While there is hope there is life and the average automobile owner lives in hopes that the price of gasoline has already reached the limit. Here is a ray of light. Dispatches from New York announce the reduction of one cent a gallon for gasoline, being the second one cent reduction within the past week.

Dr. H. G. Morehouse returned yesterday from a four weeks' stay in the U. S. army military training camp for civilians at Monterey, Calif. The doctor reports that the entire time is put in with strenuous military training to fit the average civilian for the duties of an officer.

A big iron safe belonging to the late E. P. McCormack has been transferred this week from the Moody residence to a room on the second floor of the McCormack building at Court and Liberty streets. The transfer was accomplished without the use of block and tackle or stairways, ladders and jackscrews being the only means employed. A. T. Moffitt supervised the job.

Paving is being rushed on the fair grounds and by Monday or Tuesday the section between the fair grounds store and the railroad will be all paved and ready for traffic. The base at this stretch of road was placed today and the top will be completed tomorrow. The paving machinery purchased by the city is doing fine work and is entirely satisfactory.

Everything is quiet along the banks of the Willamette as the gauge of the river has not changed for three days, reading this morning at 5 of a foot above zero. The Grahamons is back on the job with trimmed paddles and the Pomona is tied up to the dock at Portland waiting for the hop season. C. C. Graham the local agent is still on his vacation.

Now that the warm weather is about to arrive, business is picking up at Riverside Dip. Yesterday the receipts were $140.55, with the higher temperature of today, the management of the Dip anticipate a regular seaside rush. Next week an evening will be given to a special program, to include among other things, a high dive from the railing of the bridge.

An exchange of property was made yesterday by S. J. Ogle of this city and E. T. Green. Mr. Ogle becomes the owner of an 11 acre tract in the Hartley and Craig fruit farms six miles southwest of Salem, planted in prunes, valued at $1600 where he will make his home. Mr. Green in the exchange takes title to 160 acres near Roseburg, partly improved. The transfer was handled by Scott & Byson.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Council Grove, Kansas, are here visiting their nephews J. E. and S. E. Peck. They are touring the west for Mrs. Miller's health which is much improved by the trip. Mr. Miller has been associated with the Missouri Pacific railroad for forty years, having a continuous run out of Council Grove for thirty years. They are greatly enjoying the cool western climate and are delighted with Salem and the great Willamette valley.

Members of the Salem Rifle club will take their families with them Sunday and spend a day picnicking and practicing rifle shooting at the Finzer range. Some fine records were made last Sunday and with a larger attendance and fair weather, the boys going on bringing home some record scores. Shooting will be done with the Krag-Jorgensen at ranges from 200 to 600 yards.

The cost of eating is going up. Not only has the price of dressed pork advanced a couple of cents during the past few weeks, but there happens to be a general scare regarding the wheat crop and flour has advanced 40 cents a barrel this month. Today grocers tacked on another five cents to the price of flour bringing the best up to the record figure of $1.90 a sack. However Dr. Evans of national fame says we all eat too much and he suggests that the average expense of living be reduced by cutting down on the rations.

The high spots on the track of the Oregon Electric will soon be leveled and the bricks that have been sticking up several inches above the surface between the tracks, caused by the freeze and snow of last winter, will soon be taken care of and within a few days the Oregon Electric crossings will be as smooth as the rest of the street. In a letter to city attorney B. W. Macy, the superintendent of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railway and also the Oregon Electric, A. J. Davidson, writes that the company was desirous of having such work handled to the satisfaction of the city and that prompt action would be taken to remedy the conditions. Several weeks ago the Salem street railway had a force of men leveling the space between their tracks where the bricks had been forced up several inches by the freeze last winter.

The out of town people are showing as much or more enthusiasm than the Salem folks over the Cherrian Marshfield excursion August 25. The soliciting committee report an active interest in all the towns visited and many are already making reservations. In reserving berths for the trip, the committee will work on the plan of first come first served and those who come last will have the pleasure of sleeping in an upper berth. Reservations may be now made through Fred S. Rynon, Wm. Gahlsdorf or William McKelchist, Jr.

