GRANT CORBY

Democratic Candidate for District Attorney for Marion Co.

Facts which the voters should consider. Marion county is the second largest county in wealth and population in the state. The only means of enforcing the law is through the courts. Marion county has the strongest bar in the state, except Multnomah.

which is considered destructive of good society, and in the promotion and construction of industry, education and civilizing influences. I recognize the absolute right of the public to have these laws enforced. There will be no quibbling on my part, over technicalities or negative tolerance of crime or violation of law.

Respectfully submitted, GRANT CORBY, 409 10 U. S. Bank Bldg. (Ed. Adv.)

There is rare opportunity for young men who are interested in wireless telegraphy, telephony, photography and electricity offered by the signal corps of the army just at this time, according to Sergeant French, in charge of the army recruiting station here. He says that good hearts are open for men who have a knowledge of gas engines and motors and who have experience in handling government property.

the signal corps and get technical training from experts. The sergeant says this branch of the army is becoming more and more attractive to the young men of the country as they see its possibilities.

A. C. Barber, who is fishing on Mile creek on the Lower Rogue river, sent yesterday a beautiful specimen of steelhead trout to Hauser Brothers sporting goods house for exhibition. The largest trout weighed seven pounds and is one of the finest seen in Salem for some time. It measured about 24 inches from tip of nose to tip of tail and while in the show window at Hauser's was the center of admiring groups of sportsmen.

You cannot vote for all of the seven candidates for city recorder, so kindly select one and if it is the undersigned he will greatly appreciate it. Yours truly, J. A. Mills. (Pd. Adv.) oct12

"The Little Girl Next Door" closed its run at the Grand last night. The picture was seen during its stay by hundreds of Salem people. Like most popular plays "The Little Girl Next Door" is a bit tiresome in places, but it is thoroughly well worth seeing and carries a moral that cannot be too strongly impressed upon the public mind.

The Good Templars held a very interesting meeting last night at their hall 267 S. Church St. Plans were laid for greater activity in the coming election.

A barn on the ranch of G. A. Anderson, about five miles north of this city, was burned this week. Sparks from the fire were the cause of the burning of two straw stacks on an adjoining ranch. The barn contained about ten tons of hay. No insurance.

Attention—If you have registered at the city hall within two years you need not register for the primary nominating election, November 6th. If you have not registered as stated above, it will be necessary to register to vote at the coming primary. Registration open to October 21. I would like your support. Earl Race, candidate for city recorder.

According to figures compiled by the state highway department to show the traffic borne by the Center street bridge, the old structure is doing pretty heavy work for a condemned bridge. Last week 4474 automobiles, 3331 motorcycles, bicycles and pedestrians, 140 head of livestock and 2185 horse drawn vehicles passed over it.

A call has been sent out by Russell Brooks, of the Willamette university law college, for a meeting of Willamette university students of the republican persuasion to be held next Wednesday night in the rooms of the Hughes alliance on High street for the purpose of organizing a Willamette university republican club. It is proposed to enlist the university students in the campaign and raise enthusiasm. The club will be exclusively for Willamette students.

Salem musicians are planning their second annual concert and ball. This year the event is to be bigger and more elaborate than last. It is probable that the orchestra used last year will be augmented so that Salem dancers will be given a rare treat. Committees have been appointed and are as follows: General, Albert Mickelson, John Graber and Ivan Martin, decorating; W. B. Riehl, Tracey Hatch and Miss Jay Turner; music, H. N. Stoudenmeyer, Lillian Stege, Bert Russell and Martha Swart.

A suit following loganberry harvest attracted some attention in the court of Justice of the Peace Webster yesterday afternoon. I. N. Bales, a loganberry grower near Brooks, was defendant in the action. The contract which Bales had with his pickers included the payment of a bonus to all pickers who stayed through the season. Mrs. Carrie Eaton, plaintiff, insisted that Bales pay her this bonus, although she had not stayed through the season, having been called to Portland by sickness in her family. The suit was decided in favor of Bales.

Funeral services over the body of Albert Houck, who died at his home on Market street Monday, were held this morning at Rigdon & Richardson's undertaking parlors by Rev. Day, of Portland. The service was brief and consisted of a scripture reading, prayer, song and a short talk. The funeral party left Salem about 9:45 o'clock for McMinnville, where the funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment was in the South Yamhill cemetery. At the graveside the L. O. O. F. lodge were in charge.

Mrs. Monroe Gilbert, of the Frame Shop, leaves Salem Thursday to act as a judge of art exhibits at the Willamette Valley fair, which is held in Albany this week. Mrs. Gilbert received the invitation to act as judge from Miss Gordon Gardner, of Albany, who is connected with the art department of the fair. Miss Canfield was in Salem during the Oregon state fair to act as judge of art and textiles. Miss Jessie Holcomb, who was formerly with the Frame Shop, who has returned recently from a stay at Fort Dodge, Iowa, will accompany Mrs. Gilbert.

