

SOCIETY and CLUBS

By ALINE THOMPSON

WITH the approach of the biggest and merriest holiday of all the year comes a busy time for society, who for the next few weeks will be occupied with the preparation of gifts and the usual frenzy of Christmas shopping.

Already social affairs are resolving into informal Kensingtons at which matrons and maids pass the afternoon busily sewing and working on presents, with a refreshing cup of tea.

Aside from the Cherrian dance, which was a gala event of Wednesday night, the social affairs have been few, as the week was entirely devoted to family reunions, and the entertainment of out-of-town relatives and guests, with feasts and gayeties attendant upon Thanksgiving.

A delightful affair of the early week was the "500" party for which Mr. and Mrs. Max O. Buren were hosts, Tuesday night. The members of the Merry-Go-Round club and several additional guests made up six tables of "500" card honors falling to Mrs. Henry B. Thielsen and Thomas B. Kay. Assisting Mrs. Buren were Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner and Mrs. J. N. Smith.

The additional guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Watt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner, Mrs. George L. Rose and Mrs. Lenta Westacott.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Merline Harding was the scene of a gay little affair on Monday night, when a group of friends gathered for an informal dance.

The affair which was planned by the guests, as a little surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Harding, was one of the most delightful of the week's festivities.

Those participating in the dance were: Mr. and Mrs. George M. Post, Mr. and Mrs. James Chinnock, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Bonnell, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Siocke, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester M. Boerfer, Dr. and Mrs. Armin Steiner, Mr. and Mrs. John Caughill, Mr. C. H. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Galloway, Mrs. Frank G. Myers, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Suedecor of Birmingham, Alabama, who have been sojourning in Portland for a few weeks, returned to Salem Monday to pass the remainder of their stay in Oregon with Mrs. Suedecor's family. They will visit in Salem until after the Christmas holidays and will be guests at the residence of Mrs. Suedecor's mother, Mrs. M. E. Breyman. Thanksgiving, Mrs. Breyman, the Suedecors and the Ruben P. Boines and son, Breyman Boine, went to Portland for the day.

Quite the gayest and merriest of the Thanksgiving festivities was the jive dance given on Wednesday night by the Cherrians at the armory. A huge throng of devotees attended the affair and it was truly delightful in every way. Perhaps the very informality of these dances sponsored by the Cherrians is what appeals to the dancing contingent and makes them so popular and successful. A feature of the evening was the serpentine dances, which ended in a riot of entangled colored streamers, and enlivened the gaiety of the affair.

The decorations which were unusual, by effective and appropriate, combined fragrant fir boughs with myriads of Oriental lanterns, in every known color.

In the center of the hall the huge turkey, which was given away late in the evening was suspended from the ceiling.

The orchestra also was concealed beneath a bower of ever greens, and a group of pretty young girls served punch at attractive booths.

Miss Margaret Rodgers entertained informally on Friday afternoon, with a charming tea in honor of her house guests, Miss Zenette London of Vancouver, B. C., and Miss Jessie Garner of Astoria.

Several of the younger girls were guests.

Honoring her house guests, Mrs. George Tazewell of Portland and Mrs. Earl Wright of McMinnville, Mrs. J. G. Richardson was hostess on Friday for a charming Kensington.

It was very informal, only a few matrons being asked to meet the visitors. The rooms were attractively decked with yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. H. J. Schulderman assisted Mrs. Richardson.

The guests were: Mrs. John D. Sutherland, Mrs. W. G. Allen, Mrs. Frank Spencer, Mrs. George William Gray, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. William Galloway and Mrs. Frank E. Smith of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Cannon and daughters, Sarah Elizabeth and Dorothy, who have been the guests of Mrs. Cannon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Jones, at "Lalish Meadows," since Thanksgiving, returned to Portland yesterday.

Senator and Mrs. C. P. Bishop's Thanksgiving guests, Hon. and Mrs. Thomas C. Taylor returned to their home in Portland Friday.

Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Bishop entertained informally in honor of the Taylors, their guests being Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thielsen and Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Smith of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Powell and small son of Lafayette, are the guests of Mrs. Powell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Bingham. The Powells came Wednesday for the Cherrian dance and Thanksgiving and will remain over the week end.