CHERRIAN BAND WILL ATTEND WEDDING

Itinerary Dance and Side Issues Yielded About $120 Net Coin

The Cherrians are feeling quite prosperous this morning, not because wheat has touched the dollar mark, but from the fact that the dance given at the army last night proved such a howling success, both financially and socially.

The line-up for the evening was about like this: C. S. Hamilton, chairman of the evening's entertainment, acted as general manager and general introducer. As an all around introducer and getting people acquainted, Mr. Hamilton filled a long felt want and just seemed to fit in on the job.

The ticket selling was handled by such stand-by Cherrians as M. L. Meyers, Hal D. Patton and August Huckslein and no one was turned down who had the price.

The ticket takers who made it their business to see that a jitney coupon was surrendered for each dance were Dave Eyre, George Brown, John Rowland, George Riehes, N. D. Elliott, D. I. Howard, Frank Myers, Dr. Darby, Wm. Gahlsdorf and John Graber.

The wheel of fortune in which there was a prize with every turn of the wheel was handled by George C. L. Snyder and Ray Grant. Mr. Snyder had a ball throwing show but as it endangered the orchestra, had to be abandoned early in the fray.

Dance Produced $96.50. Ivan G. McDaniel and Ralph Hamilton worked the check room and were successful in collecting $6.50.

The ice cream cones were handed out by Hugh Alderlie, Lee Unruh, and Dr. O. A. Olson, while Joe's bar was properly attended to by Joe Reinhart, Paul Stege and Clarence Albin.

The booth orchestra furnished the music after the Cherrian band had played a few numbers.

The receipts were as follows: Wheel of fortune, $5.05; check room, $6.50; ice cream, $4.10; Joe's bar, $51.40; dances, $96.50, making the total receipts amount to $163.55. With an expense of $45, the evening's entertainment and dance netted the Cherrians $118.55.

The plan of providing for spectators free was also regarded as an excellent idea. In fact, the whole evening's program was so satisfactory, that another dance to raise funds to pay the Cherrian band expenses to Marshfield will be given next Thursday evening. An entirely different committee will be appointed by King Bing Deekabach.

James Marr of the U. S. National bank returned yesterday after a ten days' outing at Newport. He reports the weather there and young men for escorts at a premium.

Fire resulting from a gas stove did slight damage at the residence of D. J. Fry on south High street last night, shortly after 10 o'clock. This is the first time the local fire department has rolled out in response to an alarm this month.

Don't forget the big ball game Sunday 3 p. m., Kirkpatrick vs. Lojus. Lojus out to win pennant for Salem need you to boost. Three big games left. We got the team and the old fight. Give us your support boosters and we'll cop the rag.

One of the boys of Company M in writing a friend here says he is very thankful for the magazines sent and that any contributions in that line would be passed down the line. All of which would indicate that patriotic folks might invest five cents in postage and send a magazine down to the boys occasionally.

The U. S. army military training camp for civilians will open for business August 28 and continue four weeks. The camp is under the supervision of Major General J. Franklin Bell of the U. S. army. The camp provides for civilians intensive training covering a period of four weeks, giving the fundamental education for an officer. The camp is located at American Lake, Wash.

Harwood Hall, the new superintendent of the Salem Indian school at Chemawa has accepted an invitation of the Commercial club to deliver an address at the next regular meeting, Wednesday, September 20. Mr. Hall has been in the Indian service more than 20 years and it is understood his message to Salem will be of unusual interest.

The Salem lodge of Elks and George T. Wilson have signed up for an entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Elk lodge the first week in November. The minstrel to be given is entitled, "A Kentucky Elk," and has been given with great success by Mr. Wilson at Sacramento, San Jose and Bakersfield, Calif. In producing the Mikado, Mr. Wilson demonstrated his ability as a director and the Elks are of the opinion they will put on the biggest show of the season.

