Claxtar, Sept. 13.—Threshers are not paying much attention to the 8-hour laws these days. Their labor comes at daybreak and ends at dusk, Sundays they work a little harder than usual, to try to complete the threshing before rain compels them to quit.
Hop picking and prune picking, peach picking and bean gathering all draw their workers from the laboring ranks until threshers are exceedingly hard to secure. Two machines are temporarily closed down until a full crew is obtainable.
The Matthews threshing is running successfully with a full crew in Mission Bottom.

Mr. Holtzclaw, who conducts a large moving picture house in Portland, started out to visit his parents here by the motorcycle route. When passing Aurora, at a fast clip, the motorcycle received a puncture and promptly collapsed, throwing Mr. Holtzclaw some distance. Mr. Holtzclaw said: "I had the throttle of my machine wide open, and was racing parallel with the limited train, when of a sudden my motorcycle stopped with sickening suddenness, but I kept right on—and for a distance of several feet plowed up the gravel with the end of my nose."
Mr. Holtzclaw put his motorcycle in a repair shop at Aurora and completed his journey by rail, arriving here somewhat disfigured, but still "full of grit" as he expressed it.

GEORGE B. CARLSON WINS IN COLORADO

Is Nominated for Governor by Close Margin—Gunter to Oppose Him

Denver, Colo., Sept. 13.—Latest returns today indicate that Governor George B. Carlson has been renominated as republican candidate to head the state ticket by a very small plurality over Samuel D. Nicholson. The vote in yesterday's primary election was extremely light.

Julius G. Gunter's nomination as democratic gubernatorial candidate was a mere formality, as there was no other candidate "designated" in the state convention.

Congressmen Hilliard, Keating and Taylor were renominated by the democrats in the First, Third and Fourth districts. The second district is still in doubt.

The republicans nominated Henry B. Teller in the First, renominated Congressman Timberlake in the Second; named Henry J. Baird in the Fourth with the third district yet to be heard from.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey was named to succeed himself as judge of the juvenile court. Lindsey was a candidate on the democratic ticket.

A state ticket was nominated by both parties.

Coroner's Jury Asserts Auto Driver Careless

(Capital Journal Special Service.)
Dallas, Or., Sept. 13.—The coroner's jury summoned to inquire into the death of C. S. Hatch who was killed by an automobile driven by Weldon Black at the intersection of Main and Washington streets Sunday morning, returned a verdict "that Cyrus S. Hatch came to his death on Sunday, September 10, 1916, at about seven o'clock a. m., by striking the base of his skull on the concrete pavement at the corner of Main and Washington streets in Dallas, Polk county, Oregon. Said fall being caused by said C. S. Hatch being struck by the automobile driven by Weldon Black. We further find that said Weldon Black did all in his power to avert the accident, but find that said Weldon Black was careless in the matter in not driving his car on the proper side of the street and turning the corner as provided by the ordinance of the city and the laws of the state of Oregon." The members of the jury were: George Muscott, foreman, C. L. Hubbard, Will Tatom, N. L. Guy, S. M. Ray, and W. R. Coulter.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Cyrus S. Hatch were conducted from the Chapman Undertaking parlors Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. Howard McConnell of the Christian church preaching the services. Interment took place in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

COMPANY M WILL BE MUSTERED OUT MONDAY

Majority of Men Refuse to Take Oath Binding Them to Six Years' Service

Company M will be mustered out next Monday.

The work of mustering out of the Third Oregon regiment was begun at Cheakamas yesterday. Company A of McMinville being the first to pass the medical examinations preliminary to the process. The other companies of which the regiment is composed will be taken in their regular order, and by this time next week every one of the 1,000 men who left Camp Witherspoon last June for service on the Mexican border will no longer be in active service.

It is stated on what appears to be good authority that the majority of the members of Company M will stick to their decision not to take the federal oath. This is not compulsory, and would bind them to six years of service in the national guard. They wish it to be distinctly understood, however, that when the nation needs their services they will be ready to serve as cheerfully as if they were under the oath.

