Cherrian Dance at the Armory Tonight

Tonight is the night of the Cherrian dance at the armory in which everybody is invited to attend, whether they dance or not. The dance is given to raise funds towards paying the expenses of taking the band on the Marshfield excursion. The dance is not only for everybody interested, but it is also for those who enjoy seeing others dance. For the dancers, the charge is five cents a number. For those who do not dance, there is no charge whatever, and it will cost the non-dancers not a cent unless they are lured to the wheel of fortune at five cents a throw, in which there will be no blanks. Other means of entertainment will be the famous keno game run by George C. L. Snyder, who claims to know all there is worth knowing about this fascinating game. Hot dogs and soft drinks will be served on the side, and those who do not dance will be properly taken care of. The Cherrians will meet in uniform at the armory at 7:30 o'clock and drill in the down town business part of the city. The dancing will begin at 8:30. The committee in charge this evening, with C. S. Hamilton, chairman, wish it to be known that everybody is welcome, both in the balcony and the dancing floor.

Treasury Gives Out Some Hop Figures

The United States Treasury department makes the following report on the hop industry for the year ending June 30, 1915: The consumption of hops by brewers in the United States for that period was 38,839,294 pounds, of which amount 8,407,632 pounds were consumed in New York, 4,636,983 in Pennsylvania, 3,734,236 in Illinois, 3,296,956 in Ohio, 2,717,581 in Wisconsin, and 2,401,388 in Massachusetts. The exports showed 16,210,443 pounds domestic and 16,047 pounds foreign. Total of brewer's consumption and exports 55,066,684 pounds. Imports 11,651,332 pounds. EXPECTING THE BREMEN
Baltimore, Md., Aug. 10.--The Bremen, second German sub-sea fleet to dive toward America, will come to Baltimore and its arrival will be within a few days, according to reports here this afternoon, despite the strong efforts of the Eastern Forwarding company to create as a rumpus in New England and so draw the floating eyes of allied nations from the Chesapeake. It was reported that German-American societies had a tip that the Bremen would be inside the capes today or tomorrow. For some reason the Bremen did not near the coast as 7:50 as expected.

HUGHES TALKS TO GRAND FORKS FOLKS

Is Still Standing "For Unflinching Protection of American Rights"
By Perry Arnold. (United Press staff correspondent.) Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 10.--Speaking to his first audience as a presidential candidate, Governor Hughes today urged unity of thought in Americanism and reasonable preparedness with governmental efficiency. "I believe in protection for farmers just as I believe in protection for men in factories," he declared. "America will not hold her own by declamations, by high sounding phrases, she will retain her place because she has the sense of facts to force policies to reduce unnecessary talk, the burden of words to a minimum, to obtain that which is essential to her security and progress." "I stand for the unflinching protection of American rights. I do not believe we can hold up our heads in self respect if our words are not meant to be followed by deeds. I believe that in the great center of difficulty, weakness breeds insult and insult breeds war." The candidate declared he stood for "an impartial business-like administration." "It was a source of great satisfaction," he said, "to be able to respond to this call, a call which I didn't expect--free and clean from all incumbency." Hughes urged a governmental budget system of making appropriations in the interest of efficient administration. "If you give me the opportunity," he said, "I shall devote myself to that ideal of governmental efficiency." Mrs. Hughes sat with her husband on the platform of the auditorium, carrying a big bunch of roses. Lyon J. Fraser, non-partisan gubernatorial nominee, introduced Hughes. "I wish I could tell you how it thrills a man to make a trip such as I am making," Hughes began. "I've been across the continent before but to make such a hurried trip and see such loyal citizens makes a man burn to serve them. At the base of all our prosperity is the agricultural industry. There must be unity of thought everywhere--as in a great co-operative undertaking. There must go up or go down together. There must be determined co-operation so that everywhere we shall have the best done to the end that we shall enjoy a common prosperity." Continuing, the nominee urged preparedness and attacked democratic rule in diplomacy, dubbing the Mexican situation a "spectacle." The village band blared out a welcome to the republican nominee when his special train arrived shortly after 7 a. m., but "Charley" Farnham, the governor's factor, hustled out and hustled the serenade, declaring that the candidate wanted to sleep. The bandmen tooted their horns and piccolos back and forth as Hughes would sleep. It was 9 o'clock before he appeared looking fresh and fit as he rode to the Deacoth hotel. Then Dr. Pittman had to hurry back to the train to bring the throat sprayer and loosen up the candidate's vocal chords. This job done, Hughes held a reception in the hotel lobby. There were nearly 600 townspeople and farmers from nearby counties who marched through the line. Many of them mistook the luxuriant facial growth sported by one of Hughes' guardians for the famous Hughes' whiskers and cried desperately to shake hands. The candidate enjoyed himself immensely correcting the mistaken ones.

