ALL IS UNCERTAIN

By this congress of the following measures:
A law similar to the Canadian dispute act, which averts all strikes and lockouts for one year pending the investigation by a commission of all details incident to the dispute.
An eight hour law for railroad employees—probably an amendment to the present 10 hour law—with features covering matters of overtime and other collateral details.
It was learned today the president feels keenly disappointed that the two sides of the pending dispute have been in the city more than two weeks and within a few blocks of each other and that there have been conferences between the railroads and the brotherhoods in an effort to assist him in arriving at some satisfactory plan of settlement.

The president, from the first, expressed a willingness—even anxiety—to pass on any fair proposition either side might present to the other, in an effort to bring them together, but that thus far no such proposition has been made.

Takes Up Last Weapon
President Wilson today took up what may be his last weapon against nationwide industrial paralysis. He put congress to work on the railroad strike situation.

Indicating the belief on the president's part that chances of averting the threatened break between the railroads and the railroad brotherhoods have grown slender, the call on congress is said to be not only for legislation to aid in preventing a strike, but to handle the strike should it occur. He was said to be ready to appeal to congress for legislation along the following lines:

Such as might aid in the prevention in a strike should all his own efforts fail.
Providing an adequate legal method for immediate settlement should the strike actually occur.
Provisions for handling the situation, keeping the trains moving, etc.
Details of such legislation occupied the president, Secretary Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, and Secretary Lane, the president's confidential adviser in the cabinet, throughout yesterday. After a final conference the president was informed that legislation such as he had in mind could be put through congress at this session.

The president's conference with the railroad presidents' committee of eight at which the "final" terms of the railroads were to be presented in written form, was deferred today from 10 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

The president made an unprecedented night trip to the capitol and discussed his plans with Senator Kern, democratic floor leader.

If speculation, doubtful and uncertainty marked the general strike situation Saturday, it may be said that today's developments promised in rapid order a clearing up of the now dangerous and perplexing situation.

To Meet Again Today
The president was to see both sides today. The railroads expected to ignore his stand pat proposal for peace and stand pat for arbitration. The employees, unless they prepared some entirely unexpected move, apparently were certain to order a strike.
All manner of reports were current today as to the president's next move. The indications were, however, that the president would go before congress and urge the passage of a measure drawn along the lines of the Canadian dispute act, providing for investigation of all industrial disputes by a commission. Such a commission would have the power of forcing mediation and investigation but would have no power of enforcing its findings. Public opinion, however, it is said, has in a majority of cases, served as a lever in forcing acceptance of the commission's reports. Such a bill would be passed and utilized before any strike which might be called by the employees could actually get under way and in the hope that it would prevent it.
To assist in settlement, should a strike arise, a bill increasing the membership of the interstate commerce commission from seven to nine members with authority to divide into groups, is practically agreed on.

of a strike, has proven a real stumbling block and nothing tangible has been done. It is known the president has no desire to have the government take over the railroads.
Another report today was that the president might appeal to the brotherhoods to postpone any contemplated strike action for sufficient time to enable him to get through legislation that would make a settlement of the dispute possible without endangering the country's welfare.

There was more talk among senators and congressmen today favoring the passage of an eight hour day law, covering not only railroad employees, but the employees of all corporations and industries.

ACHES AND PAINS

Don't neglect a pain anywhere, but find out what causes it and conquer the cause. Pain in the kidney region may put you on your back tomorrow. Don't blame the weather for swollen feet; it may be an advanced warning of Bright's disease. A pain in the stomach may be the first symptom of appendicitis. A creek in a joint may be the forerunner of rheumatism. Chronic headaches more than likely warn you of serious stomach trouble. The best way is to keep in good condition day in and day out by regularly taking GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL Capsules. Sold by reliable druggists. Monkeys refused if they do not help you. Beware of substitutes. The only pure imported Haarlem Oil Capsules are the GOLD MEDAL.

Mother's Way Best.
Little Willie felt indisposed, and the family doctor ordered him to take a powder.

"Come on, dear," said mother coaxingly when the powder arrived, "take this; it will make you quite well at once."
"Don't want it!" wailed Willie, backing away from the teaspoon.
"Don't want any medicine!"
"Oh, Willie," his mother said reproachfully, as she drew the small boy near to her, "you've never heard me complain about a little powder have you?"
"No, and neither would I," was young William's startling reply, "if I could just put it on my face as you do. But I have to swallow it!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

And It Didn't Strike.
Bulgaria's defection caused Spanish Consul Juan L. y Marti to say in Manila:

"The allies' diplomacy in the Balkans was slow. It reminds me of Smith. Smith's mother-in-law rushed to him in great excitement on his return from business one evening.
"Oh, John," she cried, "that great, horrid, heavy grandfather's clock in the hall has just fallen with a dreadful crash on the very spot where I'd been standing only a moment before."
"Humph!" muttered Smith. "I always said that clock was slow."