Episcopal Church Will Not Marry the Divorced

If the recommendations of a commission consisting of five bishops, and an equal number of clergymen and prominent laymen of the Episcopal church are adopted by the General Convention which meets at St. Louis in October, it will be impossible for any divorced persons to be married by an Episcopal clergyman.

Hitherto the canon law of the church has allowed an exception in the case of the innocent party in a divorce for adultery. But this exception was carefully guarded against abuse. Twelve months must have elapsed after the granting of the divorce, and a copy of the court's decree and record had to be submitted to the bishop before any clergyman could officiate at such a marriage.

Notwithstanding these stringent restrictions the Commission is convinced that more rigorous action is necessary. Divorce is increasing by leaps and bounds, especially in the western states.

In the opinion of experienced lawyers collusion is widely prevalent, and it is becoming increasingly difficult to determine the innocence of either party to a divorce. It is therefore proposed to adopt a new canon absolutely prohibiting marriage in the church between parties either of whom has a husband or wife living, and who has been divorced for any cause arising after marriage.

The adoption of this proposal will afford great relief to many clergymen upon whom great social pressure is brought to solemnize such marriages.

This legislation does not affect cases where the marriage relation is annulled by the courts for causes arising before the marriage.

The difficult question as to whether divorced persons who have remarried by the civil authority or by a clergyman of some other church shall be admitted to the Holy Communion is to be referred by the parish priest to the bishop of the diocese, and his decision is to be final.

DALLAS MAN KILLED BY CARELESS DRIVER

Cyrus S. Hatch was struck and almost instantly killed about 7 o'clock Sunday morning, at Main and Washington streets by an automobile driven by Weldon Black. Death was due to a fracture of the base of the skull. The dead man was 72 years of age and was an employee of Plaster's ivory stable. The coroner's jury, called to investigate the cause of death, yesterday morning, returned a verdict that Hatch was killed through careless automobile driving by Weldon Black.

With three guests in their Ford automobile Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Black left the home of Oliver Chase Sunday morning between 6:30 and 7 o'clock. Mr. Black drove east on Washington street to the intersection of Main. Mr. Hatch was walking west on Washington street to his work at Plaster's barn. Instead of obeying the ordinance and circling the semaphore Black cut to the left of the semaphore.

Black did not take the stand at yesterday's hearing and Dewey Imman, one of the automobile passengers, said on the stand that he did not know at what speed the machine was traveling and that his slight experience with automobiles did not give him basis for making a judgment. Automobile drivers who visited the scene of the accident Sunday and Monday say that, from the appearance of the machine tracks made when Black tried to stop, the automobile was going at 15 or 20 miles an hour.—Dallas Observer.

Wall Street Knew Railroads Would Not Suffer Loss From Granting Employes Demands

New York, Sept. 9.—The financial markets show remarkable resisting power against adverse news. Neither the threatened strike of the railroads last week nor the attempted tieup of transportation in New York city this week exerted any noticeable effect upon the stock exchange. The concessions demanded by railroad labor created surprisingly little alarm, probably because of a belief that present trade activity would largely compensate the railroads for increased outlays, and that net earnings, though diminished, would not seriously suffer. In the case of the railroads, it was noted that law did not go into effect until January 1st; that its effect was to be studied by the government, and that if really injurious to the railroads the interstate commerce commission might be induced to grant them an advance in rates as compensation. Further, the constitutionality of the new law is to be tested before the supreme court, whose decision will be watched with widespread interest.

