University Notes

Scholarly and entertaining was the opening lecture of this winter's faculty course which was given in Walla chapel Monday evening. The subject "The Test of Education" was synonymous for that of interest and Dr. Carl Gregg Doney illuminated its various aspects well. The lecture was new to Salem, although Dr. Doney had used the same notes in his address before the Umatilla county Teachers' Institute at Pendleton recently.

In part Dr. Doney said, "The test applied to everyone is: is he bigger than himself? Is he master of himself and of large resources? We prove him by what he is and by what he does. The requirement is always that he shall be something and accomplish something. The great difference between men lies not so much in their capacity as in the use they make of their capacity. Any normal man can grow indefinitely if he wills it. To bring a man to full stature is not to add something to him; it is something taking place within him. It is not accumulation, it is assimilation."

Four requirements are exacted from the educated man if he is to meet the tests advocated: That he observe truly, think quickly, speak accurately and act wisely. "Every generation works out its own intellectual salvation, and unless a man comes to that attainment whereby he can think accurately he will wander in the maze of the his own self-delusions. Our poverty is mental, our imperfection is mental, and mental insufficiency roots itself in unclear thinking. There is no place where the call for wisdom is not heard, and to him who is able to reply there is rich reward."

"The educated man must meet the second portion of the great law of life and be able properly to give expression to himself; and the first essential of true self-expression is to speak accurately. To speak 'mere words' is to speak foolishly. There are no mere words. A word may be insignificant, or out of place, but the fault is not in the word; the significance or error is in the one who utters it. The language is the man literally not figuratively. Words are articulate forms of ideas; ideas are the man. A man cannot be big within and not give outward expression to that bigness. To the degree of his inability to express himself, he limits the resources and the development of his mind. If he cannot speak accurately, if he has no words to represent his ideas, he is thereby stifling the life that is in him."

"Furthermore, correct speech is an outer sign of an inward grace. It immediately commends one to his fellows. It admits his hearers into a closer intimacy than would be possible if his words were unfit, inappropriate and incorrect revelations of the man."

"You can prolong the test of the educated as interminably as you wish. It is the eventuation of life; and it reaches into every dream and ambition and fact of human experience. It lifts before us the fair vision of what one may become and what do. The four tests—these are the sign and seal of him entitled to bear the honors and receive the emoluments of an educated man."

Sessions of the men's literary societies were rudely interrupted last night when it became known that miscreants had lighted the huge mass of inflammable debris which the freshmen had assembled in preparation for the largest bonfire in history Friday evening. Two scores of willing workers soon robed the flames of their impending playground and only part of one pile was burned. The Websterians were discussing war at the time and its realistic presence was duly impressed, for the fire was a "crisis" to go big affair while it lasted. It will be officially set off next Friday evening as part of the big rally which is to usher in the pulverization of Pacific University's aspirations to non-conference honors next Saturday afternoon on the local Williamette gridiron. Patriotism is to be the keynote of the Atlantic literary society program for Friday afternoon. After a piano solo by Miss Carolyn Sterling, Miss Helen Wood will talk on "Our President." A vocal solo by Miss Evelyn Reiglennan is to follow and then Miss Nellie Patchen will relate "What I Saw at the Polls." Such interest in national affairs shows that university women are appreciating the rights of suffrage.

Fire broke out in the gymnasium Tuesday afternoon and the quick work of Coach R. L. Matthews was all that saved the building from a possible serious conflagration. As it was six jerseys and several pairs of shoes were destroyed as well as the walls being considerably scorched and blackened. The fire broke out near Ellsworth, Kan. The couple drove to Wilson, Kan., tied up the team and took a train for Denver. The arrest was made following discovery of blood-stained garments in the wagon at Wilson.

Mother-Made, Quick Acting Cough Syrup

Should be Kept Handy in Every Home—Easily Prepared and Costs Little.

Mother, you'll never know what you are missing until you make up this inexpensive, quick-acting cough syrup and try it. Children love its pleasant taste and nothing else will loosen a cough or clear cold and heal the inflamed or swollen throat membranes with such ease and promptness. It's equally as good for grown-ups as for children. This splendid cough syrup is made by pouring 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cent worth), into a pint bottle and filling the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50—a clear saving of $2. The moment it touches the inflamed, congested membranes that line the throat and air passages, the healing begins, the phlegm loosens, soreness leaves, cough spasms lessen and soon disappear altogether, thus ending a cough quicker than you ever thought possible. Hoarseness and ordinary coughs are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Excellent for bronchitis, whooping cough, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma or winter coughs. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol and is famous all the world over for its quick healing effect on the membranes. Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Fruitland Notes

(Capital Journal Special Service) Fruitland, Nov. 9.—H. C. Bressler has returned home with his painting outfit. It is an immense machine mounted on wheels, a cross between an auto truck and a fire engine. He did a large business in Corvallis and Harrisburg. The rainy season setting in he had to suspend operations till next summer.

Ruben Raymond and Mrs. Raymond of Monase, Wash., were lucky ones in the land drawing in the Skunogun country in the state of Washington. It was reservation land thrown open to settlers. They got 160 acres of fine land and are building and improving. Mrs. Raymond was formerly Miss Nina Bowers whose parents reside at Fruitland.

Bert Bressler has finished shingling his new barn. He used nearly 34,000 shingles. Election passed quietly at our precinct East Salem—polling place, Rieckey school house. Max Gehlar polled more votes than his two opponents Corby and McMahan combined. Wilson I believe carried the precinct.

We here in Fruitland are satisfied whichever way the presidential contest will be finally decided. Also we have not been severely hurt by that promised democratic landslide. Fruitland, Nov. 9.—Walter Runson, a Salem high school student of this place went with the foot ball team to Tillamook and McManisville recently. At the first named place Salem won, at the last named was defeated. Rev. Edward Stimpson, brother of Mrs. H. C. Bressler of this place, who formerly resided at North Yakima is now occupying the parsonage of the Evangelical church, corner of 17th and Cheneketa streets. Wilson By 7000 Majority San Francisco, Nov. 8.—Frank V. Conish, secretary of the Woodrow Wilson Independent League, this afternoon issued a statement claiming California for Wilson by 7,000 votes. New Hampshire for Wilson New York, Nov. 9.—The republican national committee this afternoon posted on its bulletin board the statement that by unofficial complete returns from New Hampshire, the state had gone to Wilson by 171 votes. Concession Withdrawn New York, Nov. 9.—George W. Perkins, a member of the republican national committee, speaking for the committee this afternoon said he had not conceded New Hampshire to Wilson despite the bulletin posted on the committee's board. Her Son Subject to Croup "My son Edwin is subject to croup," writes Mrs. E. O. Irwin, New Kensington, Pa. "I put in many sleepless hours at night before I learned of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need not fear this disease if they keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and use it as directed. It always gave my boy relief." Obtainable everywhere.