WHEAT TAKES JUMP AND FLOUR FOLLOWS

Chicago, Aug. 10.--Advancing wheat prices sit the American housewife today. Flour advanced fifty cents a barrel on the Chicago wholesale market and the housewife who buys a "big sack" will pay ten or fifteen cents more for it than she did yesterday. Flour today sold for $7.25 a barrel for the bakers' grade. Yesterday it sold at $6.75. In the last month flour has advanced two dollars a barrel and the bakers are already considering abandonment of the five cent loaf and sale of a ten cent loaf, slightly smaller than the present "dime" loaf. While the flour market was advancing today wheat prices alternately rose and fell amid excited buying and selling. Scenes in the wheat pits were like those of the days when big traders sought to corner the whole world's wheat supply. Everybody was trying to buy wheat except those conservative ones who sold today at prices ten to fifteen cents higher than they bought it at. Just when things had quieted down to ordinary trading, somebody broke into the pit with a rumor that the United States government had planned an embargo on shipment of wheat because the crops were so small. This started things again. The market soared for a minute. Then some one else had another flock of rumors, and prices dropped again. It was sea-saw up and down throughout the morning. Brokers in close touch with conditions discounted rumors that two dollar wheat was in sight. They said it would stick somewhere around a dollar and a half until something, nobody knows what, throws another bomb into the market. At noon September wheat was half over the opening at $1.43; December was down 1 at $1.47, and May down 2 at $1.55. In the early hours Map jumped 3 cents from last night's close but dropped when the house held much wheat unloaded to get their profits. Today's market closed, after a turbulent day, 1 3-8 higher for September wheat, half cent lower for December and 2 3-4 lower than the opening for the May future. Prices were $1.44 3-8, $1.47 1-2 and $1.52 1-2 respectively.

15,000 HOMELESS

(Continued from Page One) mountain gorges, flooding tracks in the Grand Forks yards to a depth of five feet. Houses, farm products and equipment were stripped from the territory. Practically the entire region south and southeast of Charleston for many miles was devastated, James Arieck, of Charleston, said when he reached here today with the first eye witness story of the flood. "We left Kingston early yesterday and came down to Millburn," he said. "There was a slide at Millburn and torrents of rain caused the creek to back the train across the bridge when another slide hit the train behind us. My companion and I walked to Mahan, 18 miles away. At that place a slide covered the track and five good cars were buried seven feet beneath dirt and rock. The slide reached the houses of miners and they were destroyed along with many household goods." Death List Grown. Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 10.--Scores of persons, reported missing early today as the result of the cloudburst that swept the Cabin Creek, Paint Creek and Coal Creek districts were accounted for in later dispatches which greatly reduced earlier estimates of the number of dead. Late estimates indicate that the toll of dead may reach 50 and it is the belief that others may be dead in the Paint Creek and Coal river valleys. Fourteen bodies have been recovered from the debris between the mouth of Cabin Creek and Leewood, 10 miles up. All except one are those of women and children. William J. McBride made his way down the creek from Ronda to the junction today and later to Charleston. "Everything has gone," he said and investigation can only reveal how many are dead. The little towns near the mouth of the creek have been swept clean. Acres of Debris. "Everywhere it is a mass of debris. Houses, trees, mine tipples, railroad cars and telephone poles the thrown together in a heap miles long and there are dead beneath. Men and women who were seen changing perilously to houses borne down the stream toward Ronda were never seen to pass that point and we fear they are now a part of the mass of wreckage lodged against the railroad bridge there." A million feet of lumber is piled mountain high at that point and it will take days to pull it down. The loss to the coal companies operating in the Cabin Creek coal fields will reach $2,000,000. Five members of the family of John Likens, who lived at Giles were discovered. The bodies of the wife and mother and three children lie in a morgue at the mouth of Cabin Creek. Bodies on Ohio River. Gallipolis, Ohio, Aug. 10.--Many bodies of victims of yesterday's flood were seen today in huge masses of wreckage floating down the Ohio river here today. Ineffective efforts were made to reach several bodies in one large raft of debris at Dam No. 29, 10 miles south of here. There were about a score of dead visible, it was said at the lock. You are protected, we guarantee every purchase you make. Hartman Bros., Quality Jewelers.

