Notwithstanding sensational advances in the wheat market and the uncertainty regarding the outcome of the railroad labor situation, prices were strong in the greater part of the day, even rails joining in a movement which carried the general list to substantially higher levels.

ly higher levels.
Under the influence of covering of shorts and slight improvement in the commission house demand where prices advanced as compared with the ing of the preceding day with a sharp gain in some of the more prominent speculative issues. In the last 15 min ntes of trading the entire list showed greater strength and breadth than had been reported in any corresponding period in many days, with an especial-ity active inquiry for the mercantile marines, United Cigar Stores, U. S. Steel, Motor shares and Industrial Alcohol. To some extent the trading was restricted in the early afternoon by the railroad labor situation and the strength reported in the grain market the latter being the respondent to the unfavorable government crop report but the railroad issues which naturally but the railroad issues which naturally might be expected to reflect both factors in lower prices, were steady with practically no liquidation in them. Sentiment in the afternoon was bullish over the railroad labor outlook and it was quite generally believed in Wall Street district that the dispute between the workers and the managers twent the settled through the federal control of the contro would be settled through the federal board of mediation and conciliation. Bonds were in better demand than on Tuesday's market with the marine 412's against strong features. Money us easy and unchanged.
