COMPANY M DUE AT 7:30 IN MORNING

This Is Word Sent by Corporal Houston from Dunsuir This Afternoon

Company M will pass through Salem at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning on its way from San Diego to Clackamas according to a special dispatch received this afternoon. There is the possibility that the special may be late, but if it travels on regular schedule time, friends and relatives of the members of Company M may greet them at the above announced hour.

Members of the Salem Patriotic League are arranging this afternoon to provide the boys with luncheons and have asked that all who can prepare a lunch for the boys, do this evening and send them to the office of Scott & Eynon on Liberty street, just in the rear of the Salem Bank of Commerce before 8 o'clock this evening. It has also been suggested by the League that the boys might like some real Oregon fruit and that donations in this line will be appreciated, besides the lunches.

Remembering the big crowds at the Southern Pacific depot when the boys left for the south and the fact that many relatives were not able to see members of their families in the company, the Salem Patriotic League will arrange to have the platform spaced off and only relatives of Company M be permitted to approach the train. They hope to be able to make this arrangement and ask that those who are relatives of members of the company and who expect to meet the special to call at Mr. Eynon's office before 8 o'clock this evening for badges.

A committee has been appointed by the ladies of the Salem Patriotic League to decorate the depot with flags. It is also hoped that arrangements may be made whereby the Cherrian band will be on hand to aid in the general rejoicing and welcoming home of the Salem boys.

Before the School Bell Rings

See that your children's eyes are in the proper condition for school year; and only a competent and thoroughly scientifically examination can determine whether glasses are needed or not. You as parents, owe this precaution to your children and should not fail to do your part to relieve all kinds of eye strain that an examination may disclose. I am a graduate of medicine of Heidelberg College, and also a graduate of Optics, and my 33 years of actual experience in correcting defective vision should be an inducement to you to see me about any eye trouble you or yours may have.

I have made a special study of children's eyes, and have successfully corrected thousands of children's vision. If after making examinations I find that glasses are not needed, I will frankly tell you. (You cannot see plainly without glasses if your eyesight is impaired—the more you try the worse your sight will become) this is why that an examination is so necessary to children's eyes—to discover and correct any defective vision.

I do not use drops or drugs in making examinations as they are dangerous. My charges are very reasonable—material used and service considered. I guarantee satisfaction in every respect. I change glasses free of charge for a whole year if necessary. Losses duplicated while you wait.

Searching for Body of A. B. Richardson

Portland, Or., Sept. 4.—Search for the body of A. B. Richardson, wealthy realty dealer and prominent member of the Multnomah club, was resumed today in the Willamette river near Windemuth dams, where he is believed to have drowned Saturday afternoon.

Richardson was 54 years old and a strong swimmer. He went to the baths along Saturday afternoon. Attendees say he entered the water about 5 p. m. At night, when the resort was being closed, Richardson's clothes were found in his dressing room.

It is believed he suffered a heart attack while bathing, and sank without uttering a cry or struggle.

HOP CONDITIONS ARE NOT MOST FAVORABLE

Mold is Reported and Unless Rains Stop Soon Damage Will Be Heavy

Conditions favorable to the maturing of hops, which prevailed throughout August, has given place during the past few days to rain. The result of this will be a decided decrease in the estimated volume of the hop crop in the Willamette valley, unless there is a change to sunshine within a very short time.

Reports of mold to a serious extent have been coming in today. The hops in the yards are spoiling very rapidly. A number of growers have already decided to abandon their yards.

It is the opinion of Manager Clark of the Oregon Hop Growers' association, that growers are wise in not picking poor hops. "With market conditions as they are," says Mr. Clark, "there is but little use in picking other than the best. It may be a short crop, but it will be a good one in point of quality."

About a third of the American hop crop is in a normal year exported to England. There is a possibility that the embargo placed by Great Britain on this commodity may be lifted or modified, but if this should not take place the chief market will be closed. Much depends on the volume of yield of English hops. The British embargo on hops is part of an economic plan to limit as far as possible that nation's consumption of non-necessaries. The shipping space for hops is needed for more urgent purposes. Furthermore, it is stated that there is a determination to limit brewing in order that the barley used for making beer in normal years may be available for domestic food.

While there is a decrease in the quantity of beer made in the United States, compared with previous years, a factor contributing to less demand for hops is the loss of percentage of hops used for brewing. In 1900 953 of a pound of hops entered a barrel or brewed beer, while in 1912 the average in United States breweries had fallen to 682 of a pound.

