The big grain crops in the eastern part of the state around Wasco and Pendleton was especially noted by U. G. Holt, who has just returned from a 30 days auto tour of the eastern part of the state and Idaho. And next to the big grain crops and the money the sheep men were making, the absolute failure of the fruit crop in Idaho was noticeable. This year in parts of Idaho there is no crop whatever of prunes, apples or peaches as the snow and late spring killed all the chances of a crop.

With the rapid advance in the price of wheat comes the announcement that several grocery items made mostly of the cereal will step up a few notches. Yesterday grocers received notice that Cream of Wheat would cost 75 cents more a case wholesale. Other advances are 60 cents a case wholesale for Cottolene and a slight advance all along the line for salad and cooking oils. Sultana raisins will also be higher, as there is none now on the market. The war in Europe is to blame for these higher prices as Greece and Italy have exported no currants and the bakers everywhere are now obliged to use raisins. And the worst of it all is that mince meat is likely to go higher and mince pie placed on the shelf as a luxury instead of a necessity.

The mail order houses evidently regard this part of the U. S. as pretty good territory, as Postmaster Huckerstein has been notified by the postoffice department that a shipment of 200 sacks of mail containing mail order catalogs will arrive in the city within a few days. The shipment comes by freight from New York and is distributed from Salem at the local parcel post rates for the second and third zones. This sends them to all points within a radius of 150 miles of the city. Word has been received from the mail order house in Chicago that an extra big shipment will be made by freight to Salem for the distribution. And on top of this news comes the information that a manager of one of the mail order houses in an address declared that the mail order business was at high tide where there was the least newspaper advertising.

Company M Will Be Mustered Out Monday Morning

The soldier boys will be mustered out at 9:30 o'clock next Monday morning, according to the latest information.

Until positive word is received as to exactly what day the boys will arrive, no definite date will be made by the Salem Patriotic League for their reception.

But as soon as the time of their arrival can be announced, those who have volunteered to send chicken pie and other good things will be notified, as the League intends to give the boys a genuine home-coming banquet of home cooked "vittals."

Besides the banquet, the other big event of the home-coming will be the reception to which all Salem will be invited. It is probable that all patriotic organizations in the city will take part in the reception as the Grand Army of the Republic has already signified its intentions of celebrating the return.

However, although the banquet and reception has been frequently postponed, it is here waiting for the boys and everybody in town is invited to be there.

KEPT OUT OF RUSSIA BECAUSE PRO-GERMAN

New York Rabbis Sympathies Not His Race Prevented Entrance

By William Philip Simms. (United Press staff correspondent.)
 Petrograd, Aug. 18.—By mail.—Dr. Judap Leon Magnes, noted New York rabbi, was barred from Russia, not because he was a Jew, but because his public utterances had classified him as pro-German.

Attorney Henry Sliozberg, a leading Jew member of the Jewish relief committee and for 30 years an active Israeli worker, made this statement today. He explained why Dr. Magnes was refused admission to Russia after he had come to Europe to distribute a fund for relief of Jewish refugees from the war zone, raised in America.

"I am not acquainted with Dr. Magnes personally, but I know him by reputation as a man of absolutely honest convictions," said Sliozberg.

"He possesses a forceful character, but if he is pro-German and said things I am reported to have said in speeches I am not surprised that he was not permitted to enter Russia. I believe the same thing would have happened in England, France or even America, if America were at war and a known anti-American wished to enter."

"Dr. Magnes was not barred because he is a Jew, but because of his opinions. I am certain that some other Jew would not have been refused. Personally I regret that he was heard for had he come to Petrograd I am sure I could have convinced him that the Jews here are Russian first and Jews afterwards. I am Russian myself, but were I not, and simply as a Jew myself which was best for my people a Russian victory or a Russian defeat, I would unhesitatingly say a Russian victory and a victory for the allies."

"I believe I could have convinced Dr. Magnes of this. If his co-religionists abroad are desirous of aiding the cause of the Jews, they will serve best by aiding the allies."

Dr. Magnes was halted at Stockholm by the refusal of the Russian government to permit him to enter. At his New York offices it was said today that he is now in Germany.

DEMOCRATS WILL ENLIVEN CAMPAIGN

Special Days To Be Features at Shadow Lawn—President to Speak

By Robert J. Bender. (United Press staff correspondent.)
 Washington, Sept. 19.—(Aboard the president's special train.)—There is to be more political noise at Shadow Lawn from now on. The president, Chairman Vance McCormick and other political leaders, have reached the decision that from now on political horses will be spurred all the way down the remainder of the stretch.

Several big "Jersey days" several "open house days" at Shadow Lawn for women suffrage workers, numerous speeches in which the president will uphold democracy's record of the past four years, and an occasional rally in surrounding states by the presidential party will be some of the heavy artillery unlimbered.

Democratic leaders admit the campaign from their standpoint has been necessarily lagging the past week or so. But from the time the president gets back to the summer white house things are to be set humming. It is believed the president will be once more strenuously urged to make a western trip.

The first political porch speech will come on Saturday when the president will address the Businessmen's League of Trenton. The same day he expects to receive a delegation of child welfare workers who will thank him for getting the child labor bill through congress.

Monday the president goes to Baltimore to address the National Grain Dealers' association.

The president spent a quiet day on the train. Upon leaving Columbus, S. C., last evening after the burial of his sister, Mrs. Annie Howe, he was accorded a remarkable tribute. Several thousand persons gathered at the end of the train. As it pulled slowly out, every man removed his hat and the women stood silent. There was no sign of cheering.

Entering his car, the president said: "That was splendid." At all other points where crowds met the train the same silent greeting was accorded the president.
