State House News

Reports of the Southern Pacific company to the public service commission concerning the car shortage states that there is a total shortage of 2005 cars on the division north of Ashland. This is a slight decrease from the report of October 17. The general increase in the seriousness of the shortage is shown by the report of October 2, which states that then there were 1437 cars short.

Articles of incorporation of the John Day Stock company were filed this morning with the state corporation commissioner. The incorporators are Lyle Beeny, H. P. Whitney and J. R. Bailey, and they propose to operate and manage stock ranches, deal in cattle and horses and farm products. Their capital is given at $25,000.

The report of Lincoln Savage, Josephine county school superintendent, has been submitted for the school year 1915-1916 to the state school superintendent. Reports from various counties it is expected will all be in shortly. Superintendent Savage reports general conditions good and that a campaign for better school houses, better lighting, heating, and ventilation has resulted satisfactorily. He reported that it has been difficult to get district boards interested in standardization of their schools but with the splendid co-operation of the teachers and the pupils four schools have now been standardized. The industrial work he said was moving slowly as it was easy to organize but hard to keep up interest during vacations. He declared this phase of the subject needed "follow up work."

Prowler Enters the Dunsford Residence

George Dunsford, of 533 South Liberty street, caretaker of the grounds and parking at the state house, had his house entered last night by persons as yet unknown. Mr. Dunsford at present is at Newport on his vacation. Nothing so far as is known, was taken, although a suit of clothes might have been lifted without disturbing the articles surrounding. Officers White and Varney investigated but found nothing disturbed and they are of the opinion the woman who walked on the porch frightened the intruder away before he had time to make any haul. The woman, a neighbor, told

DIVORCE QUESTION TO THE FRONT AGAIN

Episcopal Delegates Tackle What Cleveland Called an "Innocuous Desecration"

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 19.—The important divorce question in the Protestant Episcopal church conference, which was killed in the house of deputies last Saturday, may again be brought before the ruling bodies of the conference. It was learned today that the house of bishops, the "senate" of the church legislative body, in secret session during the night, had practically decided to bring the question before the bishops for action.

The proposed new canon, which was defeated last week, would have prohibited the marriage of any persons who had been a party to a divorce for any cause whatever. The present canon permits the marriage "of the innocent" party of a divorce decree. The present law was ruled in order for at least three more years by the deputies when they in body refused to concur with the clerical members. The proposed canon was defeated after a two day debate.

It was said the canon may be taken up by the bishops because the lower house has not officially notified the upper branch of its action last week. It is thought the question will be voted on some time next week.

If the house of bishops passes the resolution for a new canon, it will be sent back to the deputies for concurrence. Its fate in the lower house is not known, but some of the "pro" campaigners said they had a better chance to go it through than last week.

The defeat of the question Saturday was attributed to the fiery speech of the Rev. Melish, of Brooklyn, who arraigned wealthy couples, who, tiring of their mates, were divorced and remarried. He said he favored the canon if it would affect only these persons, but opposed it because it would also prevent the remarriage of women who had been abandoned by their husbands. Brooklyn's socialist minister could not be found this morning, but his friends say he would undoubtedly again be lined up against its passage.

The officers she saw a man in the house, and that the up-stairs was lighted up. She told the officers she went to the door and that she found the glass broken which fact frightened her. Then she said the light up-stairs was snuffed off.

It is the belief of the chief of police that this job was also done by James Murray, the escaped trusty from the penitentiary, as this house is located only a short distance from that of E. V. McNeelham, on Mission street.

"JOINT ACCOUNT WAS CAUSE OF HILARITY

Bank's Refusal to Honor Checks Started Cyclone in Business Circles

Mrs. R. W. Shields, wife of an Amity Ore, barber, had an interesting time in Salem yesterday. So did the chief of police, and so did E. T. Barnes of the Barnes Cash store and the manager of Woolworth's Ten-cent store. All this because Mrs. Shields drew checks on what she termed was a joint account of her's and her husband's in the Amity bank.

