

SOCIETY and CLUBS

By ALINE THOMPSON

WHILE the spectacular diversions of the leisure world occupy an important place in the public eye, it is interesting to know that society is by no means spending all of its time in the pursuit of pleasure, and that its serious concerns have not been lost sight of in the whirl of festivities that have characterized the past few weeks.

There are many at this particular time of year, who are devoting much of their time preparing boxes to gladden the unfortunates, and little ones whose hearts are filled with longings. The next month or so is dotted with dates for this or that entertainment for charity, and the preliminary work, which is being done right now, entails a vast amount of planning and effort. Society has had a diversified array of delightful events again this week, the most important of which was the artistic concert given on Tuesday night at the Oregon theatre by Miss Mary Schultz, assisted by several other popular artists. Salem folks showed enthusiastic appreciation of the popular little violinists art by turning out en masse to hear her in her farewell concert before her departure for the east.

Miss Schultz, who with Miss Nannette Bloom, another charming young musician left the middle of the week to study in Chicago, was perhaps the most clever young violinist in Salem.

She will be greeted during her absence, having been a conspicuous member of the Booth string orchestra, which furnishes the music for all of the smartest functions.

Among the notable events of the week was the dance given by the Monday night club at the Moose hall, the Harry E. Clays dinner dance for Miss Mary Creed Howard on Tuesday; the bridge-ten for which Mrs. A. Marvin Cahler was hostess Wednesday; Mrs. W. G. Allen's bridge on Friday and numerous club gatherings and small informal affairs.

A delightful event of yesterday, and one of the smartest of the week, was the bridge party for which Mrs. W. G. Allen was hostess.

The rooms were decked with beautiful fall blossoms, huge yellow and white chrysanthemums, fragrant roses and Oregon grape, being effectively arranged, making an artistic foil for the pretty featured matrons and maids circling the bridge tables.

Mrs. Allen was assisted by Mrs. J. N. Smith and Mrs. Rollin K. Page. Mrs. Allen asked as her guests: Mrs. Thomas B. Kay, Mrs. Rollin K. Page, Mrs. John D. Sutherland, Mrs. Henry J. Bean, Mrs. J. N. Smith, Mrs. Charles H. Robertson, Mrs. Lenta Westcott, Mrs. Richard Cartwright, Mrs. Robert E. Downing, Miss Ellen Thielson, Mrs. Grant Bunnell, Mrs. Frank G. Myers, Mrs. Edmund Carleton, Mrs. Edgar Hartley, Mrs. Frank M. Brown, Mrs. William Walton, Mrs. George P. Roe, Mrs. Edward S. Tillinghast, Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mrs. Asa Eoff, Mrs. Thomas H. Galloway, Mrs. Lawrence T. Harris, Mrs. Douglas C. Minto, Mrs. George Watson, Miss Edith Hazard, Mrs. William Hamilton and Mrs. William J. Liljequist.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Livesley motored to Portland Wednesday, returning Thursday night.

Miss Nannette Bloom, who is en route to Chicago to study music.

Foremost among the attractions of next week is the opening of the "Class Room Theatre" plays to be presented this season by Wallace McMurray, A. M., at the Grand theatre.

The premier play "The Golden Doom," a drama of symbolism by Lord Dunsany, will be an event of Wednesday night. The cast which will not be made known, includes "those students of the drama who are sincere enough in their love of the beautiful to give the interpretation a study and an appreciation which assure artistic results. The productions are personally directed by Mr. McMurray.

A feature of the evening and one that also will add to the artistry of the affair will be the solos by Hartridge Whipp, baritone, of Portland.

Many prominent members of society have already made reservations for the opening night of "Class Room Theatre" and several will entertain with box parties.

Among those who will occupy the boxes are: Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Burghardt, Jr., and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Channey Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Thielsen, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brown, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hofer and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lytle.

Mrs. S. C. Dyer and party, Mrs. John H. McNary, Miss Gertrude Gray, Miss Margaret Gray and Miss Mabel Robertson.

Miss Rita Steiner and her guests, Miss Margery Marvin, Daniel J. Fry, Jr., and Fritz Shade.

Miss Esther Carson and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Edgerton and Hugh McCannan; Miss Minnetta Magers and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Hartridge Whipp of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. John Todd, Doctor and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney and party and Mrs. Alice H. Dodd and party.

Mrs. Clyde C. Graham, who has been visiting in Portland for several days returned to Salem early in the week.

The Harry E. Clay's dinner dance Tuesday night to honor Miss Mary Creed Howard, the charming society girl, who left Thursday for an extended visit in the south, was one of the most elaborate parties of the season.

It was a very small affair, only a few of the younger set being asked. Mrs. Clay has the reputation of having delightful affairs and as a dinner there have been few quite so lovely.

