RUMOUR WEEK

One can’t be too careful in many ways. Our greatest fear is that we may be too careful. The fear is that we may become so cautious that we will not take any chances. It is possible that we will become so cautious that we will not take any risks. It is possible that we will become so cautious that we will not take any chances. It is possible that we will become so cautious that we will not take any risks. It is possible that we will become so cautious that we will not take any chances. It is possible that we will become so cautious that we will not take any risks.

ONE FOOLISH WOMAN

General Grant once remarked that “the democratic party could always be depended on to do the wrong thing at the right time.” The same remark might be made of the eastern suffragettes, who so far have not failed to do this very thing. Their action in trying to heckle the president is an example of their wisdom. It is less than a month since, as a party, the women made a desperate effort to defeat President Wilson, coming out openly for the socialized medicine plank. And for this fact that they could expect nothing from the democrats, although the plants of the two platforms were identical as any of suffrage. Yesterday they carried their fight into the halls of congress and blamed the president for not advocating suffrage in his message. They overlook the fact that only four weeks ago they were telling the senator that he was not answering their “call.” And for another reason this self-appointed branch of eastern women keep up their course, equal suffrage will be a thing of the very near future. Their conduct strengthens the hands of those who are opposed to it, and helps them to the ballot. The Spaniards have a proverb that liberally translated says: “More by sweetness than by anger.” The women of the east may well profit by observing in their struggle for the franchise.

This is certainly a close year so far as elections are concerned. The presidential election will be a close one, and the result will depend on the record and the results in many of the states were so close that only the official count could decide them. In Arizona, the Republican for governor was elected by the narrow margin of 32 votes. New Hampshire, Minnesota, North Dakota, and California were just a shade, and not a “one vote” election. All these states having the same neck race by defeating a bond issue by one vote. Mill wanks was a second close second in selecting its mayors.

Carramaticos claim that it was a shortage of ammunition due to this government’s action, that caused them to lose Chihuahua. At the time it is noted that Villa not only captured their guns but also gave away with large quantities of ammunition. It will be seen from the bill that it is being used in a different way than in 1913, and that the ammunition, for if Villa wants it he will take it away from them.

The United States supreme court has just held in the case of the Somonart Coal Co. against the Pennsylvania railroad company, that for the company’s failure to use their old railroad was liable and affirmed a judgment against it for $45,500. Here is a pointer for Oregon ship builders and yards in the hands of poor workmen.

Yesterday’s reports said the Americans in Chihuahua were safe. If so they had better get out of that very doubtful city and stay somewhere else. In Carramaticos it is established that Carramaticos in possession of the planet, but in so because Villa had no further use for it. When he has he will take it again.

HARVEST FARM

One of the great things in this world is the smell of damp earth. It is the smell of damp earth that makes us feel that we are living in the world and not just passing through. It is the smell of damp earth that makes us feel that we are not dead but alive. It is the smell of damp earth that makes us feel that we are not just a shadow but a substance. It is the smell of damp earth that makes us feel that we are not just a dream but a reality. It is the smell of damp earth that makes us feel that we are not just a play but a life. It is the smell of damp earth that makes us feel that we are not just a joke but a truth. It is the smell of damp earth that makes us feel that we are not just a game but a seriousness. It is the smell of damp earth that makes us feel that we are not just a joke but a seriousness. It is the smell of damp earth that makes us feel that we are not just a game but a seriousness.
