An automobile so badly torn up that the make cannot be ascertained lies wrecked on the Slough road south of Salem, according to report, near the Frohmanier farm. No one knows anything about the machine, news of which was brought to Salem about 11 o'clock and the ownership is a mystery. How the machine came to be in that condition is also a mystery. Efforts to locate information concerning the wreck proved unavailable this afternoon although the telephone to undertakers and garages was kept hot. The hospitals reported no victims of an accident, nor was any information given to the police that shed any light on the problem.

John DuBois, of the state engineer's office and Frank Fickley, of Ladd & Bush's bank, were elected captains of the first ball teams of the Salem Y. M. C. A. that will contest throughout the winter. It is expected that the captains will choose their teams today from the association membership. In the pick-up game last night the Mallet Heads defeated the Bald Pates by the score of 10 to 9. The Bald Pates held the lead until Dr. McIntyre joined the Mallet Heads. Then the tide turned, with the above result.

S. E. Howard of 1237 Marion St. just received ten tons of California honey, raised by his son of Doyle, California, which is for sale at 12 cents per lb.

Final efforts to end the campaign of members of the Salem Y. M. C. A. are being put forth today by both Generals Rowland and Elliott. Fifty renewals are needed today to insure success. Letters have been sent out to all former members urging them to renew their allegiance to the association before 9:30 this evening. A silver cup is to be awarded to the side winning the contest. Clinton Ostrander of the boys' department, has been in charge of the Salem end of the game.

H. W. Elgin, son of a pioneer of 1852 and a veteran of the Indian wars of '55 and '56, will greatly appreciate your vote for city recorder, 6 years experience as deputy. Primaries Nov. 6, 1916. (Pd. Adv.)

Leads in the front and top of the Derby building at the corner of Court and High streets are being repaired. This accounts for the scaffolding on the Court street side of the building.

J. A. Steele, of Toronto, Canada, dealer in seeds, is traveling throughout the Willamette valley investigating the car shortage and this morning called on Harley White, of D. A. White & Sons. Mr. Steele says that the car shortage is getting more and more serious and getting to be a proposition of deep concern to shippers. He says cars cannot be secured for love or money and that no relief is in sight. Heretofore, in visiting Oregon he had the misfortune to come during the rainy season and had a bad impression of it. Now, however, he says the Willamette valley looks better than ever and the farmers more prosperous than ever. He said that if he owned Paradise, he would rent it and come here to live.

Captain Rosenberg, of the Salem Rifle club, and a number of members expect to go to the rifle range at Finzer tomorrow for rifle practice. The course the club shoots is that of the National Rifle association which is similar to that of the government for the army and national guard. So far one expert has qualified, two sharpshooters, and eight marksmen, while some of the men who never shot a rifle before are learning to shoot.

Salem, 27,850; Eugene, 27,200. That is the standing of the two Y. M. C. A. battling for supremacy in the membership contest that will end tonight at 9:30 o'clock. General Rowland has 14,700 points and General Elliott 27,500. With the lead of over eight thousand over Eugene this morning, the Salem boys are confident of winning the contest, although it is expected Eugene will throw her strongest strength in at the last.
