BOARD OF CONTROL WILL TAKE CHARGE

Governor Will No Longer Have Free Hand In Prison Affairs

Whatever may have been Governor Withycombe's purpose in filing resolutions asking that he be permitted to name a commission to survey the state penitentiary, the result seems to be that a murky condition of the atmosphere enveloping that institution is in a fair way to be cleared up. It has long been the custom in Oregon to delegate to the governor a supervision of affairs pertaining to the penitentiary, a custom having a basis in the statutes, but the legislature of 1913 modified this and placed the penitentiary with the other state institutions in the province of the state board of control.

There are now manifested a number of things to the conclusion that the board of control is to assume active supervision of the institution, and a majority of the board membership, Secretary of State Olcott and State Treasurer Kay, have already taken steps to remedy any faults there which may need remedying and which are within their province to remedy. Secretary Olcott and Treasurer Kay are united in the assertion that "insofar as the governor's resolution may have been directed towards criticism of conditions at the penitentiary which are under the supervision of the board, we will not vote for it, but as for the recommendation of changes of policy, such as the erection of new buildings, which is a matter to be placed before the legislature, it is our intent to give full co-operation."

During the past few days Secretary Olcott and Treasurer Kay have been investigating conditions at the prison. This investigation is entirely apart from the proposition submitted by the governor last Monday. It is stated that thus far this investigation has disclosed nothing whatever to justify reports that have been circulated. The trouble seems to be without and not within the walls.

It is the evident purpose of those members of the board of control, who constitute a majority, to make the investigation a most thorough and rigid one, and it is likely that before it is ended more than one out will be let out of the bag and more than one nigger removed from the woodpile, figuratively speaking. The present determination to put the superintendency of the prison entirely into the hands of Superintendent Minto, with power to remove a disturbing element if he sees fit to do so, is the first radical step in this direction. Superintendent Minto will be given full swing, and it is up to him to make good or be removed from his position. This is the way the situation appears at present to an interested observer.

When approached on the matter this afternoon, Superintendent Minto stated that he had nothing to say at present.

It is feared here the men may already have died of starvation. In making the announcement the government used the significant phrase "to rescue the men or the scientific material if the party has succumbed." The Yelcho is being stocked with provisions. Shackleton plans to sail within a few days.

DESPAIRING WOMAN NOW HAPPY MOTHER

Mrs. Stephens Did Not Need The Surgical Operation.

Patoka, Ill.—"I had been married five years and my greatest desire was to become a mother. The doctor said I never would have a child unless I was operated on for female troubles and I had given up all hopes when a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly for some time, and I am in better health than ever, and have a healthy baby girl. I praise your Vegetable Compound for my baby and my better health. I want all suffering women to know that it is the sure road to health and happiness."—Mrs. GEORGE STEPHENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Patoka, Ill.

WEDDING SPECIAL

trary to expectations the day has not proved uncomfortable, a cool breeze, coming up from down Coos Bay way and giving a hint of weather conditions there. A Coos Bay representative came through the train distributing badges bearing the name "Salem"—which were to be worn pinned on the left breast, and which he said was a magic symbol that meant "Salem money is no good at Coos Bay."

At Eugene which we are nearing the Cherrians are to drill. They will earn all the applause they will get, which, knowing Eugene we predict will be much. After that there will be little doubt until Coos Bay is reached, but after that, well, the average will be brought up.

The train is "de luxe," with Trainmaster A. L. Downs in charge, and looking after everybody's wants as a nurse girl does for a favorite infant. The S. P. has done itself proud and paid Salem the compliment of giving it its best.

The Cherrians in their special of five Pullmans, two baggage cars and two diners left promptly on time for the great Coos Bay celebration.

With the average amount of fair luck in traveling, the special will reach Marshfield this evening at 6 o'clock. The first act of publicity will be that of a grand parade led by the Cherrian band. Right here is where it was planned to introduce the governor traveling in a jirrikisha, decorated with flax. Of course other stunts were prepared for this initial appearance of the Salem boosters.

This evening they will take part in the regular program and other special entertainment prepared especially for them by the Marshfield committee.

The Cherringo band at which only Cherrian Kopeck money will be legal tender will be open for business this evening. Decorating the bar are signs as follows: "Lowjew. A drink will make you nutty." "Get away with a flax highball." "If Bush won't trust you, so will we." "Try a Brick fizz. 'Will make you batty.'" As a special warning the following notice is posted in a conspicuous place: "Positively no drinks served at Joe Albert, Theo. Gosh, Doc Epley, Harry Marshall, Gordon McGilchrist, Tommy Townsend, Albert Egan, King Big, Liz Langenberg, Hugh Allspire or George Waters."

Is Ceremony Legal

Marshfield, Ore., Aug. 25.—Mark Woodruff, of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and who says he is an attorney, has raised the question here as to whether or not Miss Coos Bay will be legally married to Eugene Lane, if she goes through with the mock ceremony at North Bend this afternoon.

