Director Holds World Is in "The Grip of Evil"

"The Grip of Evil is right," growled the usually urbane and sunny Sherwood MacDonald, who is directing the Pathe release, "The Grip of Evil" as he trained his binoculars on one of those high fogs that occasionally infest the sunny environs of Long Beach, Cal., where the studios of the Balboa Company are located.

When asked why he was of that opinion, he replied:

"Here Jack Beach has everything prepared for that big scene in 'The Grip of Evil' four hours ago and not a foot of film has been run yet. Then I had two blow-outs coming to the studio; my wife's pet cat was sick all night; the water in the ocean was too cold this morning for me to take a dip; my neck is sunburned to a blister and I'm hungry. Talk about the grip of evil—I know all about it. It's got me."

"The Grip of Evil," which MacDonald is directing, will be released by the Pathe Exchange. The latest release will be seen here at the Bligh theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday.

(Capital Journal Special Service.)

Fruitland, Ore., Oct. 19.—M. M. Ransom has installed a telephone in his home. And now Mr. or Mrs. Rublerneck you have another chance to play the sneak listening to what don't concern you.

A few nights ago Carroll, who is now runner for a new harem firm, was the subject of about every old kind of noise. One would have supposed the harem was burning or the yeast jar had exploded and the fire alarm had been turned in with every kid yelling and every old cow bell ringing. But all is now serene and congratulations of Doris are extended.

Mrs. Monson, of Hollywood, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Nina Bressler, of this place.

L. C. Rautenburg is sawing wood for some of the neighbors.

Last Friday morning, the 13th inst., occurred that sad accident chronicled by the local press. A family has been called to mourn the instant and untimely death of a loved wife and mother, Mrs. C. M. Matlock, of Salem. Mrs. Mona Matlock, formerly Miss Moun Simpson, of Fruitland, was also very severely injured at the time. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Simpson of this place. The Capital Journal seems to have not been informed of her injuries and narrow escape from death. Her right shoulder was badly crushed and collar bone broken, also her right ear

WILL BREAK JITNEY MEN

Portland, Ore., Oct. 21.—Jitney bus men declared today they would be driven off the streets if the city council framed the ordinance it contemplates. The proposed law prohibits jitneys from paralleling trolley car lines, which has the effect of ejecting them from the principal thoroughfares and excluding them from the downtown district.

BIRTH CONTROL CLINICS

New York, Oct. 21.—Margaret Sanger, known from coast to coast as a birth control advocate, has established America's first birth control clinic here today. Mrs. Sanger said that not only will the police, who are looking for her clinic, fail to find it, but she will soon establish four others here and open clinics in all the large cities in the country.

Market Irregular But Prices Higher

New York, Oct. 21.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Trading in stocks was in heavy volume throughout the list of prominent issues, with especial activity in United States Steel common which sold up one point in the initial operations. Other steel shares joined in the advancing movement, while the equipment and sugar securities moved into higher ground, both Cuban cane sugar and American beet sugar going to new records.

Realizing liquidation was well absorbed but at times it was heavy enough to bring about price reactions in the leading stocks.

Speculative adjustments incident to the end of the week were responsible for the irregular tendencies in the last hour of business. The market's general tone, however, was firm, with exception strength in Central Leather, which advanced more than four points.
