W. C. T. U. NOTES

A most interesting and profitable study of prophecy was conducted by Mrs. Frank E. Frickley at the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. Tuesday afternoon, October 17. Tracing the history of nations from England to the present time as foretold by prophetic symbols in the books of Daniel and Revelations, Mr. Frickley rehearsed the historic events of the same period, showing the marvellous parallelism existing between the historic and prophetic records. The persecuting powers of the dark ages, from 538 to 1798 A. D. She declared, according to an almost unanimous agreement among eminent students of the same, to have been symbolized in the thirteenth chapter of Revelations by the beast with seven heads and 10 horns; which was "to persecute the saints of the most high, think to change times and laws, and to be given power over all nations, kindreds, tongues and peoples for a time, times, and the dividing of time," a prophetic period of only one thousand two hundred and sixty years. This time period was fulfilled in the period during which church and state united in murder and robbery of those whose conscientious convictions prevented them from yielding submission to the religious laws existing from 1798 to 1798 A. D., a period of just 1260 years.

The two horned beast of Revelations 13 she declared to be the United States, which coming into being with those two glorious principles of religious and civil liberty (symbolized by the "two horns like a lamb" which this beast possessed) shall yet speak as the dragon (that persecuting power described in Rev. 12 as a great red dragon) which symbolized pagan Rome.

This she declared would be accomplished by the union of Church and State in the enactment and enforcement of Sunday laws which are religious laws, which will constitute the erection of the image of the beast which represented the united church and state of the dark ages. The prophet states that the two horned beast shall make an image of the beast preceding it and shall "cause that all, as many as would not worship the beast should be killed," that "all" should receive a mark in their right hand or in their foreheads," and that "no man might buy or sell save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name."

This condition will be fulfilled in the enactment of religious laws in the form of Sunday laws, which discriminate against a people who conscientiously observe Saturday as the Sabbath, and who regard the observance of Sunday as the mark of the beast above referred to in Rev. 13:16 at that time when such observance of the Sunday Sabbath becomes the great distinguishing difference between the two distinct classes of religious worshippers, the one class, Sunday keepers, the persecutors, and the other class, Sabbath keepers, who observe the Sabbath of the decalogue, the seventh day, the persecuted, never have persecuting powers be an Christian in spirit whether Protestant, Catholic or Pagan in name. Always they are of anti-Christ in whatever form, place, or time they may operate. The spirit of Christ, Truth and Righteousness is never manifest in murder, robbery, even when legalized by the state, but must always fulfill the righteousness of the law.

Rom. 8:4 and bring forth the fruits of the spirit of love which maketh no ill to his neighbor. Rom. 13:10.

The afternoon study closed with an exposition of Rev. 14:9, 10, 11, in which the mark of the beast, against which the whole Bible are directed, was shown to be the assent to that doctrine enshrined in the forehead on intelligence and manifested in the right hand symbol of obedience to the doctrine and religious observance which shall distinguish the religious persecutors of this generation from those persecuted for conscience sake.

Vote 312 Yes for the repeal of the old Sunday Blue Law.

Next Tuesday the ladies of the W. C. T. U. will hold their monthly social meeting at which a silver tea and a pleasing program will provide entertainment to members and guests.

GARRANZA FORCES WHIPPED BY VILLA

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 21.—That Pan-shard wyy evhkgkj jph cho Villa and his followers had met Mexican de facto troops in a decisive battle yesterday outside of Chihuahua City was confirmed today from various sources. Agents of two United States departments here made reports today that the result of the engagement was another defeat for the Carranzista forces, who were driven back in a smashing attack by the Villistas.

At Carranzista military headquarters at Juarez, a brief report admitted a clash between the bandits and General Ozama's command, but claimed a victory for the Carranzista forces. The de facto commander claimed that Martin Lopez, one of Villas chief lieutenants, was killed in the engagement.

Natives fleeing from the Cusihuiriachic district say that the bandit chief is searching for all merchants who sold food to Pershing's American expedition, with the intention of killing them.

Court House News

An appeal from the judgment of the Marion county court in the matter of the application of a widow's pension of Hattie E. Sharp, R. F. D. No. 3, widow of William H. Sharp, was filed this morning with the county clerk, and in the appeal she takes exception to the award of $15 made to her for the support of her six children, three of whom are under 16 years of age. The case was heard by the county court on September 11, 1916, and the award of relief made. She asserts she has one cow, three pigs, chickens and household goods, and a dower interest in 12 acres of land. The six children are Earle E. Sharp, Claude C. Roy A. Orville E. Kermit R. and Harold H.

Alleging that the sum of $191 rightfully belongs to her and that it was entrusted to the defendant to be delivered on her order, Edeline Elsner has brought suit against Roy W. Dilley and the Capital National bank to restrain them from withdrawing the money from the bank. She further alleges that Dilley is insolvent and refuses to return the money and plans to divert it to his own use. She says she has no adequate remedy at law and asks relief of the court of equity.

An action to recover money alleged to be due on a note amounting to $1,877.50 was begun in the circuit court this morning by R. R. Young against Mattie A. Parrish. The plaintiff asks judgment and for the sale of the mortgaged premises.

