

Mary and Her Little Lamb

How Mary had labored and worked very hard, At making a snowman out front in the yard.

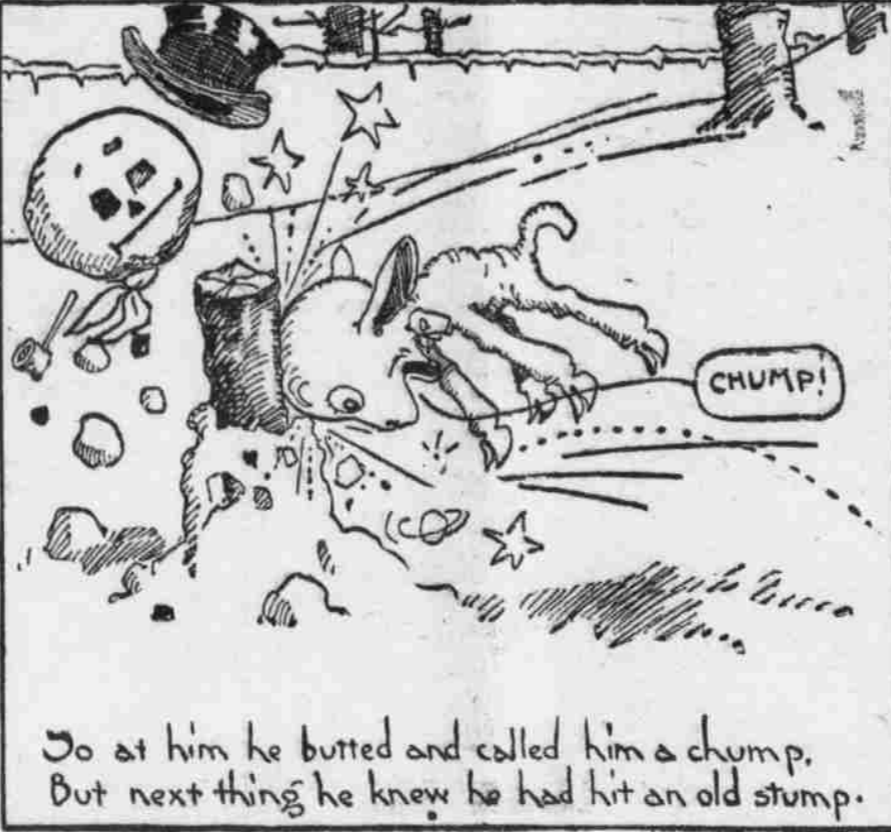

She introduced him to Percy as Master Doe, And whispered he wanted to be her new beau.

Percy tried to be pleasant and spoke of his clothes, Although he was jealous of all of Mary's beaux.

But when Master Doe wouldn't deign to reply, Our Percy got his back up as high as the sky.

So at him he butted and called him a chump, But next thing he knew he had hit an old stump.

Then Mary came laughing and thushly she spoke, Now stop your old crying and laugh at the joke!

Bible Student Asks and Answers Question

Will God convert the world, since man has failed? will be discussed by a noted bible student of Boston, Sunday December 17, at 11:00 o'clock, a. m. at Moose hall, corner Court and High streets.

The speaker will show from the scripture how God will succeed in doing what man has failed to do. The perplexities of these times will add greatly to the force of the topics. You will be glad if you come and hear this lecture. Free to all.

GRIEF

This mornin' as I lay in bed,
The covers pulled up 'round my head,
Thinkin' of my poor old wife,
Who throughout all our married life
Has made the fires, I cried and cried.
I couldn't help it—I 'most-died.
It was so cold she dernigh froze,
As she was putting on her clothes,
And as I snuggled down in bed,
I pulled the covers o'er my head.
And just by there and cried and cried,
I felt so bad I almost died.

How's that? Eh, a, why didn't I?
O, I'd rather stay in bed and cry.
—S. A. McElhinny.

Salesman Danced "Game Leg Trot" for the Queen of Italy

By John H. Hearley
(United Press staff correspondent)
Rome, Nov. 15.—(By mail)—How an American salesman tried to sell a wooden leg to the Queen of Italy under the impression that she was a Red Cross nurse was told here today for the first time.

C. C. Swain, a breezy drummer for an artificial limb maker of Washington, D. C., had been doing his best to place an order with the hospital committee representing the Italian government. Just as he was on the verge of giving the gentlemen up as bad prospects in came a most charming black eyed nurse and Charlie, taking heart, started all over again for her benefit.

"It's all a question of getting used to it," said Swain. "See, I can spin around on mine like a top!" Swain suited the action to the word. For Swain's best sample was his own left leg.

The Red Cross nurse was intensely interested.

Swain unwound every inch of his line of talk. Over the mysterious frowns and restlessness of the committeemen he gave her much unsolicited information. He told her of his climb to the skyscraping dome of St. Peter's. If she didn't believe it, she could ask the guide who had seen his performance and had received his card.

Afterward, he caught up a chair and danced the "grizzly bear," gliding gradually into a "hesitation." He ended his dancing spree with a bit of the "tango." Apparently amazed and amused at his stunts, the black eyed nurse made her thanks and disappeared.

The American salesman, thereupon, turned again to the committee. He met a thundering storm of wrath. "Fool! Fool!" roared the chorus of voices, "didn't you know that was Her Majesty, Elona Queen of Italy!"

"Holy Smoke!" sighed Swain. "To think I had a golden opportunity and used it like a nickel plated one!"

Says Smith Was Only a Blackmailer

San Francisco, Dec. 16.—The defense in the trial of German Consul Bopp and associates on charge of neutrality violation furnished a new sensation today when Defense Counsel Roche introduced a letter which, he asserts, will show that Louis J. Smith's sole purpose in disclosing alleged operations of Bopp was to extort money. Smith is the principal witness for the government.

Smith admits writing the letter, which is dated Detroit, September 22, 1915, and is addressed to Vice Consul Von Schanck, one of the defendants.

"I have kept all my correspondence and that will show where I stand and where you stand," said Smith in the letter. "I am as wise as you are and all I can say is that I am willing to wait until this reaches you. That will be Monday, September 27, 1915."

Smith added that he would wait a

Raise High Priced Wheat on Fertile Canadian Soil

Canada extends to you a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help feed the world by tilling some of her fertile soil—and similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think of the money you can make with wheat around $2 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming in Western Canada is as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is a great demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service. The climate is healthful and agreeable, railway facilities excellent, good schools and churches convenient.
