TEACHERS INSTITUTE OPENS THIS MORNING

A feature of the educational work of the state that is beginning to crowd old style farmers out of the ranks of blue-ribbon capturing is the industrial club work now being fostered in the public schools of the state. The story of the growth of this movement was told this morning by H. C. Seymour, of Corvallis, at the opening of the Marion County Teachers' Annual institute, which convened at the high school at 10 o'clock under the supervision of County Superintendent W. M. Smith. About 350 teachers were present.

Mr. Seymour declared that the young men and women of the state are beginning to press the old-time blue-ribbon winners hard in their skill in growing fruits and vegetables and raising hogs and chickens. Already he said they were taking ribbons away from their fathers and even giving whole neighborhoods advice regarding the proper methods of culture or feeding. And this condition has arisen out of the work of the school industrial clubs.

Interest in these clubs is growing rapidly, he informed the institute, and people are asking more and more about the work. It is expected that this feature of school education will become more important as the value of it is recognized by parents and educators. He showed how the beginning was made by two boys in the south a few years ago and how it has spread until there are now over 18,000 boys and girls taking this training in the United States.

It has been found, he stated, that this is a means of bringing the teacher and the parents closer together and arousing a keener interest in the pupil in things affecting his future and every day life. The training afforded is valuable in that it teaches the boy to follow a schedule, to make reports, to observe, to think, to know how and why he does a thing. Mr. Seymour said he found that the interest of the boys and girls in this work is keen once they understand it, and they enter heartily into the spirit of it.

He outlined the methods of organizing clubs, of securing advisers, of arousing interest and keeping, and many other phases of the work, and at the close he was roundly applauded.

Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, president of Willamette university, followed with an address upon a selected subject.

The institute was formally opened by the singing of "Holy, Holy, Holy," under the leadership of Charles Jones, after which County Superintendent Smith took charge.

This afternoon the primary, intermediate, and advanced departments will be discussed by Elizabeth C. Riecker, Ethel Merriam, and E. A. Miller on the respective subjects of "Numbers," "Picture Study," and "School Children Play Too Much." E. F. Carlton talks on a selected subject in relation to the high school, and Lee W. Grimm and Alice Estes speak on "How to Make the Parent-Teachers' Association Efficient." These will occupy the platform from 1:50 o'clock until 2:40 o'clock.

Short talks are scheduled for Elizabeth C. Riecker on "Busy Work," Lulu Walton and J. H. Collins on "The Personality of the Teacher," J. F. Axley and Mrs. E. H. Balknap on "Methods of Teaching Self-Reliance," Edwin T. Reed on a selected subject, and H. C. Todd and Gladys Carson on "How Should the Teacher Keep Abreast of the Times?" After a short recess Edwin T. Reed will address the institute on "The Things That Are More Excellent."

Thursday morning the teachers will assemble at 9 o'clock.

Postoffice Shows Increased Receipts

Postmaster August Hockstein announces an increase of over nine hundred dollars for the quarter just closed over the same period for last year. The sum is divided as follows: Stamps and stamped paper $16,248.02; second class matter $875.38; third and fourth class matter $1,287.70; box rents $87.53. A surplus of $8,000.83 after all bills were paid was sent to Portland. The expenses were: salary of postmaster, $825; salary of clerks, $1,377.47; carriers, $4,545.75; special delivery fees $100; rent of cancelling machines $23.75; and miscellaneous expenses $12.40.

The Dallas lodge is expected to send over a special car to aid in the celebration.

A careful and earnest administration in the office of city recorder is my plan if I am elected. J. A. Mills, candidate for city recorder. (Paid adv.)

Should the car shortage become much more acute, and no cars be available for the Spaulding Logging company for a period of ten days, it would practically cause the saw mill here to shut down. This would result because the lumber would pile up in the yard until it would be choked. So far there is no relief in sight. The company has ordered 47 cars and in two days has received none.

Register at the city hall and vote for J. A. Mills for city recorder. Two years in the city council makes him familiar with the work. (Paid adv.)

First indications are that the shortage in registration for the coming election will be more than made up by Saturday night, when the time for registration expires. Beginning tomorrow the office of the county clerk will be open at noon and after supper for the convenience of those who cannot register at other times. A continuous stream of people has been passing through the registration department today.

SALEM Y.M.C.A. ELECTS BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Regular "Experience Meeting" Follows Evening's Regular Program

Dr. H. C. Epley, Dr. B. L. Steeves, W. T. Jenks, Paul B. Wallace, and A. A. Lee were last night unanimously chosen directors of the Salem Y. M. C. A. for the next three years. The election was held in the association banquet room, where many similar events have been held, in connection with the annual members banquet. The meeting was presided over by President W. L. Staley. The report of Curtis B. Cross with the results of the work of the nominating committee was made and accepted and the election declared unanimous.