The artistically appointed table was decked with fragrant roses, exquisite scarlet, rose pink and yellow ones all massed in a huge gilt basket and tied with bows of pink satin ribbon.

Corsage bouquets and boutonnieres of similar buds also marked the places. The guests were: Miss Howard, Miss Catharine Carson, Miss Rita Steiner, Miss Aline Thompson, Laurence Hofer, Daniel J. Fry, Jr., Albert Egan and Dr. Charles Loeding of Portland.

A wedding that will be of marked interest to University of Oregon students and many of the younger contingent is that of Hawley Bean and Miss Flora Dunham, of Portland, which will be a simple event of Tuesday. The wedding will be solemnized in Portland and will be a small church affair, only relatives and a few friends being asked.

Miss Dunham is a charming girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Dunham of Portland. She is a graduate of the University of Oregon from which college Mr. Bean also was graduated; and is a popular member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. The marriage is the result of a romance that had its beginning in college.

Mr. Bean is the son of Justice and Mrs. Henry J. Bean and a brother of Miss Grace Bean. He is a Kappa Sigma Fraternity man, being a member of that chapter at Eugene.

The Beans have a large ranch in Stanfield, Oregon, and young Mr. Bean spends much time there and will take his bride there to live.

Mr. Bean will arrive in Salem from Stanfield the first of the week en route to Portland, and will be accompanied by his sister, Miss Grace Bean, who has been visiting him for a few weeks.

A charming event of Wednesday was the smart bridge-ten for which Mrs. A. Marvin Cahler was hostess at her apartments in the Court.

Guests made up four tables of bridge and the card favors, which were awarded at each table, were exquisite French novelties. They were won by Mrs. Zadoc J. Riggs, Mrs. Ralph Glover, Mrs. William Lytle, Mrs. John D. Sutherland and Miss Eugenia West.

At the ten hour party was augmented by a few more matrons. The apartment was decked with an array of lovely pom pom chrysanthemums, an artistic color scheme of yellow being developed throughout.

Assisting Mrs. Cahler were Mrs. William Henry Burghardt, Jr., and Mrs. William H. Lytle.

Mrs. Cahler asked as her guests Mrs. Hartridge Whipp, baritone, of Portland, who will appear at the opening production of Wallace McMurray's series of Class Room Theatre plays to be presented at the Grand theatre.

John D. Sutherland, Mrs. William H. Lytle, Mrs. George E. Waters, Mrs. James A. Wilson, Mrs. Curtis B. Cross, Mrs. Clyde C. Graham, Mrs. William H. Burghardt, Jr., Mrs. Merrill Bruce Moores, Mrs. Zadoc J. Riggs, Mrs. George William Gray, Mrs. Homer Goulet, Mrs. Oliver C. Locke, Mrs. Everette Anderson, Mrs. F. E. Edwards, Mrs. James N. Murray, Mrs. C. G. Arnold of Portland, Mrs. Ralph Glover, Mrs. Charles Decker, Mrs. Romeo Goulet, Mrs. Elizabeth Lamb, Miss Allene High, Miss Lucile Belle and Miss Eugenia West.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Goulet entertained informally Friday night with a few tables of bridge for Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Bruce Moores, who have been here visiting relatives for a few months and are returning to their home in Portland next week.

The rooms where the card tables were arranged were charming with golden hued chrysanthemums and autumnal foliage.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Moores Mr. and Mrs. John Withycombe of Corvallis, Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Goulet, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ramp, Dr. and Mrs. Mark Skiff, Mr. and Mrs. William Belle, Miss Pearl Jones of Martinez, Cal., and Albert Egan.

About 20 prominent matrons were guests at the charming bridge party for which Mrs. Thomas B. Kay was hostess on Wednesday afternoon.

The affair was very informal, only the members of the Happy Hour club being asked.

Four tables were arranged for bridge and card honors falling to Mrs. John Griffith and Mrs. Henry J. Bean.

The residence was aglow with beautiful fall blossoms, shaggy yellow and red chrysanthemums being effectively arranged in the card rooms.

Mrs. Kay was assisted by Mrs. Charles H. Robertson.

Mrs. R. B. Houston left Friday night for her home in Santa Rosa, California. She was accompanied by her son, Eugene Houston, who will remain south only for a brief sojourn. En route they will visit in San Francisco.

One of the merriest affairs of the week was the informal dancing party given Friday night at the Jack Rogers residence in Lomand Park.

The affair was planned in celebration of the host's birthday and the evening's gaieties were rounded out with a supper.

About 18 merry makers participated in the festivity, the guests for the most part being married folks.

Honoring Mrs. J. N. Haas' house guest, Miss Lillian Slater of Portland, Mrs. Robert S. Gill was hostess for a pretty tea Tuesday. The affair was most informal and charming, only old friends of the visitor being asked.

