A jolly party of Salem folks left by auto Saturday afternoon to spend the week end at Taylor's Grove, above Mehana. The party returned at 9 o'clock last night, reporting a delightful time, the principal features of which were a stepping party, bathing and fishing.

The twinkle trot is the latest thing in foot movements, and as the latest dance, will be introduced into Salem society this winter. It is said to be very much like the fox trot except just where the trot comes in, there is a sudden shuffle of the feet, and the foot that was in front reverses action, gets behind the procession, and then suddenly recovers its self possession and continues to lead for eight measures.

J. E. Scott, of the real estate firm of Scott & Bynon, will leave this evening for a two month business trip in the east and south, giving his entire time to real estate matters.

In delivering a short talk at Marshfield, King Bing Deekelbach told the people of the Coos valley country that the Salem Cherrians and other residents of the capital city came to greet them as citizens of Oregon, that while here they were perhaps better known in San Francisco than in Oregon, hereafter they were to become a member of the Oregon family.