General business has slowed down somewhat, bank clearings now running only about 20 per cent ahead of last year, as against 40 and 50 per cent a head a few weeks ago. Nevertheless, trade has been more active than usual at this season; and, as summer draws to a close, all indications point to an active fall trade. A most important factor in this connection is the immensely increased purchasing abilities of the masses, resulting from the active employment of many classes of labor at unusually high wages, particularly those engaged in the making or handling of munitions. The war, the stoppage of emigration and the great demand for hands in many plants have created a serious scarcity of labor; the result being that labor as a class is unprecedentedly prosperous and inclined to spend freely and demand still higher wages. The strikes of today are fuelled by prosperity and not by wage reductions; they are a part of the general inflationary movement which is spreading over the whole world, and which has apparently not yet run its full course. One of the results of the war has been to immensely stimulate the industrial activity that would in any event have developed in this country, though in a much less degree. This war stimulus will extend for some time yet, some authorities saying the war will last for another year at least. The progress of the allies is exceedingly formidable, but slow and the resisting powers of the central powers are doubtless much greater than commonly supposed; as the allies progress, the more desperate the resistance they will have to encounter. The managers of our industrial plants are, therefore, calculating upon a continuance of the all powerful stimulus of war orders, which in turn induces continued heavy exports, huge trade balances, gold imports and further foreign credits, loans or bond issues. For another year at least, New York promises to be the only free money market in the world, and this means a further prolongation of financial, industrial and commercial activity, increased to a still higher degree by an enormous gold supply and the new banking system, both of which have permitted a huge but sound expansion of credit. Beyond question, the war is impressing its effects upon this country more and more as time progresses, and inflation must continue until credit contraction is enforced; either through exhaustion or the close of the war, which would permit Europe to recall a portion of its gold. For the time being the war is quite powerful enough to offset an unsatisfactory harvest, a disturbed labor situation, a flood of anxieties which concern the managers of big business. There are quite enough problems awaiting solution to sober unreasoning enthusiasm; nevertheless, the general business outlook is promising, credit is sound and confidence in the future is undisturbed.

On the stock exchange there has been a strong outbreak of bullish activity, based of course upon conditions noted above and in a few instances, notably United States Steel and Mercantile Marine. It must also be noted that the public buying of stocks has been greatly reinforced by an influential and new class of buyers; namely, those who have made large profits as a result of the war. The investment buying of this class has been a factor of considerable importance, having materially lessened the supply of desirable issues, and being also a strong factor in the present speculative movement. There was much enthusiasm on the advance and some shares have risen to a point where profit taking on an increasing scale must be expected. Congress has closed, and the next session will be a brief one, ending March 4th, during which no important legislation is likely to be attempted. The presidential campaign will undoubtedly be more intense than anticipated a few weeks ago, and a free popular discussion on many of the new issues agitating the public mind will undoubtedly be a striking feature. Such discussion will at least serve the purpose of clarifying the political atmosphere and facilitating a better judgment of the trend of public opinion for the next four years. Speculative interests center chiefly upon the industrialists owing to their sustained profits and the probability of their benefiting by prolongation of the war. The railroads are enjoying big traffic, often taxing their facilities to the utmost, consequently reports of current earnings are very satisfactory.

URIC ACID---GOING---GOING---GONE "Anuric" Will Not Fail to Stop Your Backache.

People are realizing more and more every day that the kidneys, just as do the lungs, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Under this continual and perpetual action they are apt to congest, and then trouble starts. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances. Doctor Pierce, of Buffalo, New York, advocates that every one should drink plenty of pure water between meals. Every day should exercise in the outdoor air sufficiently to sweat profusely, and from time to time stimulate the kidney action by means of "Anuric." This preparation has been thoroughly tried out at his Sanitarium, in the same way as his "Favorite Prescription" for weak women and "Golden Medical Discovery," the standard herbal system tonic, (both of which now come in tablet form for convenience of carrying and taking). "Anuric" is now being introduced here, and many local people are daily testifying to its perfectness.

When you have backache, dizzy spells or rheumatism, heed nature's warning. It means that you are a victim to uric acid poisoning. Then ask your druggist for "Anuric" and you will very soon become one of hundreds who daily give their thankful indorsement to this powerful enemy to uric acid.

If you have that tired, worn-out feeling, backache, rheumatism, neuralgia, or if your sleep is disturbed by too frequent urination, get Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets at drug store, full treatment $1.00, or send 30c for trial package to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.