Mr. Woodruff informed Miss Roddy that he felt quite certain that if she was joined in wedlock in public by the governor of the state the alliance would be binding.

Miss Roddy said this morning that before she took part in the wedding she would certainly consult an attorney and she declared that if she liked Eugene Lane's looks she would dare him to make the wedding a real one.

Miss Roddy's trousseau was all made in Marshfield, and includes all the accessories of a real wedding, even to hand-embroidered lingerie and the going-away suit.

The Marriage Ceremony

North Bend, Ore., Aug. 25.—His excellency, James Withycombe, governor of Oregon, yesterday afternoon formally proclaimed the union of Mr. Eugene Lane and Miss Coos Bay, typified by Gerry Watkins, of Eugene, and Miss Gladys Roddy of Marshfield, thus marking the culmination of six years of constructive effort in the building of the Willamette-Pacific railroad from Eugene to Coos Bay. The wedding ceremony following closely the forms of the usual marriage service. The bride was attended by her bridesmaids, all clad in appropriate wedding garments. The bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Clarke, Marshfield; Miss Edith Thomas, North Bend; Miss Marvel Skeels, Coquille; Miss Lella Wylands, Powers; Miss Helen Whitaker, Myrtle Point.

Attending the groom were W. H. Adrian, of Springfield, as best man, and the following ushers: L. C. Kerby, Mapleton; L. Draper, Elmira; Elmer Payne, Dr. A. O. Waller and J. A. McLean, Eugene. Just before the ceremony the Eugene chamber of commerce quartet sang "When Eugene Lane Is Married to Miss Coos Bay."

Governor Reads Service

Following is the form of the marriage service as read by Governor Withycombe:

(The governor): Citizens of Oregon: We are gathered together here in the sight of the mighty Pacific and in the face of this great company to join together Mr. Eugene Lane and Miss Coos Bay. In a state of united prosperity these two come now to be joined. This is a desirable union, signifying, as it does, the close relations that shall exist now and forevermore between the broad Willamette valley and the borderland of this great commonwealth. The Willamette-Pacific has adorned and beautified it with its ribbons of steel—the greatest miracle to be wrought in the advancement of western Oregon. Therefore this union is not to be entered into unadvisedly or lightly, but advisedly, discreetly and seriously, and in the hope of the great things that are to come.

If any community can show just cause why these two may not be lawfully joined together, let it now speak out, or else hereafter forever hold its peace.

Who giveth Miss Coos Bay to Mr. Eugene Lane? (Mr. Willamette-Pacific answers): I do.

(The governor): Mr. Eugene Lane, will you have Miss Coos Bay to be your life-long companion, to live together in wedded happiness? Will you help her, assist and aid her, and advance her interests whenever possible, both in hardship and prosperity, and forsaking all others look only unto her, as long as the tide shall flow and the mountain stand? (Mr. Eugene Lane answers): I will, and thereto I pledge my troth.

(The governor): Miss Coos Bay, will you have Mr. Eugene Lane to be your life-long companion, to live together in wedded happiness? Will you help him, assist and aid him, and advance his interests whenever possible, both in hardship and prosperity, and forsaking all others, look only unto him, as long as the diverse and the broad fields bring forth their fruits? (Miss Coos Bay answers): I will, and thereto I pledge my troth.

(Taught by the governor, Mr. Eugene Lane replies): With this ring I thee wed, and with all my worldly goods—with all my fields and streams, my timbered hills and teeming towns—I thee endow.

(The governor): Those whom bands of everlasting steel have joined together, let no man put asunder. Forasmuch as Mr. Eugene Lane and Miss Coos Bay have joined themselves together with sacred pledges, and have witnessed the same before me and this company, and thereto have given and pledged their troth, each to the other and have declared the same by giving and receiving a ring, and by joining hands, I pronounce that they are one and inseparable forever.

And now may the great state of Oregon, founded by the pioneers who braved the dangers of forest and plain, foster and protect you, so that you may abide together in peace, prosperity and happiness everlasting.

Operate On Skull To Cure Criminal Tendencies of Colley

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 25.—Carroll Colley, arrested here several months after a bold daylight robbery, has been cured of his alleged criminal tendencies by an operation to his skull, according to the belief today of doctors who operated on him. Arraigned in court after the holdup Colley was found to have a peculiar protrusion on his forehead. Physicians advanced the theory that this bump, through its reaction on the man's brain, was responsible for his alleged criminal tendencies. Superior Judge Lewis permitted the operation, and the man was removed to the county hospital, where the surgeons removed the top of his skull and opened a channel in the frontal bone, allowing more room for the brain, and for its reflex action. Today the physicians declared he had been cured. It was said the charge against him will probably be dismissed.