Mrs. William H. Lytle presided over the prettily appointed tea table and Mrs. U. G. Shipley assisted in the serving.

Calling during the tea hours were: Miss Helen Deckebach, Miss Ellen Thielsen, Miss Margaret Goodin, Miss Beatrice Walton, Miss Beulah Fox, Miss Helen Wood, Miss Doris Churchhill, Mrs. George Post, Miss Berg, Mrs. Thomas Williams, Miss Margaret Jones, Miss Margery Marvin, Miss Myrtle Knowland, Miss Ethel Rupert, Miss Virginia Knowland, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Post, Miss Emily Griffin, Miss Gladys Steele.

Mrs. R. W. Sawyer and small daughter, Grace, who have been the house guests of Mrs. George Palmer Putnam for a fortnight, returned to their home in Bend Thursday.

Friday Mr. and Mrs. Putnam entertained as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers MacVeagh (Ellen Low Mills) of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson entertain-

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Waters were hosts for an artistically appointed dinner Friday night. Huge yellow chrysanthemums decked the table around which covers were placed for 12.

As a little farewell attention to Mrs. Jennie Chapman and her daughter, Miss Oda Chapman, who left Wednesday for an extended sojourn in Los Angeles, California, Mrs. R. S. Wallace was hostess Tuesday night for a charming dinner party.

Covers were placed for 6 around a table prettily adorned with blossoms. Miss Chapman who has always taken an active part in Y. W. C. A. affairs and has for several years been treasurer for the Physical Culture department of the association will be greatly missed during the winter.

Mrs. W. G. Allen entertained on Monday afternoon with a charming Kensington for Mrs. A. T. Hill of La Grande Oregon, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. A. Elliott.

The rooms were attractively decked with roses, chrysanthemums and Oregon grape.

Mrs. Allen was assisted by Mrs. Rollin K. Page and Mrs. J. N. Smith.

During her visit here Mrs. Hill has been the motif for several delightful attentions.

The matrons asked to greet Mrs. Hill were: Mrs. John H. Albert, Mrs. Rollin K. Page, Mrs. J. N. Smith, Mrs. Frank W. Spencer, Mrs. J. Roy Pemberton, Mrs. William V. Richardson, Mrs. Russell Catlin, Mrs. James Withycombe, Miss Mabel Withycombe, Mrs. Frank H. Spawrs, Mrs. B. C. Miles, Mrs. Charles K. Spaulding, Mrs. E. O'Siecke, Mrs. Max O. Buren, Mrs. George Alben, Mrs. Roy Mills, Mrs. Roy Burton, Mrs. George M. Brown, Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, Mrs. B. L. Steeves and Mrs. Elizabeth Wright of McMinnville.

Early next month Mrs. A. Marvin Cahler will leave for Sacramento, California, where she will pass the winter with her mother, Mrs. S. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKean (Hazel Erickson) of Eugene arrived in Salem Wednesday night and are at the Hotel Marion. Mrs. McKean will be in Salem for about a week, remaining here while Mr. McKean is on a business trip. During her stay she will be the guest of friends.

Mrs. A. N. Dush motored to Portland Friday and was accompanied by Mrs. Harry E. Clay. They returned the same night.

Opening the week's festivities, the Monday Dancing club entertained with the second of its series at the Moose hall, Monday night. It was a gala event and informality was the keynote of the evening, which perhaps explains the spontaneity of these delightful dances.

The ball room was suffused in a soft light with fragrant ever greens forming an artistic back ground for the colorful gowns of the dancers. The music by the Booth string orchestra, with Mr. Hunter at the saxophone, was unusually good, which made dancing a delight. About 80 merry makers attended the affair.

Mrs. Samuel Butler assisted Mrs. Johnson in the serving.

Those making up the tables were: Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. DeVore, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glover, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tyler and

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Waters were hosts for an artistically appointed dinner Friday night. Huge yellow chrysanthemums decked the table around which covers were placed for 12.

Charming informality marked the "500" party for which Mr. and Mrs. Milton L. Meyers were hosts Monday night.

A group of the married set who are members of the Nemo Card club and several additional guests were asked to make up eight tables of "500". Mrs. Elwin L. Baker and Dr. L. P. Griffith were awarded the high score honors.

The residence was artistically decked with golden hued chrysanthemums and the card games were followed by dancing. Several matrons assisted Mrs. Meyers in the serving.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baker, on Court street, an informal evening was given Thursday by the members of the West Central Circle of the Methodist church.

The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Barber, Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Mrs. George Hatch and Mrs. E. Kuntz. About 30 guests attended the affair and the early part of the evening was devoted to games and an impromptu program. Later refreshments were served.

Friday night Dr. and Mrs. B. L.
