Mr. and Mrs. Grady will give instruction in all of the latest ball room dancing, including the Two Step, One Step, Canter-Waltz and Fox trot.

The wrestlers and boxers of the Y. M. C. A. classes are getting into fine shape and feel that by the first of the year, or even sooner, they will be ready to give some public exhibitions, or even state challenges to those traveling in the same class. The wrestlers are under the instruction of C. E. Franke, former northwest champion, and the boxers are learning how to do, duck and hit under the teachings of L. H. Compton.

Mrs. J. G. Richardson, of 1355 State street, was elected chairman of Congressional district No. 1 of the National Woman's party at a meeting held this week in Portland. The party will reorganize to continue its campaign to establish universal suffrage through the passage of the Susan B. Anthony amendment. With the exception of the state department committee, the greater part of the officers elected are from Portland.

The mercury in the thermometer of the Oregon Transportation company went to the low notch last night of 24 above. This was the coldest this year since January 28, when the record was 23 above and January 27, with a record of 22 above. During the past 10 days the river has fallen from 4.5 feet above zero to 8 of a foot above. The range of temperature yesterday was from 49 to 27. There is plenty of ice on the slough but not enough for skating.

At the meeting of the directors of the Arabian Knights club held last evening at the Masonic temple, the evening of Monday, December 17, was selected as the date for the annual banquet and election of officers. There will also be exercises attending the introduction of new members. Dr. W. Carlton Smith is president of the club with its 80 members. For the annual event, Henry B. Thielsen, A. E. Strang and Fred A. Erixon were appointed on the banquet committee and on entertainment, Walter H. Smith, Hal D. Patton and Fred S. Byron.

Those who have suffered from the flooding of the Ferry street sewer may feel encouraged as street commissioner Walter Low has finally succeeded in locating the obstruction in the sewer. After making various soundings for the sewer after it leaves Ferry street in a northwesterly direction under the Spaulding Logging company's yards, the break in the pipe was finally located. The several sections of the sewer that had caved in will soon be replaced and no more trouble of flooding will be in store for the district near the intersection of High and Ferry streets.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC FILES ITS ANSWER

Says It Does Not Discriminate, and Oregon Gets Its Car Quota

Declaring that no discrimination existed on the part of the Southern Pacific railroad against the manufacturing industries of Oregon in favor of any other state, the Southern Pacific company this morning filed a reply to the nine specific recommendations made by the Oregon public service commission as a result of the commission's investigation of the railroad car shortage situation.

The commission recommended in this instance "that the discrimination now existing between the Oregon and California industries be removed at once" and the company replies that there is no discrimination. The findings of the commission to the contrary. The company says the imaginary lines of states have no effect on the furnishing of cars and that the company is just as anxious to protect the industries of one state as another and foster the industries there.

Regarding the replies submitted by Ben C. Day, S. P. attorney, the report goes on to say. Recommendation one asked that no steps be taken to compel the return of equipment from connecting lines. The company replies that it has left nothing undone to have the cars returned and since February 1 has been continually after foreign lines by letter, telegraph and personal request.

Recommendation two asked that an arrangement be made to make all company material as fast as possible during times when no car shortage exists and the company replies that it is the practice to order material in times of slack car demands as far as can be consistently done.

Recommendation three that immediate action be taken to secure an adequate supply of box and flat cars and the company replies that in December 1915 it ordered 3500 new cars and had they been turned out by the builders would have been received long ago.

Recommendation four asks for a car distributing bureau to care for the distribution of cars and the company states that the lines in Oregon are under the Portland division and in charge of an assistant superintendent of transportation, who has absolute authority over handling of equipment, and is assisted by seven men who spend their entire time on the road.

Recommendation five asks that proper steps be taken to secure proper routing of cars and the reply is that routing instructions accompany each car ordinarily.

Recommendation six asks that steps be taken to prevent loaded cars from being left on sidings after the passing of the first local freight and the reply is that only one such incident has happened.

Recommendation seven asks that all interstate demurrage rates be increased to the basis of interstate rates and the reply says that it is the desire of the company to have a high demurrage rate on state and interstate lines.

Recommendation eight asks that regulations be established that will prevent discrimination in furnishing cars due to manipulation of car orders and the reply is that a committee is engaged in full investigation of car distribution methods with the object of making the system as nearly perfect as possible.

