For Circuit Judge
The Man Who Stands By the People

Keep Oregon Money at Home
How much thought have you given to the slogan of the Brewers,
"Keep Oregon Money at Home, Save the Hop and Allied Industries?"

Do you know that the Oregon hop is almost entirely an export crop; that in their most flourishing days the Brewers of Oregon used only a small percentage of the hops grown in the State? This percentage is estimated to equal not more than two per cent. When local buyers are without orders from eastern hop markets, did you ever know of a local brewery coming to the rescue of the grower and purchasing his crop?

The market for the hop is entirely an eastern and foreign market which has not been affected in the slightest degree by the fact that Oregon has gone dry. The present low price of hops is occasioned not by a boycott as the Brewers would have you believe, but by the fact that the Foreign Governments, now at war, have placed an embargo upon the importation of hops into their countries for the reason that it is necessary that their ships of commerce bring to them only products of some actual food value.

The opening of breweries in Oregon would not increase the price of hops to any perceptible degree. From a financial and an economic point of view the only persons who would be benefited in the least are the owners of stock in Oregon's several Breweries. These are the men who are actually interested in this measure and not the NURSING MOTHERS and the INVALID whom they contend are in need of their product.

If you would keep Oregon money at home and at the same time provide a fair and equitable distribution of this money, prohibit the brewer from manufacturing beer and from selling it to the poor laboring man whose money is needed to feed, cloth and shelter his family.

Give the family of the poor laboring man an opportunity to spend his wages for the necessities and comforts of life, rather than take those wages out of legitimate channels of trade to eventually enrich the coffers of the Brewer.

Did you ever know of a Brewer who was actually compelled by financial circumstances to go hungry? How many of his customers and customers' families could you name who have been exactly in this condition? They have an even break now. Let it remain as it is.

KEEP OREGON MONEY AT HOME AND GIVE IT AN HONEST AND FAIR CHANCE TO WORK.

Vote 315 X No.

KEEP OREGON MONEY AT HOME BY PROHIBITING INTOXICATING LIQUORS FROM BEING IMPORTED INTO THE STATE FOR BEVERAGE PURPOSES.

Vote 316 X Yes.

Marion County Dry Committee, William H. Trindle, Chairman.

CAMPAIGN IN EAST

here alone Tuesday on the verdict which the American voter registers at the polls. There was a rush to get money down today while the odds fluctuated fractionally around 10 to 7 1/2 on Hughes.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, former president and leader of the exodus from the republican ranks four years ago, made his last appeal in behalf of republican Candidate Hughes at Bridgeport, Conn.

Although the colonel has several times heretofore bade farewell to politics, his closest friends believe this Bridgeport address may mark his valedictory in active participation in politics.

Of picturesque interest in the kaleidoscopic jumble of the "last minute" activity was the share of the windup contributed by the women. The special train of women orators of the Hughes alliance stopped its 11,700 mile trans-continental journey last night. Its feminine speakers were called into service for numerous stump talks here in New York today.

In the democratic camp, the women's bureau sent women cartoonists over the city, drawing campaign pictures to illustrate points made by women stumpers.

DEMOCRATS CLAIM

smaller communities of the Pacific coast, the campaign managers of both great parties tonight will bring their campaigns to a close with mass meetings in the larger cities.

Interest runs high. While Chester H. Rowell, national republican committee man from California, today declared that a careful canvass shows that Hughes will carry this state by 50,000, the Wilsonists countered with the statement of O. K. Cushing, chairman of the democratic state central committee, this morning that the president will have a majority of at least 25,000 in California. Governor Hiram Johnson addressed two meetings here in behalf of his senatorial candidacy last night. Tomorrow night the women backers of Hughes will fire their final shot at Wilson with a mass meeting.

The final Wilson rally in California will be tonight's gathering here, at which Susan Walker Fitzgerald of Boston, will preside and Dudley Field Malone of New York, will be the principal speaker.

Outside Pupils Must All Pay Tuition

People who do not establish a legal residence in Salem will be asked to pay tuition for their children who attend the public schools. This was the position taken by the board of directors at the meeting last evening. Even if the family lives just across the river, there will be no exception, and such pupils coming from Polk county will be asked to pay $41.33 for the year's schooling, in addition to the $40 paid by the county.

The building committee was instructed to proceed with several changes in the heating system of the Washington and Grant junior high schools. The work will be done by Nelson Bros.

A request was made to the board by

W. C. HAWLEY

Republican and Progressive Nominee for Congress, will speak at the Grand Opera House next Friday evening on the political issues of the day. Congressman Hawley stands well with his colleagues of both the great parties, in both House and Senate, and from all sections of the country. Senator James L. Bennett (Republican), Representative Bennett (Republican) of New York, says: "The West has no Representative in Congress who is more respected or more influential than Mr. Hawley." Representative Carter Glass (Democrat) of Virginia, stated that he had come in contact with no person who had rendered "more valuable service in the solution of this question" (Rural Credits). Chairman A. F. Lever, of the Committee on Agriculture, a Democrat from South Carolina, said of Mr. Hawley while speaking in the House: "He is one of the best and wisest men in the House."