CAME NEAR DEATH FROM THIRD DEGREE

Police Forced Confession from Innocent Man—Just Escaped Death

New York, Aug. 11.—"Third degree" police methods to obtain "confessions" from suspects got another blow today when one man was snatched from the death chair and another saved from spending his life behind bars through a voluntary confession by the real murderer of Charles Phelps and Margaret Wolcott, in 1915.

Charles P. Stielow, sub-normal German, was three times made ready for the chair and three times saved by scant hours through reprieve.

Nelson Green "confessed" after days and nights of third degree to the charge that he helped Stielow kill Phelps and the Wolcott woman and was sentenced to life imprisonment at Elmira.

Irving King, itinerant junk man today made a voluntary confession at Little Valley which exonerates Stielow and Green.

Stielow, it was learned by telephone from Sing Sing will remain in the death house until the court takes action on the King confession.

DIED

MEIER—At her home on rural route 5, Mrs. Mary Ann Meier, Friday, August 11, 1916, in her 71st year.

Besides her husband, Kasper Meier, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Anna Verhaag of Seattle and Mrs. Lena Klodt of Missouri, and four sons, Fred Meier of Portland, William J. Meier and Plavins Meier of Salem and the Rev. P. Thomas Meier of Mt. Angel. Services will be held from St. Joseph's Catholic church at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Salem's local astronomer, I. L. McAdams, announces this afternoon that six spots have been discovered on the sun, two large ones and four small. These only appeared yesterday and today. He estimates the smallest spot as covering about 50,000 square miles. This will be good news for those who have been enjoying equatorial weather back east, as Mr. McAdams says the more spots, the less hot rays will reach down on this little planet called the earth.

W. S. Griffith of Sheridan has purchased a lot in South Salem on Rural avenue as an investment.

Prices Fluctuated Slightly In Dull Market

New York, Aug. 11.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Although there was no suggestion today either in the volume of business or the movement of prices that speculation was running into a big bull affair, many traders asserted the market merely was jockeying for position and that with a definite settlement of the railroad labor controversy the preponderance of favorable factors would be reflected in a sustained forward movement.

As a result quotations fluctuated within narrow limits but in a few of the active issue substantial improvement was recorded while in the greater part of the session prices for the majority of stocks showed a firm undertone, despite the lack of public buying and efforts at times by bearish traders to induce liquidation.

After the first burst of speed both in the course of quotations and in the volume of business, quieter tendencies developed, the trading element apparently being uncertain regarding its own position and that of the public.

Bonds were not active but investment houses reported a heavier inquiry for investment issues than recently noted, especially for the short term variety. Money was easy and the known movement of currency in the week apparently foreshadowed an increase in bank reserves in today's clearing house statement.

Come on with your loganberry stories. This one was received today: "I see in your paper about a man named Fred L. Scott who produced and picked five tons on one and one half acres. I will admit that is a good crop, but listen. I have a fractional three fourths of an acre and picked three tons and 1740 pounds and left half a ton on the vines. How is this?—J. W. Rankin, rural route 7, Salem."

The McKenzie pass is all right now for automobilists, according to George H. Sander who has just returned from a tour in that part of the state. Last week there were a few places with snow and several rough spots but workmen are now busy getting the road in to condition. Mr. Sander left with a party of four traveling from Salem to Burns and return by the McKenzie pass, with a total mileage of $40 in two one weeks' tour.

Crooked Work. "How many more rounds do you think Frisco Bill will be able to go?" asked the fight promoter. "Kid O'Toole seems to have him already whipped." "The dirty thief. I paid the kid to lay down. There ain't no more honor in the prize-fightin' game."

FLOUR MARKET UP AGAIN

Aug. 11.—Although Government crop report turned out better than expected, the liberal purchasing by Europe on account of the black rust danger in Canada has boosted the price. But still you can buy flour at low prices at the Farmers' Cash Store.