Recruiting for members for Company M, Third regiment, United States National Guard, is to be carried on with vigor from now on and Lieutenant Dana H. Allen, and Corporals Paul B. Wallace and Errol Proctor were appointed a committee last night at the regular drill to look after the matter. According to the new army bill that went into effect on July 1, the men receive pay for drills and parades. Also, young men 18 years of age are not required to have their parents' consent to enlist. In accordance with the plan to give lunches after drills during the winter, the men enjoyed a light lunch after their work last night.

Jessie Barkhurst, Rex Burnett, Jess Kephart, E. B. Crank, Bert Lytle, Frank Reveall and R. E. Brown were found guilty this morning in Justice Webster's court of having on September 17 a deer of the first year, or a fawn, in their possession. They were apprehended on that date on the Abiquan river by O. B. Baker, of McMinnville, and Roy Bremner, of Salem, deputy game warden. Immediately after the verdict they gave notice of appeal to the circuit court. Jess Barkhurst is accused of resisting an officer according to a complaint filed October 2. The complaint was an issue of the apprehension of the fawn. The trial will be held in the justice court on October 28.

PROPOSES WHOLESALE COMMISSION HOUSE

Would Have Place Where Farmers Can Meet Merchants for Trade

What may develop into a new and profitable institution in Salem was broached last night by J. W. Jones, advertising manager of the Capital Journal, at the meeting of the Business Men's league, when he suggested the establishment of what is known as a wholesale commission house, or commercial center where farmers could bring their produce and sell it direct to the merchant without peddling it.

This suggestion was well received by the merchants, as they realized some means was necessary to bring them into closer touch with the farmer. With such a center in operation, the merchants would be in duty bound to get their produce there. In return for their produce, the farmers would be issued coupons on any merchant they wished and so facilitate local trade.

This method would eliminate the mail order business to a great extent and keep money at home where it belongs. This feature, Mr. Jones declared, was what the merchants had to fight against and which was doing considerable harm to the upbuilding of the city and the good feeling between the merchants and the farmers. With this system in operation, the farmers would not feel it necessary to send away their money and patronize outside firms.

Mr. Jones stated that the show windows of the merchant and the newspapers were the best advertising medium good advertising copy must attract, interest, and convince. He declared the advertising must be backed up by good quality of product and service.

L. H. McMahon, independent candidate for district attorney, followed Mr. Jones and heartily endorsed his plan for a commercial center. The result was that a committee was appointed to look into the feasibility of the plan in all its details and report back to the league.

C. M. Eppley, who attended the state convention of grocers held in Pendleton recently, reported that the next convention would be held in Salem. Accordingly he said there was a movement on foot among the Salem grocers to organize and prepare to receive the coming guests.

The committee to look after the produce exchange is composed of F. W. Steusloff, chairman; Wm. Galsdorf, L. H. Westcott, W. A. Denton and L. H. McMahon.

Some Fish Story About a Wild Duck

Walter Fisher, parcel deliverer of this city, who is found at the Commercial Book store occasionally, is responsible for the following fish story, which is about the best of the season. It appears he went out hunting recently with a friend, whose name he will not divulge, and while the two were north of Salem near the gravel pits they saw a duck wing its way before them. They shot at it and it dropped. It was not dead, however, and one of the boys picked it up and stuffed it in his game bag, which hung at his back. The bird was not injured by the shot fired at it and they determined to keep it as a decoy.

After a short time hunting the bird recovered consciousness and squirmed itself free from the bag and winged its way to freedom. The two boys shot at it again but never touched a feather and Mr. Duck is as free today as when hatched. Because Mr. Fisher refuses to divulge the name of his companion it is believed by his friends that it was he who had the duck and let it escape.

CAR SHORTAGE CUTS OFF SUPPLY OF APPLE BOXES

Hood River, Ore., Oct. 11.—The car shortage is affecting the harvest of Hood River apples, as it is impossible to secure delivery of sufficient boxes on many orchard places to care for the crop.

"We need 4,000 boxes at the Maxwellton orchards on the east side," said "and I know of numerous other ranches who are not able to get their orders on containers."

The Apple Growers' association says that enough boxes were ordered. The 1916 apple crop will probably reach the million-box mark. Seven weeks ago the tonnage was placed at 900,000 boxes.

Silver Lake Leader: The sheepsman of this district are separating their sheep preparatory for fall delivery. Some will be taken to Klamath Falls and others to Bend. To avoid the 100-mile drive in the last, the buyers demand the sheep delivered at the rail road terminals this year. It may be that next year all stock from this section can be loaded on cars at Silver Lake, which will end all dusty and wearisome drives.

Jefferson County Record: Prineville, in voting $100,000 in bonds to aid financing the construction of a railroad from the main line of the Oregon trunk to that city by a vote of 55 to 1, is the greatest achievement it can give the world that it wants capital to come there and invest, and that it is willing to back its invitation with an investment of its own.

The boys at the city fire department feel that the figures recently printed as to fire losses in Salem during the past several months are somewhat misleading. Salem has been given credit for all the fires which have occurred in the Salem district. As a matter of fact, the fire losses within the city limits have been almost nothing during the summer, and the local fire eaters are entitled to more credit than the average reader not familiar with the facts is disposed to give them.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets. If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a lead taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.