Market Inactive as Election Approaches

New York, Nov. 4.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Naturally little was expected of today's short session of the stock market, with the disinclination of traders and public alike to take an active position prior to election. There was little in the overnight news developments to affect the course of prices one way or another. It has been repeatedly remarked upon that very rarely if ever before in a presidential year has the stock market so largely ignored a matter of such vital importance to the country, the shaping of its destinies for four years to come.

Trading in today's market was quiet and prices of the leading issues in both the industrial and railroad departments were little changed although there was a tendency to softness through lack of any buying support worthy of the name. United States Steel opened 1/8 below the Friday level, moved for a time closely around 120 1/2 and then slipped easily down to 119 7/8. These movements of the market's leader quite accurately illustrated the movement of the general list with but few exceptions.

The W. C. T. U. to place all the school children of the city in the prohibition parade Monday afternoon and the prohibition meeting later at the armory. After considerable discussion, the board unanimously agreed that it would be unwise to grant the request or to dismiss the schools before the usual hour in order that the children might participate in the meeting.

Falsehoods Circulated by Political Enemies

The Grand Lodge of the Ananias Club has permanent headquarters in Salem, with Dinky Dink in charge, in order to smirch the noble character of Max Gehlhar. What one may hear regarding falsehoods circulated by a few in order to hurt the candidacy of Max Gehlhar for district attorney cannot at this time bear weight. His record as an efficient and accommodating county clerk has never been questioned—he is so popular among the masses that his election to the office of district attorney is conceded by all.—Turner Tribune Oct. 26, 1916.

Will Use Good Judgment
Max Gehlhar is gaining votes every day. The people know he is able, honest and accommodating and will use good judgment in conducting the office. He will discourage bringing neighborhood and family rows into courts and thereby save much money to the taxpayers. He deserves your support and you will be glad you gave it to him when you see what a good official he makes.—Editorial, Jefferson Review, Oct. 20.

Will Win Sure
If popularity and efficiency have any thing to do with the election of a man to public office, Max Gehlhar will be the next district attorney as sure as the sun shines.—Stayton Mail, (Paid adv.)

H. W. ELGIN

Candidate For City Recorder
A Letter to the Public

The purpose of this open letter to the Voters of Salem is to remind you that I desire your votes at the City Primary election to be held Monday, November 6th, from 8 o'clock in the morning until eight o'clock in the evening.

There are seven candidates for the nomination for the office of City Recorder. The fitness for the office and the personal record of the candidate should determine the way each person should vote, and to put you in possession of facts which I hope will influence you to vote for me I am addressing you in this manner as my routine work as deputy recorder prevents me from making a personal appeal to many people; and it is also necessary that I should appeal to you in the most economical manner.

For the past six years I have been the clerk in charge of the books and accounts of the city, and during this period more business has been done than covering a period of many years previously. If I may be permitted to say with modesty the work has been more fully and painstakingly executed than during any other period in the city's history. Each year the books have been audited and their accuracy proven publicly. I have from time to time performed the duties of Recorder and all of the city business has been closely under my observation and attention. My experience has therefore fully qualified me to do the work of City Recorder. My faithful service to the city and experience are my main recommendations to you in this contest for the office.

Most of my life has been spent among you, and my personal reputation needs no comment from me or anyone else to satisfy you.

I therefore confidently submit my candidacy to you in the hope and expectation that you will put the seal of your approval upon my work and either nominate or elect me at this time to the office of City Recorder as a reward of faithful service rendered to you.

Respectfully submitted,
(Pd. Adv.) H. W. ELGIN.

A MAN OF CHARACTER

Max Gehlhar, county clerk and candidate for district attorney, is without doubt the best known, strongest and most popular candidate in the county campaign. He has served the county faithfully. He has saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars. He is always courteous and accommodating; always on the job; and in his campaign for district attorney is resorting to no unfair methods to influence voters, but is conducting a clean, dignified, honorable campaign. He will conduct the district attorney's office in the same manner. Voters should not be fooled by the frantic appeals to prejudice made by a small but noisy class opposed to Gehlhar. He is a candidate who has made no promises, and owes no allegiance to any ring or faction. He will enforce the law fearlessly and efficiently. No Marion county official ever stood higher in the confidence of the electorate than Gehlhar, and none has ever deserved that confidence more. His ability, his energy, his loyalty to the people, his quiet demeanor, his genial disposition and general popularity are features of his character that not only insure his election as district attorney, but also presage higher political honors if he cares for further political preferment. A. M. DALRYMPLE

For

City Recorder

Please remember that the city recorder is also police judge and presides over the police court. If I am elected to this office it shall be my earnest desire to so conduct the police court that no boy or girl who may be unfortunate enough to get into its coils shall ever be done an injustice. I will apply Twentieth century methods in the matter of dealing with all juvenile cases. No child will be thrown into the city jail or recommended to the reform school so long as there remains any other way to dispose of the case in conformity with the law. Many a boy has been made a criminal through the stupidity of some officer.