George Eddy, who formerly worked in the mechanical department of Vick Bros. and who has lately been working in a garage at Pendleton, was asphyxiated Tuesday night, resulting in his death Wednesday morning. Mr. Eddy was on the night shift and had been running the motors to keep them from freezing. When the second shift came on, they found him unconscious from the escaping gases. As an account of the old, the doors and windows were closed. He was but 17 years of age and regarded as a first class mechanic with a brilliant future. His father, who was formerly in charge of the golf links at Finzer, lives in Pendleton.

The funeral services of Mrs. Blair Forward, who died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter E. Baker, at Atwater, Cal., will be held in that city with burial at Atwater. She is survived by Mrs. J. M. Densmore, of Pilot Rock, Ore.; Mrs. Walter E. Baker, of Atwater, Cal.; Chauncey Forward, of Brawley, Cal.; and Allen Forward, of Salem, Ore. Mrs. Forward was born in Ohio 75 years ago and came as a child to the Waldo Hills in 1892, where she lived until 1896. Since then, she had divided her time between Oregon and California. She was the widow of Blair Forward, who was sheriff of Marion county in the early '80's, and who died in 1896.

The Salem Baptist Brotherhood was organized at the Baptist church last evening. This is an organization of men of the church who will meet once a month to be addressed on subjects of general interest. Their next meeting will be held December 12. At the organization of the club last evening, the Rev. George F. Holt presided as toastmaster. The evening's program included a short address by Fred S. Byron, a vocal solo by Mrs. Theo. Roth, a solo by John Broer and the general singing of the Brotherhood song. "Every Man a Personal Worker." Theodore Roth was elected president, S. B. Elliott, vice-president, and H. N. McDaniels, secretary and treasurer. Four committees were appointed with the following chairman: W. F. Foster, membership; W. E. Jencks, program; J. T. Read, special and music; Albert Copley, visiting committee.

Wheat Opens Steady Goes Up Half a Cent

Chicago, Nov. 16--Wheat opened steady and advanced on later buying. The market showed confidence, evidently believing that requirements for wheat in Great Britain will remain heavy despite the attempt of the government to curtail consumption. December was up $\frac{1}{8}$ at \$1.87 $\frac{1}{2}$; May unchanged at \$1.93; July down $\frac{1}{8}$ at \$1.91 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Corn showed gains on good buying with December up $\frac{1}{8}$ at 97 $\frac{3}{8}$; May up $\frac{1}{8}$ at 98 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Oats were slightly higher, December was up $\frac{1}{8}$ at 58 $\frac{5}{8}$; May up $\frac{1}{8}$ at 62 $\frac{5}{8}$.

Provisions were steady.

Arrested for Shipping Booze into Oregon

San Francisco, Nov. 16--Charges of illegal shipment of liquor to Oregon have five San Franciscans involved, as E. M. Baker and David Gibbons, both managers of wholesale liquor houses today face a charge of conspiracies to ship unlabelled liquor into the dry state. Both are under indictment by the federal grand jury at Portland. It is expected both will fight against removal, as Lewis Rothenberg, another liquor dealer under indictment, is doing. His hearing has been continued, pending arrival of Oregon witnesses.

John Roeban and Thomas Jackson were given five days each in jail this morning by the police judge for being intoxicated. George Carlson was given a five days' sentence for begging.

This isn't exactly canoeing time of year, but just to keep their club house in condition for coming events, the Canoe club is having another roof placed on the house and other improvements made.

The Moose hall was filled to overflowing last night at the joint entertainment of the United Artisan lodge and the two junior organizations, the Junior Artisan band of 20 pieces made its first appearance in public, giving as a novelty, a saxophone quartette. The Junior Artisans of Portland will give a fair on the 15th and 16th of December and it is probable that several of the Salem Juniors will take part in the exercises.

Instead of electing officers at the annual banquet and initiation as has been the custom, a year ago the Christians decided to elect their officers the first Monday in December, whereby said officers would be prepared to preside at the annual banquet and festivities. Hence on the evening of Monday, December 4, officers for the coming year will be elected, and they will preside at the annual banquet to be given at the Marion Tuesday evening, January 2.