Prices Remained Firm But Trading Was Dull

New York, Aug. 10.--The New York Evening Sun financial review today said: Although there were indications in the character of the early trading that prices might move throughout the day toward higher levels on an expanding volume of business, general results were disappointing to the bull traders, particularly in respect of the amount of outside participation in the dealings. The advance of the day before failed to attract a genuine public demand and to a great extent it was this absence of public response, together with realizing sales that accounted for the heavy tendency of quotations following the forenoon improvement. Prices in the opening dealings generally were at small advances from the closing of the preceding day, with activity pronounced in the prominent issues, which were the leading features in the sharp upward movement in Wednesday's final operations. Although early afternoon trading accompanied a marked falling off in activity, in most parts of the list and a tendency to sag from the early high points, the general undertone remained firm with talk in the various commission houses favoring still further improvement. The expectation of a big British loan here against American securities as collateral created a favorable impression and in some quarters the idea that such a loan would eliminate for the present at least liquidation of foreign-owned securities in this market was considered a strong enough argument upon which to base a real bull speculation. In the greater part of the afternoon the general market was inactive but generally strong. Bonds were in relatively good demand but the general investment buying was light. Money was easy while in foreign exchange sterling and francs were slightly lower. A citizens' military training camp will be established at American Lake, Washington, August 28 to September 23. This camp, similar to that at Plattsburg, N. Y., will be in charge of an army officer and all civilians who wish to learn something of military life, at the government's expense, will be given this opportunity. All that a man need take with him is one pair of tan shoes, broken in, medium weight woolen socks, underwear, two pairs olive drab cotton breeches, one pair of leggings, two olive drab shirts, one waist belt, one service hat and the necessary toilet articles. Those interested might write officer in charge, military training camp, 347 Washington street, Portland. A strong effort is being made to escape the release of E. J. Clark, who escaped from the penitentiary in 1913 and was recently captured in Spokane. It is reported that Clark has lived an upright life for three years and six months and is entitled to a pardon. The matter will probably be laid before the governor next week. At a meeting last evening at the Central Labor Council, it was decided that all branches of the council about 14 in number, should attend the labor day celebration in Portland Monday, September 4. Although the different branches will not attend in a body, it is the intention of all to take part in the Portland parade. Pennsylvania has 15,475,400 dozen of eggs in cold storage.

COOK BY GAS

The history of "Cook by Gas" dates back for over one hundred years. Housewives in the past century have had to experiment with several different types of wood stoves, coal ranges and fireless cookers. Each person can tell you a story of better or worse luck during the experiment--until present day conditions and modern equipment bring the labor of the kitchen work down to the minimum. For those who contemplate buying new kitchen equipment we invite you to call at our salesroom at State and Commercial streets, and inspect our latest models, priced from twelve to fifty dollars.
