MOTHER DIES IN EAST.
Manlius, N. Y., Oct. 27.—1916.—Mrs. Mary Jane Wheeler, aged 93, died at her home here Thursday as the result of grief over the death of her son Thomas two months ago. She leaves three sons, two daughters and a brother. One of her sons, Charles Wheeler, resides at Salem, Oregon.
Charles Wheeler lives on route 9, Salem, and this dispatch received by the Capital Journal was the first news he had of his mother's death. He is expecting further particulars by mail.
A CORRECTION.
In a recent issue of the Journal in a column with the report of a W. C. T. U. meeting was printed vote 312 yes.
The writer had no authority for this and the W. C. T. U. wish it understood that their organization does not stand for the repeal of our present Sunday laws.
The good housekeepers who were not forehanded enough to lay in a fair supply of flour will be obliged to pay five cents more a sack for all kinds of flour, beginning next Monday when the price of the best hard wheat flour will be $2.50 a sack or $10 a barrel.
Familiarity breeds contempt. It is much easier to forgive the enemies of other people than our own.

Edgar M. Rowland, who has been in Portland and Seattle for the past week, has returned to Salem. After November 1 he will take charge of the Beaver Printing company's business as proprietor. He has been the owner of a half interest in the business and has recently acquired the other half from his father, L. S. Rowland, who will work in the state printing office after the first of next month.
Wonderful laundry work—Since February the Salem Steam laundry has been using the electric process in their washroom. To demonstrate, see two shirts at Joe Haines' store window, 305 State street. After six washings they are hardly distinguishable from new shirts of the same pattern. Why not get the best laundry work to be had. It costs no more. The Salem Steam laundry, oldest, largest, best. tf

The funeral of the Oregon pioneer, William H. Brunk, who died Friday at the age of 73 years and 11 months, will be held next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Christian church and will be conducted by the Rev. F. T. Porter. Burial will be in the City View cemetery. The son W. H. Brunk, Jr., will arrive Sunday from Oakland, California. The death of Mr. Brunk was the first of seven brothers, the youngest now being 82 years old.
The Potato market and in fact all farm produce markets are in rather an uncertain condition on account of the lack of shipping facilities. On top of all the car shortage, comes the announcement of the North Pacific steamship company that no more shipments will be received from Portland to San Francisco until they have shipped the freight accumulated on their docks. In other words, this amounts to an embargo on farm products shipments to the south for about two weeks by the water route.
Judge William Galloway will entertain the Moose next Tuesday evening with an address telling of his recent trip to Tennessee and other southern points.

Heretofore it has been held in January and at this meeting the time of holding the exhibit will be decided. George Shaw is president of the association and Walter H. Smith secretary.

The rain of yesterday morning that threatened to break the drought in this section, didn't amount to much of a rain after all. The government's gauge at the O. C. T. dock recorded only .40 of an inch and that is all the rain that has fallen since September 9. The range of temperature for yesterday was from 67 to 40 and the coldest recorded last night was 36 above. There is no change in the gauge of the river.
The public is cordially invited to attend a free lecture on Christian Science, to be given under the direction of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Salem, by Bliss Knapp, C. S.
