Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

STATE NEWS

Oregonian: On Labor day, Frank Gansender of 244 1/2 Yamhill street was in the mountains above Hood River. He discovered a three inch shell in a pine log on the hillside. While cutting it out he discovered another. George H. Himes, of the Oregon Historical society says the shells were probably fired in 1850, or about March 20, at which time there was a battle fought in the mountains near Hood River between the Indians and Lieutenant Phil Sheridan. The Indians forced Sheridan and his little force of less than 20 regular soldiers and some settlers to fall back, and only the possession of some light artillery averted the savages into keeping it respectful distance. Afterward Sheridan routed the Indians, and the settlers were unmolested. Lieutenant Sheridan afterward became the famous general of the Civil war.

Hood River, Ore.: Richard Burnell and Clarence Smith, aged respectively 15 and 16 years, are the most youthful truants ever apprehended by local authorities. The two boys, taken into custody by night officer Harry Bailey as they alighted from a through freight train, claim Harwood, Wis., as their home. The older had says his relatives are all dead, but the younger says that his grandmother, his only surviving relative, is aware of his journey to the west, the land of opportunity, where the boys hope to find work and secure an education.

After a good meal from city marshal J. K. Carson, the two travelers were allowed to proceed on their way. They stated that they expected ultimately to reach Redding, Cal.

Oregon City: All the members of company G, Oregon regiment, who were in the employ of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, will receive their old jobs again upon being mustered out by W. P. Hawley, Sr., president and general manager, at the time the boys enlisted a few months ago. The Crown-Williams Paper company, which had 12 to 15 of its men in company G, also made a similar announcement, and will take its men back.

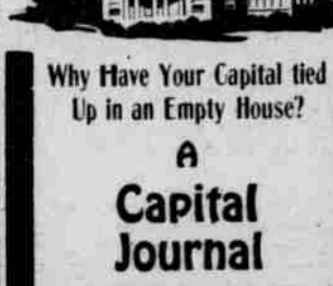

He Threw the Bottle His Sister Is Dead

Denton, Texas, Sept. 27.—Furney Sebastian, age 16, found an empty bottle while he was picking cotton in a field near here.

Boy like, Furney imagined he was a grenadier in the European trenches. He threw the "grenade" at an "enemy trench" several yards away—another row of cotton.

Furney's 16 year old sister, Fay, rose in the "trench" just as he threw. The bottle struck her in the forehead. She died half an hour later.

Proficiency, Anyway.
"Did the new chauffeur fill the bill?"
"No; but he came near filling the hospital."

Billings Denies Plot Against Duponts

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—Warren K. Billings, convicted of planting the death bomb at Stewart and Market streets on July 22, today denied a story from Denver that he had plotted to blow up the Dupont Powder plant in 1915.

V. V. Graves, a pioneer in Denver, was said to have implicated Billings, in the alleged plot.

"I met Graves in Denver," said Billings, "and we jokingly suggested going to the German consul and trying to pick up some easy money. I never heard of the Dupont Powder works in Denver.

"I was arrested twice in Denver, but only on suspicion. The police admitted they had nothing on me."

Some Letters That Will Never Get There

Mis-directed letters received at the Salem postoffice are posted on a bulletin board under cover in order that he who runs may read. Within the past few days the following mistakes have been made by those who failed to put a return notice on their letters and cards: The letter to Mrs. Albert Weismiller, Monticello, will not be delivered, as the writer forgot to mention which state, and there happens to be quite a lot of towns by that name in the country. The dead letter office will try to figure it out unless claimed here.

A postal card, with no address reads: "Dear Dad; Arved here O. K. and looked at about forty houses, etc.," but dad will never get that postal card.

Even the "Nixie" man, who is supposed to know everything, could not forward the letter addressed "Mrs. May Dalton, Calif. Ore.," as there is no such town in the state. And there is an envelope of official size carefully addressed with a type writer by "Principal of Schools, Broadman, Ore.," and the party who was so careful in the address failed to write a return notice in the upper left hand corner. Hence, the dead letter office will get it next.

One Death Caused by Explosion at Marshfield

Marshfield, Ore., Sept. 27.—One man was killed and two injured in an explosion which wrecked a clothes cleaning establishment here.

Frank Arant, engineer at the Chandler hotel, was torn to fragments when flames collected in an empty gasoline reservoir, blew up. James Faulkner was hurled through a wall. Jay Doyle, owner of the place, was enveloped in flames.

The injuries to Doyle and Faulkner will not prove fatal.

CATHOLIC HOME BURNED

Quebec, Que., Sept. 27.—The Roman Catholic home at Beaumont, near here, was destroyed by fire early today. There were upwards of 200 children and aged people in the institution at the time but all were safely removed. Later reports stated. The loss was placed at about $50,000.

Czar Nicholas of Russia, has a watch made from scraps of metal and etc.

THE MARKETS

The following prices for fruits and vegetables are those asked by the wholesaler of the retailer, and not what is paid to the producer. All other prices are those paid the producer. Corrections are made daily.

There is nothing new to relate to the markets today as the grain market has steadied and the same may be said of livestock.

Eggs are showing an upward tendency although the price between various commission men and the grocers vary about three cents.

Two Hundred Drop Out Exhausted by March

Anthony, N. M., Sept. 27.—The division of 13,000 Pennsylvania guardsmen began the third leg of a hundred mile desert hike with 200 men unable, from exhaustion, to continue the march today. When the column went into camp last night, the entire division was without food until long past midnight. The three hundred supply wagons accompanying the marchers had become stalled in the deep sands of the desert. Scouts were hurriedly sent back to locate them and at midnight the supply trains were dragged into camp by mule teams.

In the meantime the hungry soldiers had bought up everything eatable in this arid hamlet.

The infantry covered 15 miles over the desert road yesterday while the cavalry and artillery detoured, making twenty miles.

Just before the start of the hike Monday one colonel equipped his men with new shoes. As a result, the soldiers suffered severely from blistered feet and their commander drew the criticism of General Clements for his carelessness.

Wheat Shades Down Due to Active Selling

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Wheat dropped today on active selling and continued unfavorable weather in northwest Canada. September down 7-8 at $1.84 1/2; December down 1-5-8 at $1.52 5-8; May down 1-5-8 at $1.52 7-8.

Corn started firmer, but fell off later with wheat due to light buying and unsettled weather over the corn belt. September up 1/4 at 87; December down 3-8 at 72 5-8, and May down 1/4 at 70 1-8.

Oats were a shade lower, on light buying. September was down 1-8 at 45 5-8, December down 5-8 at 47 3-4, and May down 5-8 at 31.

Provisions averaged slightly lower.
