valentine, the second. In the men's race, Claud Steusloff was first and Willard Maruna, second.

The judges in the swimming races for the Meyers prizes were R. C. Bishop, Wm. Gahlsdorf and Fred L. Mangis. Attorney John Bayne was the official announcer.

The opening of the beach was a success in every particular and the attendance last evening was but a forerunner of the crowds that will be found each evening at "The Dip" especially when the usual August hot wave appears along the Pacific coast.

Hereafter, the beach will be open to the public every day after 2 o'clock, in charge of Arthur R. Wilson and E. J. Mangis with Mrs. Dorsey in charge of the ladies dressing rooms.

Confidence Men Got Gus Demas Bank Roll

This is a story of misplaced confidence in which Gus Demas, a Greek bootblack, playing the leading as well as the losing part.

According to Demas, a Greek met him accidentally on the street yesterday and with tearful eyes told him of $12,000 that had been left to a young Greek in the city who was supposed to be working as a bootblack. The stranger said that the money had been left by a man who had wronged Demas' father years ago.

While talking with the stranger, a third Greek appeared who vouchsafed for the $12,000 story and showed that he had money by going to a bank and returning with a big roll of equal amount.

Just as a matter of good faith, Demas was asked to show that he had some money and with the strangers went to the U. S. bank and checked out his account, amounting to $950. This was put in a box supposed to contain the $12,000 left to Demas and the $12,000 supposed to have been drawn from the bank by one of the strangers.

By this time, the three had walked to a point on South High near and the first residence. Here the transfer was to be made when according to Demas, one of the men produced a handkerchief and a minute later Demas became dazed. He was instructed to go to his room with the box and wait the arrival of his newly made friends. After waiting a time, he became suspicious and on opening the box found only an old newspaper.

The loss was at once reported to the police who this afternoon report on trace of the confidence men. Warrants have been sworn out for their arrest. This is the end of the first chapter of misplaced confidence.
