New York, Sept. 12.—The Brooklyn National league club is at home today to begin a drive to the pennant. The Dodgers hold the lead in their circuit by a game and a half.

Philadelphia, in second place, also is at home, ready to fight to oust the leaders.

The Pirates will tackle the Dodgers in the Brooklyn stronghold this afternoon and the Phillies will take on the Cardinals. Boston will face the Cubs in two games in Boston.

Brooklyn returned home with an even split on its journey around the circuit. The Dodgers played twenty eight games and won 14. Now they're ready for the long stretch to the finish. Their schedule calls for 17 more regular games and six postponed games.

Every one of the remaining contests will be played at Ebbets field, so the Dodgers, a game and a half to the good, must be considered strong as world series possibilities.

Twenty One Games Yet

Twenty one games are on the Phillies schedule, all except three on the Philadelphia grounds. And it may be these three games, played just a few days before the curtain is rung down on October 5, that will decide the pennant hunt. On September 28, 29 and 30, the Phillies will journey to Brooklyn for the final trio of games between the two clubs. If the race continues until then to be as tight as it has been most of the summer, the race will be decided at that time.

Brooklyn left home on its last trip with Daubert and Pfeffer, two of the most dependable members of the club, on the ailing list. In addition, McCarty, a catcher, was playing with Daubert and Pfeffer ready to go the route and with a new utility man in Fred Merkle, former Giant first baseman.

The Phillies are not so well off. Bill Killifer has turned up crippled, as was the case a year ago when his services meant so much to the Phillies. He injured his hand last Saturday in the game with the Giants. In addition none of Pat Moran's pitchers has shown ability to win since the series with the Giants was started. Even the great Alexander was given a drubbing in New York.

Lays Between Two

Aside from the two leading clubs, recent events appear to have eliminated all other clubs from serious opposition. Boston, badly crippled by the loss of Evers and Maranville, seems to have hit the chutes after making a game fight.

The Red Sox, Tigers and White Sox all won their games yesterday in the American league and the race there in reference to the first three is unchanged. Boston still leads by a game and a half and the White Sox are just half a game behind the second place Tigers. Today Boston is pitted against Washington, the White Sox against St. Louis and the Tigers against Cleveland.

Detroit and Boston in the American league soon will be at it in an important series. Next week the Red Sox will journey to the Tigers' lair for the final games with their chief rivals and history probably will be made for Ban Johnson's circuit at that time. Boston has a rather hard row to hoe after the club leaves Washington for the remaining games all are scheduled on foreign fields, with the exception of seven at the finish.

On the other hand the White Sox and Detroit have an almost unbroken stretch of at home games before the final games are played.

Looks Like Mustering Out Will Be Delayed

Governor Withycombe is attending the Multnomah county fair at Gresham today. Tomorrow he will accept an invitation from Col. McLaughlin, commanding the Third Oregon regiment, to visit the camp at Clackamas where, for the first time in the history of an Oregon regiment, a field drill with full equipment will be staged. The Third Oregon brought with it its entire field equipment, including horses and mules, making the spectacular display a possibility. This event is the one feature which is stirring the men to exceptional effort, for the result will show that the months spent in the federal service were not for nothing.

An official "welcome home" will be given the Third Oregon regiment by Portland on Thursday in conjunction with the laying of the cornerstone of the Auditorium.

An order has been received from the war department this week which might indicate that the government does not expect the regiment to be mustered out for at least a month. Camp Quartermaster Schumacher has been instructed to have the floors of the tents laid with wood at once. Without floors, the tents would not be tenable in the event of a heavy rain, because of inadequate drainage.

Market Very Active and Prices Advanced

New York, Sept. 12.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today says:

On an extremely active and wide volume of business prices today moved to higher levels, the advancing tendency being particularly marked in steel shares and in some of the specialties in which several instances of new records were reported.

Though an enormous amount of stock came out the market again exhibited unusual capacity for taking of offerings without material effect upon quotations the reactions which occurred as a rule, being confined to small figures with prices generally moving back easily after every setback at least in the greater part of the session. Mercantile Mariner's were exceptions, ruling under Monday's final.

Because of heavy realizing and a falling off in the outside-buying last hour prices generally were reactionary. Maine's sweeping republican victory added fuel to bullish sentiment. In banking quarters the outcome of that election was most favorably commented upon as a forecast of the defeat of the democratic administration in November while it naturally attracted new buying of high grade securities.

Wall Street traders who have been persistently bearish and who are now reluctantly covering their short accounts, have misjudged the extraordinary conditions that have brought about the current market. It is not a market that may be measured by precedent.

United States Bank Labels Mail Boxes

Although the postmaster has sent out repeated notices to farmers on the nine rural routes to the effect that their names must appear on their mail boxes if they expected correct delivery of mail, very few have given any attention to the notices sent them. Many who did wish to comply with instructions, wrote their names on the boxes with lead pencil or crayon which disappeared after the first train.

About 600 boxes on the nine rural routes are not properly marked and just to help the farmer as well as to aid the postoffice department and rural delivery men, the United States First National bank has undertaken the marking of these boxes and has sent the following postal card notice: "Believing that we could save our rural friends in this vicinity some annoyance and expense in their complying with the recent ruling of the postoffice department demanding that owners' names shall appear upon their mail boxes, and also with a view of possibly a more intimate business acquaintance with them, this bank has caused your name to be lettered upon this your mail box without expense to you."

All of which means that the U. S. bank will soon send out men who will put a name on a rural mail box where the name should be and it won't cost anyone a cent.