Quinaby News Notes

(Capital Journal Special Service)

Quinaby, Or., Oct. 21.—The farm house owned by Mrs. F. J. Bolter of Portland, and occupied by her son, A. M. Bolter and family, near Brooks was destroyed by fire last Wednesday. Although occurring in daytime the blaze, which is presumed to have started in the kitchen, was under such headway when discovered that nothing was saved. The building which was one of the well made farmhouses of the country was well furnished, and among the things of especial loss were several paintings and a piano which cost $1,000, having been one of the first five brought around Cape Horn before the day of railroads. Mrs. Bolter with her children were visiting in Portland and Mr. Bolter was talking with farm help some distance from the house when the blaze was discovered. The building had carried insurance for many years but it is said that the policy ran out the day previously, but it is believed that something may be collected. The fire occurred the same day and hour when a brother of the young man who lost by the fire had seen his engine crash into the automobile of P. A. Hix at Chemawa crossing, and who received a second shock when he saw the smoking ruins of his old home.

Clover hulling is progressing throughout the country with satisfactory prices offered. The crop is excellent is being a second growth from that cut for hay earlier in the year, much of which was spoiled by the excessive rain at that time.

Chester Larsen has gone to Hood River to assist with the apple harvest in that section. The attractive prices offered for that work causes farm help to be a little scarce in this section at present.

May Perkins states that the Journal correspondent was in error regarding his having purchased an automobile. He says that he has no time to run one. That should make no difference—a lot of other people haven't time, but they do anyway.

Potatoes, apples and onions are the last crops to be gathered and the yield is proving satisfactory, with a shortage in the onions which is compensated for by a better price than usual.

THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

The bones, the muscles, and all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood.

If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased; the muscles become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity, and there is inability to perform the usual amount of labor. The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and other eruptions appear.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequalled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today. All druggists.

DRESS UP WEEK IS LATEST CLUB VENTURE

Club Inaugurates and Merchants Will Back Up Unique Scheme

"Dress Up Week" for Salem from October 30 to November 4 is the latest undertaking of the Commercial club, backed by the enterprising merchants of the city.

During that week, special efforts will be made by the leading merchants of the city to impress their patrons with what is the latest in fall styles, and this will be done by attractive window displays and special offerings.

To interest the school children in "Dress Up Week", prizes for the best essay on a subject to be selected by a committee will be offered. The subject and rules for the contest will be arranged by George Fox, chairman, Louis Lupton and O. E. Hartman.

Another feature of the week will be the offering of a valuable trophy for the most artistic window display, and as Salem has several window dressers who have already taken prizes at contests, there will be considerable friendly rivalry as to who's in window dressing in the city. Hartman Bros. jewelry will offer a $30 loving cup as a prize and the decision will be made by non-interested parties. The committee in charge of the contest is composed of O. A. Hartman as chairman and S. A. Kafoury, Byron Noid, A. M. Cabler and J. W. Jones.

The committees from the Commercial club in interviewing the merchants yesterday met with a favorable reception and practically all the enterprising houses of the city will show their interest in the week and contribute their share in the way of offering special bargains and letting the people know of the fact by additional advertising.

Art Studio Draws Lovers of Beautiful

An encouraging interest was taken by the people of Salem in the opening of the art studio of Datus Myers Friday evening in the Baker building on the southwest corner of Commercial and Chemekeka streets. The opening of this studio is considered to be an important event in the art life of the city of Salem, and is believed to be the beginning of a line of endeavor that will lift the city into the rank of art appreciators.

The exhibition of paintings and sketches was excellent and awakened keen interest. The predominant note of the exhibit was given by a beautiful Russian rug and a piece of cloth of gold which came to Mrs. Myers from Nanking, China. Autumn leaves filled the corners of the room.

Among the notable pictures shown were "Oaks in Autumn," an Iowa scene that took a $75 prize from the Englewood Woman's club, Chicago, and a painting that won second place in a competition for a Rome scholarship. Besides these there were dozens of sketches of Oregon scenes—at Cascadia, and on the Santiam—which aroused a great deal of interest.

Mr. Myers plans to open his night class in life studies next week.

ROOSEVELT FINDS

you newsboys," he urged, turning to the correspondents, "to let 'em all know I'm for Wilson."

"You're a grand fighter," said the colonel, laughing, "but I always knew your politics were for color."

Another to meet Roosevelt at Gallup was Captain J. W. Peters, who said he led the only company of the Seventy-first New York that went up San Juan hill. It was Peter's urging that finally decided Roosevelt to stop at Prescott today.

"Bucky'd be so glad if he knew it," urged Peters.

The fun really started at Clovis, N. M., where Roosevelt got out to stretch his legs. He was talking to the correspondents when a shriveled, old man walked up unostentatiously and stood alongside. The colonel turned to him with: "Howdy, comrade, what's your button?"

replied the man, as he did gymnastics with a monstrous tobacco cud and his tongue.

"Why, you were next to the Riders at San Juan," said the colonel.

"So we was," he replied. "I'm glad you remember. Ain't had that 75 mile ride this morning for nothing?" and he solemnly shook hands, got on his pony and galloped back to the plains.

Roosevelt struck a strong democratic center at Belen, N. M. This is a railroad division point. Wilson pictures were literally thrust under his nose, but he paid no attention until 11 year old Doris Gore held one before him as he was mounting the ear.

"You're too pretty a little girl to have such a picture," he said, patting her plump arm.

"Oh, I ain't neither," she answered.

At this the crowd sent up a shout: "Hurrah for Wilson!" and the colonel called back: "Hurrah yourself, and this time for Hughes!"

The colonel rests in Phoenix tonight, leaving early tomorrow morning for Albuquerque, where he speaks Monday.