The Brewers' Bulletin of August 30 says the hop trade with brewers is lagging, there being a tendency to wait for the new crop. The Bulletin quotes Pacific hops, 1916 crop, at from 14 to 15 cents, and 1915 crop at from nine to 12 cents.

The picking of the entire crop of hops in the Willamette valley would mean the payment to labor during the next 20 days of $2,400,000. The percentage of this that will be paid out depends entirely on weather conditions.

complaint of a hotel keeper at Cornelius. It is alleged that Miller left Cornelius owing the hotel man $20 for board. He was taken to that place yesterday.

A cash deal was closed today by J. A. Mills by which Frank S. Jones of this city becomes the owner of 122 acres of improved land in Benton county near Kings Valley. The consideration was $5,000. Mr. Jones will take possession and move to his new home at once.

The plastering on the two upper floors of the addition to the Marion hotel has been completed and the wood work all finished. The painters will begin tomorrow on the fourth floor and by the 15th of the month the two upper floors will be ready for the furnishings. The management announces that everything will be ready for business on the two upper floors for the state fair.

An action to collect damages for the loss of a horse occupied much of Saturday afternoon in Justice of the Peace Webster's court. The plaintiff, who hired out a horse to Chester Long and Victor Collins for a trip to the mountains. Shortly after the return of Long and Collins from the trip the horse died. Justice Webster has the case under advisement.

Two hundred of the freight employees of the Southern Pacific at Portland came to Salem this morning at 10:30 o'clock and proceeded to spend a few hours in the city taking in the state institutions. After a visit at the penitentiary, Oregon state hospital and state house the visitors left at 12:15 for Silverton. After a few hours in that city they left for Woodburn, returning to Portland at 6 o'clock.

Notwithstanding the rain and general unfavorable hop-picking conditions, the Oregon Electric is running specials daily from Portland to stations in the hop districts. Yesterday four specials were run from Portland with 24 passenger coaches and eight baggage cars. Seven hundred of the pickers were taken to the Livesley yards at Livesley station. Tomorrow two sections with seven coaches and two baggage cars each will be run out of Portland to points south of Salem.

W. B. Gilson, prominent in Knights of Pythias and Maccabee lodge circles has leased his barber shop at 457 State street to Warren Miles, who assumed charge today. Mr. Gilson has been appointed deputy state commander of the Maccabees and in his official capacity, his work will take him to all points south of Salem in the Willamette valley and all coast points west and south of Salem. To the new work Mr. Gilson will begin devoting his time at once. His duties as deputy state commander will include the visiting of all lodges within his jurisdiction and looking after their general welfare.

Gustave Abraham of Albany and Miss Zoe V. Miller of Amity were married yesterday by the Rev. R. N. Avison at the First Methodist church parsonage in the presence of many friends and relatives. They left shortly after for a sojourn visit in Portland. Mrs. Abraham is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller of Amity. Mr. Abraham is associated with the First National bank of Albany. Among those who witnessed the wedding were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller of Amity, Dr. and Mrs. Wood of Amity, Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller of Lebanon, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fisher of Corvallis, Miss Letha Kidd and the three brothers of the groom, Julius, Alfred and Herman Abraham of Albany.

A new hop dryer, patented by F. E. Needham of the Livesley Hop company, is being installed in the Livesley yards at Livesley station.

Ed Pulver, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was arrested by the local police last night. He will have a hearing tomorrow morning.

The Cherrian band will give a concert tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Willson park. Mrs. Hallie Parrish Hinges will sing, "Love, Here is My Heart."

A. T. Woolpert is home from service on the border with Company M. Life on the border evidently agreed with Mr. Woolpert as he has increased in weight 17 pounds.

The blankets and comforts that were sent to Company M by the kind-hearted citizens of Salem arrived in the city last Saturday in the care of Fred S. Eynon. He announces that they will be ready for delivery at the armory Wednesday morning from 10 until 11 o'clock.

Yes, its an actual fact that dresses will be worn not quite so high this fall. The leading milliners all acknowledge it and several of the leading makers of shoes have anticipated the coming style by just lowering the top of the shoe about two inches, thus striking a fair average.

Despite the very unfavorable weather for target practice, several members of the Salem Rifle club went to Finzer yesterday for practice, using government ammunition. Fair scores were made, especially by those who were accustomed to the handling of a rifle. In fact it is developing that men who have never handled a rifle soon become fair marksmen.

The change in strike conditions has resulted in an easier condition of things at the Salem Fruit Union so far as pears are concerned, although the lifting of the embargo came too late to help out in the matter of green pears. Manager Paulus states that the picking of pears has begun, and that according to reports coming in to the union there is very little brown rot or scab. Several dryers were started up this morning.
