Grand Union Baking powder and fine dinner kettle lid for 50c at Lockwoods 216 N. Commercial St. Phone 968.
I. D. Bennett of Lake Labish is claiming the record loganberry crop for 16 acres. He just finished picking a few days ago and his figures show that the 16 acres yielded 57 tons. If there is any one who can beat that, Mr. Bennett would like to hear from them.
Lenses duplicated at Dr. Mendelsohn's office while you wait. Prices are very reasonable. Can refer you to thousands of satisfied patrons in Polk and Marion counties. No experimenting with your eyes. Practical experience is what you get at my office.—210-211 U. S. Bank Bldg. Dr. M. P. Mendelsohn.
New names are being added to those who will attend the Marshfield celebration, August 25. Within the last few days the following have signed up for reservations. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pomroy, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Gilbert, Mrs. T. L. Billingsley and the Rev. Bell and the Rev. Dunsmore of Independence.

Miss Anne D. Swezey, librarian of the city library, will assume her duties again next Thursday after spending part of her vacation visiting in Seattle. For the past week she has been at Mehana with the camp fire girls.
Attorney Carey F. Martin writes that with his family he is camping near the McKenzie bridge and doing a 15 mile hike every day as part of his summer vacation. He reports catching some fish notwithstanding the fact that more than 100 fishers are busy every day and that it requires an expert to land anything.
The La Arca club, a young ladies' organization of the United Artisans, met last evening at the home of Mrs. Leah Armstrong and elected the following officers: Miss Audrey Hicks, president; Miss Ruby Baker, vice-president; Miss Emma Waldorf, secretary; Mrs. Irene St. Helens, treasurer. The club voted to enter for the fancy work prizes at the coming state fair.
Green's bridge, three miles east of Jefferson, on the Santiam, is becoming quite a popular resort for picnic parties, as last Sunday a number of Salem folks were enjoying the grounds near the bridge. It is about 20 miles from Salem and is reached by driving to Turner and then east until the Santiam is reached.
Pipe flowers are scarce and hard to find and anyone who has been lucky enough to pluck one of these rare flowers is in a class by themselves compared to those who pick up four and five leaf clovers. Mrs. Mark Suddall is one of the fortunate ones having brought one of the pipe flowers from near the summit of the Cascades.
Despite unfavorable bathing weather, the attendance continues good at Riverside Dip and the indications are that the Dip will become so popular that the committee in charge is making several improvements. The boom will be widened and the diving boards placed close to the boom. Workmen are leveling the beach, filling holes and putting out the extra diving boards, barrels and a raft.
The river is falling at the rate of one inch a day and this morning was 3 of an inch above low water mark. The rainfall for the 24 hours preceding 8 o'clock this morning was .12 of an inch, the first moisture of the month. Yesterday's maximum temperature was 70 above, which is about 25 degrees cooler than that enjoyed by the folks back home in Indiana and Illinois and a few other central states.
Cecll Bunnell is in charge of the Western Union during the absence of Ben Lang who is vacationing at Newport. Mr. Bunnell holds down the unique job of relief man for the Western Union. This means that when any man in Oregon or Washington lays off or is unable to handle the work for a short time, as relief man, he is assigned to the work. Mr. Bunnell started in with the Western Union as a message boy in Salem.
For a small patch of loganberries, Fred L. Scott believes he holds a crop record hard to beat. On his farm half a mile south of Liberty, from an acre and a half patch, he picked five tons. The standard price for logan berries is $60 a ton, with a cost of $20 a ton for picking and $2 a ton for hauling. If the family picked most of the crop, the business proposition arises as to how much Mr. Scott made on his one and a half.

Business men who have joined the auxiliary of the Salem Rifle club are finding the drill evenings unusually interesting, especially those who have a large waist measure. Last night, under the command of Captain Rosenberg 50 members of the auxiliary were put through a strenuous drill of one hour and forty minutes at double quick time. This included all foot movements manual of arms and setting up exercises. One of the exercises is supposed to be quite easy until tried—that of standing with knees unbent and reaching over until the fingers touch the floor.
The annual meeting of the United Copper-Gold Mines company was held at the office of Daniel Webster yesterday afternoon. This is a company of Salem people organized for the purpose of developing a mining property in Josephine county. The names of the directors are W. S. Low, James Gerig, C. E. Lebold, O. E. Moll, C. W. Buchner, Herman Neugabauer and Daniel Webster. At a meeting of the board of directors after the regular meeting, officers were elected as follows: W. S. Low, president and general manager; O. E. Moll, vice-president; C. E. Lebold, treasurer; Daniel Webster, secretary.
Fourteen Krag-Jorgensen rifles were received today, the individual property of members of the Salem Rifle club. Secretary George C. L. Snyder announces that the government has honored his requisition for 20 free rifles and 12,000 rounds of ammunition and that it will be forwarded from the government's arsenal at Benicia, Cal. These rifles and ammunition are given to regularly organized rifle clubs of the national association, one rifle to each five members. An official record will be kept of the shooting scores of the members of the company, to be forwarded to the war department. Next Sunday, members of the rifle club who attend the shoot at the Finzer range will take their wives and make a day's picnic out of it.
Notice of Improvement of Alley in Blocks 35 and 36, University Addition
Notice is hereby given that the common council deems it expedient so to do, and hereby declares its purpose and intention to improve the alley in blocks 35 and 36, University addition to the city of Salem, between the east line of Twelfth street and the west line of the Race in block 35, at the expense of the abutting and adjacent property by bringing said portion of said alley to the official grade, and paving the same with a six-inch Portland cement concrete pavement in accordance with the plans, specifications and estimates for the improvement of said portion of said alley, adopted by the common council on the 6th day of July, 1916, now on file in the office of the city recorder, which, for a more detailed description thereof are hereby referred to and made a part of this notice; being that character or kind of improvement known and designated in said plans, specifications and estimates as "Cement Concrete Pavement."
The common council hereby declares its purpose and intention to make the said above described improvement by and through the street improvement department of the City.
By order of the common council.
CHAS. F. ELGIN, City Recorder.
Dated this 8th day of August, 1916. Aug 19

RUNAWAY, MARRIAGE AND ANGRY PARENT

Corvallis Girls Have Couple of Strenuous Days, Ends in Wedding

Two runaway girls from Corvallis, a young bookkeeper, a wedding and an irate parent, are the chief features of a story which developed at local police headquarters today.
The girls, whose names are given as Pearl Star and Iva Billebeck, first appeared here Saturday night. They were accompanied by Carl Story, also from Corvallis. On Sunday Chief of Police Cathia of Albany notified the local authorities to look out for the girls and to detain them if found.
It was learned that the two girls had gone to Portland. But yesterday they returned to Salem, and the Billebeck girl and Story took out a license to marry. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage of the Christian church by Rev. Porter. After the ceremony Story returned to Corvallis.
This morning Officer Nicholson saw the two girls on the street and took them to the station, where they were held till the arrival this afternoon of the bride's mother from Corvallis.
Mrs. Billebeck says the girls are but 17 years of age. They returned with her to Corvallis this afternoon.

Mind Affected by Heat He Jumps to His Death

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 8.—George K. Smith, for years secretary of the Yellow Pine Manufacturers association and secretary of the National Lumber Manufacturers association, leaped to his death early today from the fifteenth story window of the Boatmen's Bank building.
Smith was overcome by heat, ten days ago, and had been complaining of dizziness since.
Smith, who also was one of the best known Hoos in the country, was born in Rosemond, Ill. His wife, formerly Miss Dora A. Allen of Kansas City, survives him.
