I OWE MY HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have suffered with female trouble, backache, nervous spells and the blues. My children's loud talking and romping would make me so nervous I could just tear everything to pieces and I would ache all over and feel so sick that I would not want anyone to talk to me at times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."

SOUTH AMERICAN SERVICE IMPORTANT

President Wilson Says It Will Prove International Friendship

Washington, Aug. 11.—President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing today indicated the official interest of this government in the new arrangement for the interchange of news between North and South America.

President Wilson said: "I think I can say with definite knowledge of the facts that the people of the United States desire to know the people of the South American republics better. Although neighbors geographically, lack of ready communication has constantly threatened to make us strangers. La Nacion and the United Press seem to be removing this menace of misunderstanding for in no way can we become so well acquainted as through the easy processes of every day news."

Secretary Lansing said: "The arrangement made between the United Press of this country and La Nacion, one of the great journals of South America, for the exchange of news, is most gratifying proof of the increased demand for more intimate knowledge of one another which is so prevalent today in all the American republics. It evidences the success of the Pan-American movement to which the government of the United States is so earnestly devoted. A wider acquaintanceship between the sister republics of the western hemisphere will do so much to foster the friendship and mutual interest which found expression in the spirit animating the second Pan-American scientific congress which met in Washington last winter. There can be no doubt of the benefits to be derived from this interchange of knowledge and those whose enterprise has increased the facilities for such interchange are rendering valuable public service to the peoples of North and South America."

It's Great For All

New York, Aug. 11.—Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank, which has a branch in Buenos Ayres today expressed great satisfaction at the completion of arrangements for the interchange of news between North and South America.

"I have learned with the greatest interest of the extension of the United Press service to South America," said Vanderlip, "and I believe the reciprocal relations between the United Press and La Nacion mark a real step in the promotion of a closer union of the vital interests of the United States and the great republics of the south. I wish to congratulate the United Press association and our friends in South America on this important step."

SUGGESTS ORDINANCE TO REGULATE LIGHTS

Alderman Roberts Would Have Headlights on Autos, Dimmed

Should the Salem city council pass an ordinance regulating the glaring lights on automobiles?

It is the opinion of Alderman Roberts that it should. He gave voice to this opinion at the August meeting of the council, but the suggestion was apparently lost in the rush of other and more immediate matters.

It is stated by those in a position to know whereof they speak that the lights on automobiles are a dangerous and unnecessary nuisance. All modern cars are provided with dimmers, but few drivers use them, and it is contended that for the safety of the public their use should be compulsory. Also car owners should be compelled to tilt their lamps so that the light will strike the road immediately in front of the car. Lights uncontrolled not only are blinding to those in whose eyes they shine, but they destroy the pleasure many people would otherwise take in riding at night. Many an accident is attributed to the fact that a driver has been blinded and rendered unable to guide his car by the light from an approaching car.

Uncontrolled lights, it is contended, are forbidden in all well regulated cities and in many states, where stringent laws compel car owners to turn down reflectors on the road in front so that the center of the glare strikes the road less than a hundred feet ahead of the car, which is amply sufficient to guide the driver. New York and California are among the states which compel the tilting of the lamps.

There is perhaps no town on the coast where this regulation is more imperative than in Salem. The town's many miles of paved roadway make autoing a favorite evening recreation for many people, and it is logically held that the greater the number of autos in use the greater the danger. It is not improbable that Alderman Roberts' demand for a light-regulation ordinance may receive the serious attention of the council at an early date.