President Staley introduced L. H. Compton, secretary of the association and battalion adjutant for Major Abrams, who declared he was glad to get back to work after his journey in "furrin' lands" down by the border. He said he was pleased with the progress of the work during his absence and gave due credit to those who remained with their shoulders to the wheel. He said it was a hard blow for the association last spring when Major Abrams and Corporal Wallace and about twenty other members went with Company M to the Mexican border. However, with the return of everyone safe and sound, it is hoped to make this year a record breaker in every line.

Rev. James Elvin sandwiched his talk in between numerous witty stories and stirred up gales of laughter. For the serious side, he told of his experiences with the Y. M. C. A. in Toronto and Montreal, Canada, and showed how the genial home-like spirit of the association exists everywhere. He declared that the association men here were as fine a bunch of fellows as one would wish to find anywhere. He said that the first association on American soil was started in Montreal, Canada.

Dr. Epley, one of the newly-elected directors, was called upon for a toast and said he brought one with him but it had all turned to gray. He thanked the association for the honor conferred upon him and said he esteemed it a high privilege to work in the ranks with such earnest men.

O. B. Gingrich, physical director, on whose shoulders the burden of work fell while the secretary was away, said that the outlook for the physical department looked much brighter since the return of Company M. Without those boys, he said it seemed like a funeral among the association rooms. Now the outlook is brighter than ever. He told also of the activities of the summer and stated that the picture taken of the high school teams of last winter would appear in the Y. M. C. A. handbook and go to all parts of the world.

Major Abrams told of his experience with the associations in Los Angeles and San Diego and the camps on the border. He told the assembly that the Y. M. C. A. had fifteen shacks or "huts" stretched along the border line from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. In the camp at Imperial Beach, a wooden hut forty feet by eighty was built, a piano, phonograph, reading and writing tables, free paper, and free movies were installed for the soldier boys. He showed how versatile the membership was when it was decided to start school classes and teachers for subjects from writing to differential calculus were found whose instruction was recognized by the Oregon State Educational authorities. For those things he was thankful for the association.

Corporal P. B. Wallace, another newly elected director, said he believed the Y. M. C. A. made a great impression on the twelve hundred Oregon men and he thought the work done for the soldier boys was the best piece of advertising the Oregon association ever did. He reminded the company that the financial campaign for the ensuing year would be opened next week and that plans were being laid to do everything up brown.

Members of M company then sang some of the songs sung while camped on the border and brought rounds of applause from the banqueters. After the announcement that the high school games start tonight for the winter season, the session adjourned.

MINISTER AVISON MAKES STRONG TALK

Points Out Duties of Citizenship to Class Seeking Naturalization

"The man who fails to exercise the right of suffrage should be deprived of that right."

"Every citizen should vote without fear or favor."

"Liberty not regulated is bondage at its very worst."

These statements stood out in an address delivered by the Rev. Richard N. Avison, of the First Methodist church of Salem, before a class of twenty applicants for citizenship in Judge William Galloway's court this morning. It was an address well worth the hearing by any citizen, but was more particularly directed at those who are about to assume the duties of citizenship, and here strongly upon the responsibilities assumed by the citizens of such a government as the United States, which is a government of and by the people.

Avison was followed by District Commissioner of Naturalization Smith, who was present for the purpose of assisting Judge Galloway in the examination of the applicants.

"This government," said Commissioner Smith, in the course of his remarks, "demands undivided allegiance. There is too much talk about hyphenated Americans. There is no such thing."

Both addresses were interspersed with applause, in which the applicants for naturalization joined heartily.

Following is a list of the candidates: Fred Lorentz, Shaw; Stephen Rohls, Leifer, Gervais; Edward Fandrich, Joseph Blase Breitenstein, Sublinity; Pettr E. Thomsen, Turner; Joseph John Walker, Charles Le Brun, Woodburn; Ernest Harold Hunt, Jacob William Anderson, Salem; Syver Monsen Strand, Silverton; Robert Franz Gielich, Salem; Johan Julius E. Baumgartner, Stockton, Cal.; Hans Herman George Geortzen, Turner; Alva Louis Gordon, Jefferson; John William Spencer, Salem; Eudon Fritz Slade, Salem; Daniel Mathewson Ratcliffe, Woodbury; James Clarence Gibson, Macleay; David Osborne Freeman, Sublinity.

Over 600 Tickets Sold For Salem Lyceum Course

Announcement was made this morning by Glen J. MacCubbin, manager of the Salem Lyceum course, that over 600 tickets have been sold for this winter's series of six platform attractions.

More than 200 tickets were sold to Willamette university students alone yesterday morning and over 100 spoken for today by the teachers now attending the Marion county teachers' institute.

The high school will be ravaged next Monday morning.

"From present prospects," said Mr. MacCubbin, "it looks as though the entire house will be sold long before the opening attraction appears on October 24. Reservations for tickets should be made at once."