One of the delightful affairs of the week was the "500" party for which Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Wala were hosts on Wednesday night, when they entertained the members of the Cherry City club.

The residence was adorned with yellow and copper toned chrysanthemums, the huge feathery ones and pom pom variety being artistically arranged in the various rooms.

Guests made up four tables of "500" the score honors being awarded to Mrs. Daniel J. Fry and Dr. W. H. Byrd. Assisting Mrs. Wala were Mrs. John B. Craig and Mrs. Fred Steuoloff.

More than 20 young folks of the Salem club of O. A. C. who are home for the holidays, made merry Friday night at the informal party for which Miss Beatrice Crawford was hostess at the country home of her parents.

All manner of diversions formed the evening's gayeties, which were rounded out with an old fashioned taffey pull.

Ronald C. Glover, secretary to Congressman Willis C. Hawley, left Friday morning for Washington, D. C. Mr. Glover did not accompany Mr. Glover this year as there will be a short session of congress and he expects to return to Salem not later than March.

The members of the E. O. T. club gathered at the home of Mrs. L. K. Page on Tuesday night to be guests at the delightful "500" party for which Mrs. Page and Mrs. Mary Hofer were the hostesses.

The living room, where the card tables were arranged was decked with an artistic array of yellow and lavender chrysanthemums, while a huge basket of fruits centered the pretty refreshment table.

The card tables were won by Mrs. W. J. Staley and Frank G. Bowersox.

As additional guests the hostesses asked Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knowland.

The members included in the club are Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Staley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Bowersox, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lane, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Shand, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brown, Mrs. L. K. Page and Mrs. Mary Hofer.

Much to the delight of her Salem friends, Mrs. Robert William Stubbs (Elsa Alberta Deimel) the charming English girl, whose wedding was an event of Saturday, November the twenty-fifth, in San Francisco, will make her home in Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs have been honeymooning in the south, and will arrive in Portland the first of the week, after which time they will be at home in 340 East Twenty-third street.

Mrs. Stubbs is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Lito Deimel, and with her family formerly lived in London, England. The Deimels have been living in New York and San Francisco since the war, they expect to return to England, as Dr. Deimel is very prominent there in the financial world.

Mrs. Stubbs is an extremely charming and lovable girl, and although she has visited here but a few weeks during the past two summers, she has many friends in Salem society.

She is an exceptionally clever artist, having for the past few years studied at Hopkins Art school in San Francisco. Mrs. Stubbs also is a talented pianist and a devotee of outdoor sports.

The Deimels have a new summer place at the McKenzie Bridge and it was during their sojourn there this season that Mr. Stubbs met and developed a penchant for Miss Deimel.

Mrs. Edward G. Smith has as her house guests two charming girls of the University of Oregon, Miss Elizabeth Houston of Klamath Falls and Miss Marion McDonald of Nyssa, Oregon.

Thanksgiving Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Deebach were hosts for a charming dinner party.

Deep yellow chrysanthemums centered the artistically appointed table, which had covers for Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wilson, J. P. Rogers, Miss Eleanor Rogers, Father Linnick of Sublimity, Miss Helen Deebach, Frederick Deebach and the hosts.

Miss Margaret Hodge asked the members of the Quince Quor club and a few additional guests to her home for an informal evening on Monday.

The rooms were aglow with yellow chrysanthemums and potted plants and the evening was delightfully devoted to sewing, games and music.

Later the hostess served a dainty refreshment assisted by her sister, Miss Ruth Hodge and Miss Fanies Hodge.

The guests were: Miss Elizabeth Schultz, Miss Nellie Schwab, Miss Marie Bennett, Miss Mary Egler, Miss Marie Schwab, Miss Catherine Metcalf, Miss Hazel Price, Miss Grace McLeod, Miss Virginia Wechter, Miss Joy Turner, Miss Margaret Mrs. Maude Da Motta and Miss Myrtle McDonald of Newberg.

Mrs. H. J. Schulderman and children who have been the guests of relatives in Portland for a few days returned Wednesday.

