Arrangements have been made with the Western Union Telegraph company by which the Commercial club will be served with the latest election news as it comes over the wire. In order that members of the club and their families may receive the news, the club will keep open house during the evening. The messages will begin to come in about 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and from that time on until midnight, the latest off the wires will be posted in the club. And just to make the evening pleasant, a luncheon will be served about 10 o'clock.

More music, more home. The Souara, better tone. Myrtle Knowland, 421 Court.

A. E. Houston, formerly with the Capital Journal, who left the chasing of news to go to the Mexican border for the purpose of chasing Villa and who returned with Company M a bronzer and husky corporal then when he went, today signed up with Uncle Sam for a four year tour of duty with the United States Marines, the "Soldier of the Sea." Corporal Houston likes the military service better than he does the job of pushing a pencil. He signed up this morning and will go to Portland Wednesday to complete his enlistment. From there he will go to Mare Island for 14 weeks of schooling in marine service. He is deferring his trip to Portland so he can cast a vote for Wilson Tuesday, for when he gets into the service he will be in a position where he cannot use his franchise as a citizen.

Health and industrial insurance will be discussed by the members of the Polk-Yanhill-Marion medical society at their next meeting to be held at the Madison hotel tomorrow evening. This is a subject that is being much discussed in all parts of the country and doubtless will soon be the subject of general legislation. The system essentially provides, as far as the labor classes are concerned for a universal lodge or contract practice under state supervision. The business of the evening will be the handling on the application for membership of Dr. Edgar A. Brown of McMinnville.

On the charge of cruel and inhuman treatment, Bessie L. Byers was given a divorce from William Byers today by Judge Galloway. She states they were married December 27, 1897, in McMinnville and that since then her husband has made life a greivous burden and that he has often assaulted her. There are no children. A divorce was also granted to Margaret Howard Murray from Charles E. Murray by Judge Galloway. It is stated in the findings of fact that the two were married in Vancouver, November 1913 and that there are no children. She alleges that he slapped her and caused her annoyance and humiliation, and that he neglected to support her.

Paste this in your hat or bonnet or in some other prominent place for reference Tuesday evening: Lights will be flashed in all Salem residences before 11 o'clock Tuesday evening to show who is elected as follows: If Wilson is winner, all lights will be put out for two intervals of five seconds each; if Hughes is elected, the lights will be put out for three intervals of five seconds each; if the election is in doubt by 11 o'clock, the lights will go out for four intervals. So here it is--if there are two dark periods tomorrow night, it is Wilson and if there are three, it is Hughes. This information is given by the Portland Railway, Light & Power company.

Election Returns Will Be Given By Capital Journal

The Capital Journal will be in direct wire connection with every large center of population in the United States. A flash from the New York offices of the United Press will be received in the Journal office more than 3000 miles distant almost instantaneously. Simultaneously it will reach the telegraph operators in Portland, Maine; New Orleans, San Diego and other points in the far corners of the country.

William F. Lynch, superintendent telegraph of the United Press in direct charge of the 70,000 miles of wires employed in the United States by this new organization, has sent forth the word "Speed and Accuracy" to the managers of the many United Press bureaus in all parts of the country.

Polls in New York, Maine, Connecticut and other eastern states close at 6 o'clock p. m., which, in view of the prevailing difference in time, will bring indicative returns to The Capital Journal shortly after 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. In the late afternoon significant bulletins will be posted in the Capital Journal bulletin boards.

The polls in Oregon will close at 8 o'clock. The returns will be read through megaphone as fast as they reach the Capital Journal over the leased wire, and will also be posted on the bulletin board.

An extra edition of the Capital Journal will be issued Wednesday morning and sent to all subscribers, giving the full election returns, local and general.

In telephoning for election returns to the Capital Journal office Tuesday night, call Main 81 or Main 82.

The Judge Hits Hard

Galloway Strikes from the Shoulder in Replying to the Snaiderous Circular Issued by R. P. Hutton of Portland.

If the people of the Third Judicial District want a judge who will decide cases to suit any individual, class or interest, regardless of law or fact; if they want a judge who will bargain and traffic in decisions to gain popularity; if they want a judge who can be controlled or intimidated--then they should vote for some one else. If re-elected I shall, as in the past, know neither "wet" nor "dry," Republican nor Democrat, friend nor foe, in the decision of any case. I submit my cause to all right-thinking women and men, regardless of party, class or creed; to the people who want fair fights and honest elections; to the people who detest the eleventh hour mut-slinger, the secret slinger and the liar; to the people who do not want their judges fixed nor their juries packed.
