Country Must Prepare For Higher Priced Bread

That the country must prepare for an advance in the price of the five cent loaf of bread within two weeks, the loaf going to six cents—and that the housewife's refuge from this advance in price lies in buying the ten cent loaf is the warning and advice contained in a statement made by Paul Schulze, president of the Schulze Baking company.

"With the leading brands of flour at the unprecedented price of $8.10 a barrel to the dealer, and with every indication that it will mount higher, the housewife must forthwith concern herself with the problem of the bread buying situation," Mr. Schulze says.

"If flour prices remain at their present high figure—and my information from the wheat fields of the northwest leads me to fear that they will go higher—it will be impossible for bakers to sell the small sized loaf at five cents. We are already confronted with the necessity of raising the price to six cents.

"Nevertheless everybody for a time at least may buy bread as economically even with the small loaf at six cents. Bakers can continue to sell the large size, or ten cent loaf, at its present price. From the standpoint of quality, taste and economy, that is the size to buy anyhow.

"As I said, for a time we can bake the ten cent loaf in the same size as heretofore. This we shall be able to do because of the labor cost saved in baking and handling the larger loaf. It does not take any more labor to make and cut dough for the ten cent loaf than for the five cent loaf. It takes no more labor in handling it to and from the ovens, in wrapping it, loading it on the wagons and delivering it to the stores. All this saving we can turn to the relief of the housewife in these high wheat times.

"The big ten cent loaf is the ideal and practical loaf of the household. Some housekeepers have objected to it on the ground that their families do not eat the entire loaf in a day and they did not care to keep the remainder of the loaf until the next day. If they will wrap the left over piece in the up to date original airtight wrapper, it will keep as fresh as it was the first day. Furthermore, bread on the second day is more wholesome than on the first. One good way to save money is to toast the left over bread.

"I cannot too much emphasize the danger of flour prices going higher, and when they do the bakers will be helpless, so far as maintaining bread prices at their present level is concerned. From the great wheat sections of the Dakotas and Minnesota I have positive information that but a small percentage of the crop forecasted from them will be delivered. The blight and rust, developed by the intense heat in the northwest, have cut the yield to a minimum. This means high priced flour with small chance of a retreat in the prices.

"I most certainly believe an embargo should be placed on wheat. We have it, it is true, enough wheat in this country for this year. But should the wheat crop next year be a failure, our country would face a calamity.

"The country generally, faces an increase in the price of the five cent loaf of bread. But no evil is as bad as it first appears. If the present high price of wheat teaches the housewife to buy the ten cent loaf of bread, it will have accomplished a great lesson in domestic economy."

FIRST HOSPITAL TRAIN READY FOR THE UNITED STATES ARMY

U.S. HOSPITAL CAR-OPERATING CAR

The first hospital train to be built for the United States government has been completed by a Chicago car building concern and has been sent to San Antonio, Texas. The train has a service or combination surgical car, which is in itself a thoroughly equipped operating room, six cars for patients, one standard Pullman, a combination baggage and library car and a kitchen. Photo shows parts of the surgical car.

is a chance to get rid of this sanctimonious incubus who prates for prohibition and votes against national prohibition, talks and who brags claims credit for work done by the delegation while he marked time.

Mark V. Weatherford, of a pioneer Oregon family, a brilliant, energetic young attorney of Albany, opposes Mr. Hawley. He is clean, on the level, a good speaker, a ready debater, a hard worker and will be heard in Washington.

Though Mr. Weatherford is well known in the Willamette valley, he is but little known in southern Oregon. He is a graduate of the O. A. C. and of Ann Arbor, taking the highest honors. He stands well in his own community as a progressive, enterprising citizen of high ideals, and will make good if given a chance.

Oregon is a progressive state, but represented in congress by a reactionary and stand-patter whose ideal of statesmanship is Uncle Joe Cannon, whose henchman and camp follower he has always been. Of little influence under the old regime, when his faithfulness to the interests was awarded by an occasional slice of pork, he is without prestige in the progressive present.

Though Hawley has represented Oregon for many terms, he has never fostered any legislation worth while. His name adorns no statutes. The halls of congress never resound with his oratory. His name is unheard of in the press dispatches. His standing is that of unnoticed mediocrity.

Can the first district of Oregon rest content with such misrepresentation—with a congressman living in the past and out of tune with the present? If it does, it will continue as in the past, unnoticed and passed by for districts having wideawake, up-to-date, aggressive men whose vital concern is the welfare of the people they represent.

MAHAN AT BERKELEY

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 26.—Eddie Mahan, former star backfield man for Harvard and one of the greatest football players ever turned out at that school, arrived here today and took charge of the backfield squad of the University of California. He is first assistant to head coach Andy Smith, formerly of Pennsylvania.

Nell—"She's rather eccentric, isn't she?" Belle—"Yes, she even thinks her own brother is as nice as other girls' brothers."

LET SOMETHING GOOD BE SAID

When over the fair fame of friend or foe
The shadow disgrace shall fall, instead
Of words of blame, or proof of this and so,
Let something good be said.

Forget not that no fellow being yet
May fall so low but love may lift his head;
Even the cheek of shame with tears is wet,
If something good be said.

No generous heart may vainly turn aside
In words of sympathy; no soul so dead
But may be awakened strong and glorified,
If something good be said.

And so I charge ye, by the thorny crown,
And by the cross on which the Saviour died,
And by your own soul's hope for fair renown,
Let something good be said!

—James Whitcomb Riley.

A MODERN EDUCATION

Yes, Mary's education
Has been strictly up to date;
You've heard, no doubt, that she just wags
The Suffrage club debate.

She took a course in nursing,
She can fence and box and row;
She's up on balanced rations,
She can dance and she can sew.

She's captain of the hockey team;
You ought to see her swing;
But she's had no time for music,
With her tennis and her gym.

I guess we're 'way behind the times;
There's been a big advance
Since we learned our rules for grammar
And could name the kings of France.

I know I ought not to complain
When Mary's done so well,
But I just can't help wishing
She could read and write and spell!

Better and Better.

"I've looked up your family tree," said the genealogist, "but I doubt if you will be pleased with it. Your great-grandfather was hanged for murder; your great-grandfather was imprisoned for robbery; your grandfather was tarred and feathered for beating his wife. That's not a very good record, is it?"

"I should say it is," replied the other emphatically. "It shows the family is getting better with each generation. I'm an improvement on the entire bunch—never been in jail yet. Let me have those records—I'm proud of 'em."