Mrs. N. C. Briggs, Jr., and three children of Hollister, California have arrived in Salem and are the guests of Mrs. Briggs' parents, Justice and Mrs. Henry L. Benson.

They will visit in Salem until after the Christmas holidays.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry E. Clay were hosts for a charming Thanksgiving dinner, Thursday evening. An artistic basket of luscious fruits decked the table at which were seated, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Livesey and children, Thomas Livesey, Jr. and Dorothy Livesey, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. McDougall and two small daughters and Dr. and Mrs. Clay.

Considerable interest is being shown in the approaching bazaar to be given by the St. Paul's Episcopal guild on the afternoon and evening of December the 6th and 7th. This year's bazaar is said to be from present indications far ahead of any previous affair the guild has sponsored; the women in charge having devoted many weeks to preparing the most irresistible and lovely array of articles. In addition to this, there will be a sale of delicacies and plum puddings, all homemade, and of the choicest recipes and materials. Prominent matrons and maids will have charge of the various booths.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durbin and son and daughter, Frank Durbin, Jr., and Mrs. Ralph Jackson, spent Thanksgiving in Portland as the guests of Mrs. Durbin's mother, Mrs. J. W. Spriggs.

One of the pretty dinner parties of the week was that given on Thanksgiving by Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Geer, at their home on Marion street. The table decorations were charmingly unique.

Vases of golden yellow chrysanthemums adorned each end of the table and in the center there was a miniature pond in which floated artificial ducks.

Covers were placed for Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Thompson and son Frederick, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Ringo, the Messes Geer and the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Gabrielson and son, Carl Gabrielson, were among those going to Portland for Thanksgiving.

A group of the younger folks of the Wallace road were delightfully entertained recently with a progressive dinner party.

The affair was given by the matrons of the Sweet Briar club and the party opened at the home of Mrs. Clyde W. Beckett with the soup and salad courses. The prettily appointed table was all done in pink, being adorned with rosebuds and pink shaded candles from which pink streamers extended from the chandelier.

Mrs. Beckett was assisted by Mrs. M. C. Pettys and Mrs. A. H. Bunn.

For the next course the party rotated to Mrs. Al Steiner's. Her dining room was effectively decorated with palms and greens, while the table decorations were carried out in a blue and gold color scheme, with golden yellow chrysanthemums, butterflies and streamers of ribbon. Assisting Mrs. Steiner were Mrs. Charles Chaffee, Mrs. W. C. Franklin, Miss Helen Taylor and Miss Belle Miller.

During the dinner Mrs. W. G. East played the piano.

The final course was served at the residence of Mrs. E. O. Moll. Shaded cranberry, sweet briar berries and a huge crystal bowl of chrysanthemums adorned the table around which hand painted cards marked the places.

Mrs. S. P. Imlah, Mrs. James Imlah, Mrs. J. C. Ferguson and her house guest, Mrs. C. A. Seymour of Falls City assisted Mrs. Moll.

After dinner the evening's gayeties were merrily rounded out with dancing and games at the home of Mrs. J. B. Olinger.

The rooms were effectively decorated with red and green and the punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. M. C. Pettys.

Those enjoying the festivity were: Miss Mildred Imlah, Miss Esther Bailey, Miss Betty Olinger, Miss Blanche Gibson, Miss Mildred Bunn, Miss Vera White, Miss Clara Reinhold, Miss Mildred Case and Laurence Imlah, George White, Wilmet Moll, Gordon Moll, Albert Schindler, Russell Beckett, Kerfield Schindler and Carl Beckett.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts had as their guests for dinner, Thanksgiving, Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer Putnam.

Miss Marjorie Kay, who is attending the University of Oregon came home Wednesday to pass the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Kay.

Miss Myrtle McDonald of Newberg is visiting in Salem a few days as the guest of Mrs. Roy Pemberton and Miss Margaret Hodge.

Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Thompson entertained with a delightful Thanksgiving dinner at their home on North Twenty-first street. Circling the table which was prettily decked with yellow chrysanthemums and yellow shaded candles were, Dr. and Mrs. Grover Bellinger, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Graber, Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Utter, Frederick Thompson, Jr., and the hosts.

Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chauncey Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Livesey and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts went to Albany to be guests at a house party for which the Percy Youngs were hosts.

In the evening the party were guests at a progressive dinner and later they attended a dance at the armory. They returned today.

Ben W. Oleott left today for a two weeks sojourn in Ohio. En route Mr. Oleott will visit his sister, Mrs. Hooper in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Hughes entertained as their guests for Thanksgiving, Mr. John Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. David Mackie and Mr. and Mrs. William Carter of Portland.

Mrs. George Palmer Putnam entertained informally at ten this afternoon her guests being several matrons, who gathered to sew on Christmas gifts.

For the week end, Mr. and Mrs. Putnam have as their guest Cecil B. James of Portland.

Those Who Contemplate the Purchase of Diamonds Should Not Delay

Hartman Bros. do not desire to unduly hasten anyone in the purchase of Diamonds nor to sound any unwarranted alarm.

Just so long as Hartman Bros. are in a position to protect their patrons from price advances in Diamonds they will do so, but never will this store permit its standard of quality to be lowered because of higher prices.

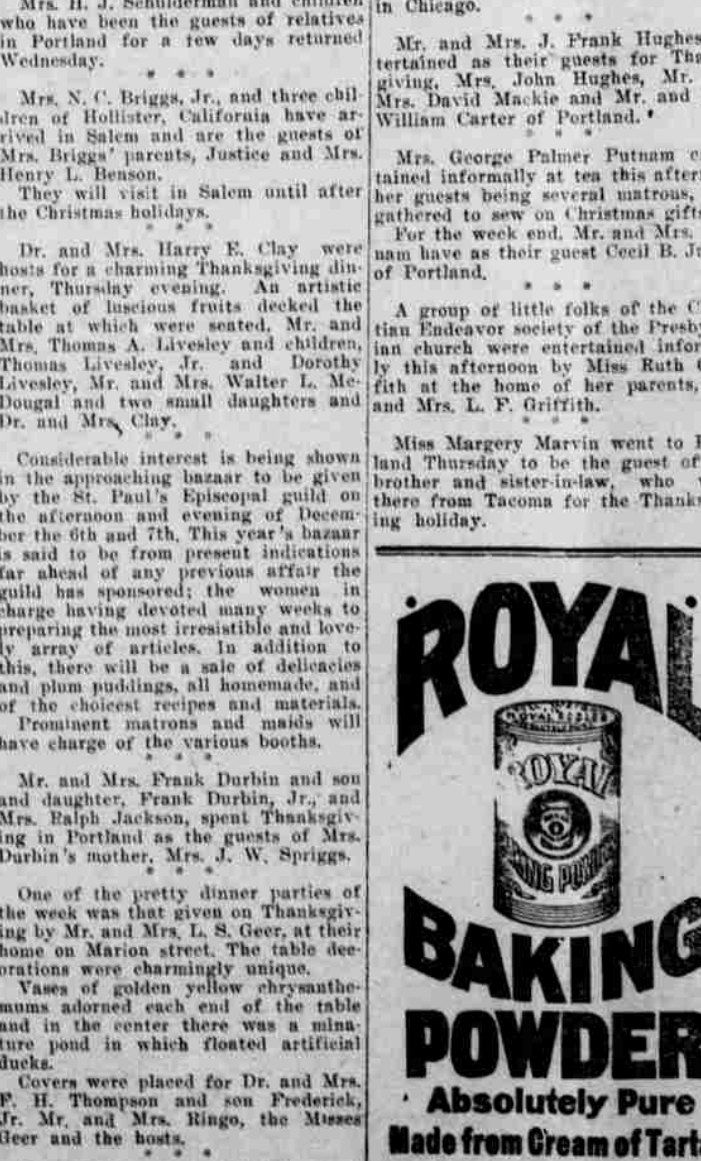

According to the present condition of the rough diamond market and the outlook for the future, important price advances for cut stones are inevitable and it is only in the best interests of their patrons that Hartman Bros. advocate purchases at their present prices, which have not been changed, even though prices for rough diamonds are materially higher than formerly.