E. T. Barnes cashed two checks, one for $25 and one for $15, and then found that the bank at Amity would not honor them. He was also informed that Mrs. Shields had no account with the Amity bank. Woolworth's also cashed a check amounting to $4.35. Altogether she cashed checks amounting to nearly $45.

Chief of Police Welsh, who had met Mrs. Shields earlier in the day when she entered a vigorous protest against the way in which the O. C. T. company conducted their boats in leaving earlier than they said they would, was notified by Mr. Barnes that her checks would not be honored in Amity. She was taken into custody and, bundles of purchases and all she was taken to the police station, where she gave highly-colored specimens of her vocabulary free rein.

She protested volubly and in picturesque language that did not falter at strong words that she was not doing any wrong, and that she had a right to write checks on her joint-account. She was sore at everything, and smiled and frowned and berated her husband, the city, and everybody with lightning-like rapidity of change.

She declared her actions in cashing the checks and buying all the articles was under the advice of attorneys. She said her husband — well, she was excited and her opinion will not be repeated. She offered to give her note to Mr. Barnes for 30 days but he could not accept it. She berated him also and when she called up her husband at Amity she started in to give him a red-hot tirade, which caused the telephone operator to cut her off to protect the wires. Chief Welsh told her that sort of stuff would not get her anywhere, and she wanted to know what they would have her do.

Mr. Barnes wanted his goods back, and she began to tear the bundles open and throw suspenders, neckties, socks, combs, silks, buttons, shoes, and other articles of wearing apparel out of the packages. She took off her hat, pulled combs from her hair, and piled them to be checked. Then it was found she had $31.50 from Mr. Barnes. By this time the police matron notified Woolworth and a representative was over

GERMAN SUBMARINE SUNK SAYS OFFICIAL

British Steamer Gets Message --Think It the Troublesome U-53

Norfolk, W. Va., Oct. 19.—A German submarine, possibly the U-53, has been sunk off Nantucket, according to a message the British steamer North Pacific claims to have received. The North Pacific is taking on bunker coal here today.

Although she arrived here Monday night from New Orleans, the North Pacific did not report receiving the message from what was said to be a British cruiser until today. The message read:

"German submarine sunk east Nantucket."

Officers of the North Pacific said the cruiser was lying off this coast.

A London cable to the United Press a few days ago said a sudden reduction in insurance rates on trans-Atlantic shipping by Lloyds had aroused speculation as to whether the U-53 had been sunk, captured or had returned to a German port, it being believed that the reduction was ordered because Lloyds had received "inside information."

The merchants did not wish to prosecute as they had recovered their goods. She was anxious to get away from Salem, said she had been trying to get away since 9 o'clock in the morning, but later in the evening she was released and allowed to go her way.

immediately to the police station to get their goods.

SANTA FE MAIL TRAIN HELD UP BY BANDITS

Bliss, Okla., Oct. 19.—A posse today is scouring the country north of here for six bandits who last night held up Santa Fe mail and express train number 405, shot and killed Express Messenger Percy A. Norman, dynamited the safe and escaped with an unknown amount of money.

A desperate fight is expected if the bandits are located as they were heavily armed and did not hesitate to kill Norman when he showed fight, and to shoot a baggage man who failed to keep under cover.

Flugging the train as it sped through the 101 ranch, the masked bandits uncoupled the engine and express car, ran them down the track, threw the express safe from the car and dynamited it.

Throwing their booty in a waiting automobile, they raced for the hills. Some trainmen estimated the loot at $10,000. Railroad officials, however, were authority for the statement that the robbers got no money from the express car.

this fall.

J. W. Maroney, president of the Salem Floral society spoke in favor of a water system for the city, bringing water from Clear-lake. He believed that several cities in the valley would cooperate with Salem and that the expense of a new water system for the city would probably not be more than $2,000,000, to be secured by the voting of bonds.

The financial condition of the Commercial club is becoming better each month, according to the report of Manager McDaniel. There is a balance of $2767.11 in the bank and members are paying their dues promptly. The overhead expenses of the club have been reduced by half and from a financial standpoint, the club is in better condition than at any time since its organization.

Upon the completion of the inland waterway connecting Havre with Marshfield, freight charges will be but half of the present rate.
